Representing the animal welfare concerns of citizens in Greenville and surrounding areas of Upstate South Carolina.

Law enforcement, animal control, and courts systems need to consistently implement our animal welfare laws. Individuals charge with animal abuse related activity need to be appropriately punished. These criminals need their animal ownership rights restricted. The public needs to be aware of these criminals in the form of a registry.

Shelter reform legislation in form of the Companion Animal Protection Act is needed to govern our shelters into implementing life-saving programs to save tax payer dollars.

Low-cost spay/neuter programs and subsidized clinics should be encouraged. Statewide Spay and neuter programs should be available to all income levels in the community. Veterinarians working with shelters and non-profits should be recommended and fortified.
