Fiscal Year 2015-16 Accountability Report

SUBMISSION FORM

AGENCY MISSION

The Commission and the Office of Indigent Defense were established by Act 164 of 1993, effective July 1, 1993. The Office operates pursuant to §17-3-310, et seq. of the South Carolina Code of Laws, 1976, as amended. Effective July 1, 2005, the Office of Appellate Defense became a division within the agency.

The Commission on Indigent Defense, through the Office of Indigent Defense and its divisions, and in cooperation and consultation with other state agencies, professional associations and other groups interested in the administration of criminal justice and the improvement and expansion of defender services, establishes and monitors programs and services for legal representation to indigent defendants charged with criminal offenses in the courts of the state. The agency also oversees the payment to court appointed attorneys for certain legal services performed on behalf of indigent clients in the Family Courts of the state.

The Appellate Defense division of SCCID handles appeals on behalf of indigent clients and consists of a staff of eight attorneys.

The Capital Trials division within SCCID handles capital cases, statewide, frequently partnering with outside counsel appointed by the court.

The Office of Indigent Defense establishes criteria for determining indigency and qualifications for services, establishes guidelines for court-appointed attorneys in representing indigent clients, and administers distribution of funding for indigent defense. Additionally, the office establishes and supervises training programs for public defenders and staff across the State, and oversees a central reporting system of statistical data in the delivery of indigent defense services.

AGENCY VISION

The SC Commission on Indigent Defense (SCCID) is responsible for ensuring that all individuals are provided indigent defense services in South Carolina and provide the highest quality of representation to our clients.

The SCCID sets and enforces standards, to ensure consistency across South Carolina, and to maintain accountability of those persons entrusted with the life and liberty of poor persons charged with crimes.

AGENCY'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The South Carolina Commission on Indigent Defense continued to strengthen and fulfill the mission of our statewide public defender system which was created in 2007. Circuit Public Defenders actively participated in all phases of the legislative budget process and with legislation affecting the state's criminal justice system by attending sub-committee and committee hearings throughout the legislative session, usually with 90%-100% attendance. The agency was successful in legislative appropriation of approximately $8.3 million new recurring dollars for FY16-17, of which $6.2 million will go to hiring additional public defenders and support personnel statewide. This is expected to yield approximately 83 - 85 new personnel which in turn will greatly assist in a reduction of individual caseloads which have historically been excessive. In addition, $2.1 million will go to stabilize the agency's contract system with private counsel.

The agency continued quarterly meetings with the Circuit Public Defenders and maintained open communication lines with all, and in fulfillment of one of its missions the agency created a new position of Deputy General Counsel and Training Director thus placing even greater emphasis on its training mission. In doing so SCCID successfully conducted its 2nd annual training series for new public defenders entering the system from throughout the state, consisting of a 3-part series focused on trial advocacy resulting in approximately 50 hours of intense training. With a training director on board the agency has been able to identify and plan for many additional topical seminars and coupled with technological upgrades has initiated plans for closed circuit statewide seminars through distance learning which is a more cost effective way for conducting training in many instances. The agency was able to accomplish this through several years of careful planning and internally earmarking certain agency funds over several years for training purposes, and is now on a solid footing to fulfill this part of the mission.

The agency entered its fourth year of contracting with private attorneys to handle criminal conflicts cases and Family Court and PCR cases, which are awarded on a one-year basis to attorneys throughout the state. This program, which effectively supplants the Rule 608 court-administered program, continues to be highly successful and efficient in moving cases, and continues to receive universal approval from judges, participating attorneys, prosecutors and agencies that are involved. Only the most qualified attorneys are selected for contracts which are awarded by a committee consisting of representatives of the agency, the SC Bar, the Commission and the Circuit Public Defenders. The result of the contract system has been to eliminate calendar conflicts, move dockets faster, and reduce the number of potential appeals. The agency continued its partnership with the USC Law School's Children's Law Center which monitors the contract program's effectiveness for service performance and delivery and co-hosted with SCCID seminars on Family Law issues for contract attorneys and public defenders handling juvenile criminal cases. SCCID fully participates in the Bar's Bench and Bar Committee for Family Law and has a well-established cooperative relationship with all interests which are represented on the committee.

Our technology continues to be a model in the nation, and we completed a major upgrade of our system to establish a new case management system for our Appellate Division and to digitize the division's files. This freed up many square feet of floor space which had been taken up by paper files, resulting in more efficient use of much-needed space by agency personnel. (This has also freed up space at GSA Archives). The new technology upgrades for the Appellate Division now allow us to capture important data on appellate cases, which continue to run high. Additionally, further upgrades were made in our technology to streamline processes for entering data throughout the statewide system, meet state requirements for all security issues, and as stated above to provide for broadcast of seminars statewide for distance learning. Because of our excellent technology our decision-making process is almost entirely evidence based and transparent. This helps immensely in forming a factual basis for standardizing policies and procedures among circuit defender operations throughout the state.

The agency continued to monitor and review its policies and guidelines and their application by service providers, including private investigators, private contract attorneys and investigators employed by public defender operations. We have frequently appeared in open court or judge's chambers or telephone conferences with judges and counsel to challenge requests for attorney fee/expert witness fees that exceed caps, policies and guidelines, or to establish an agreement as to caps on fees and experts in many cases. This has resulted in tremendous savings to the state, and continues to drastically reduce the amount of "gaming of the system" which was so prevalent in the past. While it has taken many years to reach this point, nearly all participants in the system now recognize that the agency does carefully monitor and audit voucher requests for payment of fees and costs and does not hesitate to challenge them when out of line. In doing so we can better project strategically what our costs will be for appointed counsel services and expert witnesses. Ever since the contract system was put in place four years ago our administrative staff has had more time to monitor vouchers and attorney performance, and has reduced the time spent on voucher processing. This has allowed us to reduce the number of administrative staff processing vouchers and refocus positions to other agency needs.

During the year we have made further progress on interfacing our technology with that of Court Administration, and have entered into further discussions with Court Administration over the many technicalities involved. This long term goal continues to advance. We achieved a major goal in establishing a sustainable public defender professional development and training program; we have continued to constantly monitor the receipt of fees and fines and have identified areas which need clarification and inquiry; we have urged Circuit Defenders to use new resources to provide full representation in Magistrate Courts, and that has happened. We have also worked very diligently to have municipalities with optional courts to provide resources for indigent representation, and in a growing number of municipalities the municipality and the circuit public defender have entered into contracts to do so. This arrangement began in this fiscal year and was overwhelmingly approved by the legislature for the ensuing fiscal year. This also fulfills a long term goal of the Commission and the agency, and is a significant achievement in both providing access to justice at the municipal level and having the funding source for it as well.

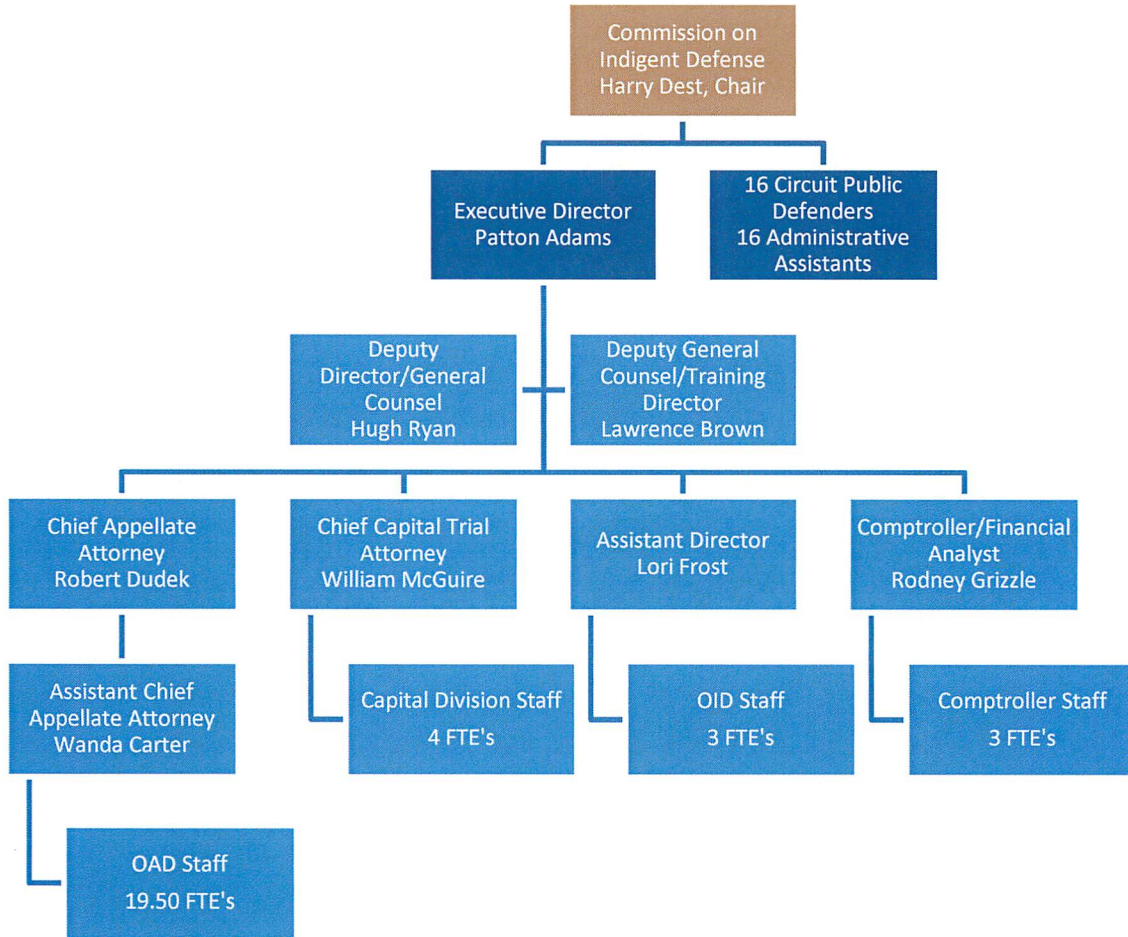

The agency provided staff assistance to public defender members on a variety of issues affecting criminal justice, including legislative issues and issues generated by appellate court rulings. Some of these included law enforcement body camera, docket management, and sentencing reform legislation, supervising the determination of juvenile cases affected by the Byers ruling dealing with resentencing of juveniles sentenced to life without parole and organizing a seminar on mitigation assistance in resentence hearings in those cases; continued research and study of the issue of indigence determination on a state and national level, and continued distribution of its popular booklet on juvenile collateral consequences, including presentations to civic, religious and youth groups. The agency entered into a grant arrangement with the US Department of Justice, Department of Juvenile Justice for updates to the booklet and an additional issue designed to appeal more directly to young juveniles, to be distributed statewide and to present as a model to the rest of the country in emphasizing the importance of collateral consequences of bad behavior. The agency has continued its emphasis on the need for indigent representation in Magistrate Courts and was successful in achieving legislative approval of continuing the requirement for municipalities to provide for indigent representation in all optional municipal courts. Throughout the year the agency worked closely with representatives of DSS, the USC Law School Children's Law Center, and the SC Bar Bench and Bar committee on numerous issues affecting representation of indigent juveniles and related matters.

The agency continued support and program planning and implementation with the SC Public Defender Association and the SC Public Defender Investigator Association for their respective annual training conferences; co-sponsoring with the USC School of Law's Children's Law Center seminars on juvenile issues for both public defenders and private bar contract attorneys; continuation of the highly successful Public Defender Summer Rural Extern Program in partnership with the Charleston School of Law; continuation of its arrangement with the Nelson Mullins law firm to provide at no cost fifteen (15) appellate attorneys to assist the agency's appellate division in brief writing and oral arguments before the state's appellate courts to help alleviate the crushing caseload that our appellate division must handle; continued co-sponsorship of the SC Court of Appeals Appellate Lawyer Project involving selective private attorneys participating pro bono in indigent appeals who assist our appellate attorneys in brief writing and oral arguments; co-sponsored with the National Legal Aid and Defender Association a national public defender leadership conference which was attended by most of our circuit public defenders, and which drew widely from throughout the country, including Guam; and we completed implementation of technology upgrades in our system-wide public defender case management and data collection, and implementation of a case management system for our appellate division.

In early March, 2016, our esteemed Assistant Director Lisa Campbell, a 22 year veteran of the agency, was diagnosed with terminal cancer and immediately retired (She passed away on June 6, 2016). This left a big void in the handling of agency administrative matters and in the interim several staff assumed her responsibilities. The Deputy Director and I initiated contact with the state's Human Resources department for some guidance, particularly in refocusing some of the functions of the position, and worked with HR throughout the spring and early summer on this. (They were tremendous to work with, and guided us carefully through the process). As a result the position was redefined and the financial component of it was taken out and a new agency position, that of Comptroller and Financial Analyst, was created. This provides the agency with an uninterrupted focus on its finances and their sources which can be very complex to understand and follow, and allows us to pursue financial audits and analyses to an accurate conclusion with appropriate follow-up. The assistant director position will focus entirely on administrative and personnel matters and supervise voucher processing and payment. All of this will result in a much smoother and more cost effective operation of the agency with increased accountability. In addition there is continued publishing of weekly (every Monday) financial reports with year to date and supporting information¹ and side-by-side comparisons over a 4 year history; continued adjustments in agency operational priorities as necessary and close monitoring of fees and fines revenue designated for agency receipt. Additionally, we monitor and audit voucher payment requests and attorney requests for court-authorized fees and costs for compliance with state law and agency policies and challenge payment requests when appropriate. We work closely with the legislature and its sub-committees and committees in annual budgetary funding, assist circuit defenders in seeking additional funding, identify additional sources of funding such as municipal court financial participation and availability of federal grants, and use our technology to provide evidence based data in all financial and funding matters.
