AGENCY’S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Overview

The South Carolina Department of Social Services (DSS or Agency), one of the largest state government agencies in South Carolina, provides a vast array of critical services to a wide range of constituent groups across the state through an integrated service delivery model of county-level offices and regional operations that are guided by a state office which provides a variety of centralized management, support, and accountability functions.

Beyond the high-profile work done in the areas of Child Welfare and Adult Protective Services, the Agency also serves as the state’s administrator of safety net programs that provide financial and employment assistance to families in need, including the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) and the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program. The Agency also provides the infrastructure for the licensure and oversight of child care providers across the state, as well as the ongoing implementation of a quality-based ratings system. The Agency also manages the statewide collection and disbursement of Child Support. Finally, Agency employees staff emergency shelters statewide during hurricanes, floods, and other disasters.

Risk Assessment, Mitigation Strategies, and the COVID-19 Pandemic

DSS provides services to families throughout South Carolina and plays a critical role in the lives of children and adults who may find themselves in difficult and challenging situations. The Agency works closely with and relies on other state agencies, non-profit organizations, and other strategic partners in the delivery of these services.

If DSS were unable to carry out its functions, the public would not receive timely or quality services at their point of need. DSS plays a critical role in state government through the delivery of services to one of every six citizens in the state. The Agency works closely with its federal partners, the General Assembly and its oversight bodies, as well as the state’s executive and judicial branches to ensure that the Agency is able to fulfill its mission.

At the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, Agency employees and partner organizations quickly rallied in near-miraculous fashion to continue mission-critical operations. Employees have worked tirelessly to continue providing services under unprecedented circumstances. Due to the essential nature of the work performed by the Agency, many employees were designated as critical staff. Every area of the Agency pivoted its practices and processes. Employee and customer feedback were collected on how best to manage key functions.

With federal reimbursements authorized by the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act), personal protective equipment (PPE) was deployed to state, regional, and county offices. Offices were outfitted with signage and plexiglass shields for social distancing. In some instances, county offices required deep cleaning. Protocols were developed for the use of communal spaces, self-screening for employees, and the use of cloth masks. Technology deployments of laptops, multiple video conference software platforms, and related remote access services allowed much of the work to continue outside of traditional office environments.

The mission to serve some of the state’s most vulnerable citizens does not stop during a pandemic. In fact, the mission is more critical than ever with many citizens experiencing increased stress and anxiety over unemployment and the increased need for safety net benefits. In many instances, state and federal waivers, emergency policy directives, and CARES Act funding expanded access to some programs and/or streamlined eligibility requirements to provide services in a shorter timeframe and/or without the usual documentation requirements.

AGENCY CODE:	L04	SECTION:	038

DSS received approximately $63 million in additional federal child care funding through the CARES Act in May. The Agency quickly implemented three primary assistance strategies to help essential workers and child care providers. The SC Voucher program was expanded to help essential workers pay for child care (without regard to normal income eligibility requirements) while they went to work. The second primary response was a one-time cleaning and sanitation grant for licensed or registered child care providers. The third strategy was to deploy larger one-time $5,000 to $15,000 grants to child care facilities that had to close or were open and had lost revenue due to low enrollments. These grants assisted providers in paying for expenses, including rent/mortgage payments, utility bills, cleaning and sanitation costs, and personnel costs.

Over $107 million in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) (previously known as Food Stamps) benefits were issued each month from March through August, compared to $67 million in February. The February SNAP caseload is projected to increase by approximately 27,000 cases and 44,000 clients by August 2020. This projection could increase dramatically depending on the continuation of additional unemployment benefits.

To respond to the increased demand for SNAP benefits, the Agency received federal approval to streamline the application process for new applicants. In addition, a federal waiver allowed the payment of an emergency supplement to households already receiving SNAP benefits, as well as those new applicants who met eligibility requirements. This temporary benefit brought all current SNAP households up to the maximum benefit amount for March through August 2020. For example, a single eligible individual would typically receive a $16 monthly benefit. With the addition of the emergency supplement, the monthly benefit increased to $194.

DSS, in collaboration with the SC Department of Education and the US Department of Agriculture, implemented the Pandemic Electronic Benefit Transfer (P-EBT) program to provide a one-time $330 SNAP benefit to approximately 460,000 qualifying children to help supplement family food costs. With prolonged school closures, these children were consuming meals at home that would have normally been served at school under the free and reduced-price meal provisions of the National School Lunch Program. This initiative brought approximately $158 million in additional SNAP benefits into the hands of families and South Carolina's economy.

Even amidst the pandemic, the Agency has continued to see improvements in child welfare performance metrics, including an increase in placements with kinship caregivers and an increase in federal eligibility for funding. Agency practice has remained focused on the timely and proper investigation of allegations of child abuse and neglect. These activities have been modified to include the use of screening questions to determine risk of COVID exposure and the use of personal protective equipment (PPE) when needed.

However, these efforts are impacted by a decrease in the reporting of potential child abuse and neglect situations. The largest decrease occurred the week of April 6-12, with a 55% drop in reports compared to the previous year. Much of the decrease can be attributed to the lack of reporting that normally comes from schools and child care facilities where there is face-to-face contact with children. DSS is working with the SC Department of Education and other organizations to increase awareness of this situation and to identify potential at-risk children, including those who have not been regularly participating in e-learning and other virtual school offerings.

The Adult Protective Services division continues to investigate abuse and neglect cases while following protocols to keep frontline professionals and clients safe. The pandemic has presented barriers in securing appropriate placement for vulnerable adults in nursing homes and assisted living facilities. However, DSS continues to work with Medicaid and individual providers to advocate for the most appropriate placement options.

DSS received $534,000 in additional Family Violence Prevention and Services Act (FVPSA) funding through the CARES Act for survivors of domestic violence. These funds are being used to provide supportive services, as well as shelter options and supplies that will reduce their risk of COVID-19. This funding was deployed through one-time $40,000 grants to each of the 13 programs DSS works with statewide.

In summary, while the pandemic has disrupted business as usual and amplified the resource needs of the Agency, staff at every level have worked tirelessly to continue moving the work of the Agency forward. The Agency is grateful for the dedication, passion, and enthusiasm that employees have demonstrated daily to serve others. Thanks to the focus on the Agency’s core principles of competence, courage, and compassion, DSS continues to strive for excellence in providing services that impact one of every six South Carolinians.

Division Highlights

Child Welfare Services

Programs and activities in the Child Welfare Services division (CWS) are targeted to improve safety, permanency, and well-being outcomes for affected children and families across the state. CWS operations include Intake services, Investigative services, Family Preservation services, Foster Care services, Foster Home Licensing services, and Adoption services.

These operations are tied to the administration of federal Title IV-B and IV-E funded programs and their related child welfare plans and services, as overseen by the US Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Families’ Children’s Bureau (Children’s Bureau). These programs are operated in accordance with federal and state requirements, as well as the 2020-2024 state Child and Family Services Plan (CFSP), a five-year strategic plan that includes goals, objectives, strategies, and planned services.

Each year during the five-year plan cycle, the Agency is required to file the Annual Progress and Services Report (APSR) with the Children’s Bureau. Throughout this year, DSS engaged internal and external partners to discuss progress and challenges in meeting plan objectives, as well as identify necessary adjustments to the CFSP. The Agency has submitted its APSR documentation for 2019-2020.

DSS has developed new child fatality response policies to guide reporting, screening, and investigative processes, creating a more unified, multi-disciplinary response to child fatalities impacting families receiving child protective services from the Agency. This approach will promote the safety of surviving siblings and provide needed services to the family while helping DSS to more accurately report child fatalities via the DSS public website, which improves transparency and accountability. In 2020, DSS will begin to review its response prior to and in reaction to maltreatment fatalities for the purpose of identifying and closing systems gaps that negatively impact these processes. Near-fatality response and review protocols are under development.

Beginning in February 2020, DSS initiated a partnership with the University of Chicago – Chapin Hall Center for Children to create a statewide facilitated Child and Family Team Meeting (CFTM) model to better leverage communication and shared accountability in the case management process. A workgroup created and implemented a communication plan, curriculum, training and coaching plan, and policy. Using feedback from frontline staff and providers, as well as county and state leadership, the CFTM coaching team has trained 417 staff and 78 facilitators thus far. To date, the CFTM model has been implemented in the 10 counties that are in the federal Program Improvement Plan (PIP – see below) and the Midlands region. To support these efforts, CFTM leadership and PIP county directors hold weekly cadence calls to share updates and feedback.

DSS began an 18-month process to deploy its Guided Principles & Standards (GPS) Practice Model in Spring 2020. The process provides a sequenced approach, timeline, and concrete steps critical to the execution and sustainability of the GPS Practice Model. The governance structure includes a steering committee and key system representatives from across the Agency. The process includes 360-degree readiness assessments and the development of workplans. Ongoing initiatives include the redesign of foster home licensing requirements to better align them with the adoption licensing process, new efforts to recruit and retain foster parents (including increased licensure of kinship care placements), and the development of an improved safety program.

The Agency has completed the third round of the federal Child and Family Services Review (CFSR) process. The CFSR process measures compliance with federal safety, permanency, and well-being outcomes for children and families under the care of DSS. The two components of this statewide review are quality assurance (QA) case reviews and an assessment of systemic factors. The systemic factors include: statewide information system; case review system; quality assurance system; staff and provider training; ongoing staff training; foster and adoptive training; service array and resource development; Agency responsiveness to the community; foster home licensing; adoptive parent licensing; and recruitment and retention.

To address areas needing improvement in the final CFSR report, the Agency, in collaboration with the Children’s Bureau developed a Program Improvement Plan (PIP) that was approved on September 19, 2019. The PIP outlines goals, strategies, and action steps pertaining to: quality assessments; quality worker contacts and visits; achieving timely permanency; strengthening the foster care system through adopting a “kin first” culture; supervision; case planning; training; service array; engagement through child and family team meetings; and continuous quality improvement. PIP implementation has begun in ten counties: Aiken; Berkeley; Chesterfield; Fairfield; Greenville; Horry; Jasper; Newberry; Pickens; and York. As confirmed by the Children’s Bureau, all activities with deliverables for the first reporting period (quarters one and two) have been completed.

The PIP, in conjunction with the Guided Principles & Standards (GPS) Practice Model and related initiatives, will serve as a road map for improved performance and drive systemic change in serving children and families under the Agency’s care.

Michelle H. Settlement Agreement

In 2016, the US District Court approved a settlement agreement (“Settlement Agreement” or “Agreement”) to resolve a class action lawsuit (commonly known as the “Michelle H.” lawsuit) filed against the State of South Carolina in 2015 on behalf of children in foster care. Entering into the Agreement avoided prolonged litigation and allowed DSS to focus on improving the quality of foster care for children in the state.

The Agreement includes an expansive range of provisions mapped out within five implementations plans. The provisions within these plans consider case manager caseloads, foster child visits with their caseworkers and family members, investigations of allegations of abuse and neglect of children in foster care, appropriate and timely foster care placements, and access to physical and mental health care for children in DSS custody.

The settlement appoints two national child welfare experts as independent co-monitors. They file periodic, public progress reports with the US District Court. The last report was filed in February 2020.

DSS continues to make progress on the identified metrics and implementation plans. Progress includes increasing staffing efficiencies and improved timeliness of child welfare certification training; creating and implementing regional Child Well-Being teams with expertise in child health, behavioral health and education; developing and implementing Child and Family Teaming and increasing support and licensing for kinship caregivers; implementing Visitation Matters training for case management staff, and; exceeding established targets in timely completion of investigations for the Out of Home Abuse and Neglect (OHAN) unit.

Economic Services

The Economic Services division (ES) seeks to effectively and efficiently serve the citizens of South Carolina by helping individuals and families achieve stability through financial and other temporary benefits while transitioning into employment. This encompasses multiple programs and divisions, including the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program, the Supplemental Nutritional Assistance Program (SNAP) program, the Division of Employment Services, and the Division of Early Care and Education.

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)

In 2019, DSS ended the Striving to Achieve Rapid Success (STARS) contract and internalized all TANF operations. In 2020, the TANF program will be administered with many of the STARS concepts still operationalized. Moving forward, TANF case managers will be co-located in the SC Works centers statewide to better serve participants and to fulfill the TANF obligation to the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA).

Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA)

DSS continues to expand partnerships while creating new relationships to provide more services to jobseekers and employers. DSS participated in the 2020 development of an interagency Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) Combined State Plan, to incorporate SNAP Employment and Training (SNAP E&T) and TANF. Workforce consultants and SNAP E&T coordinators are co-located in SC Works centers statewide and continue to use the SC Works Online Services (SCWOS) website, the state’s largest workforce development database and labor market repository, to assist jobseekers with real-time employment opportunities.

SNAP Employment and Training Program (SNAP E&T)

South Carolina continues to be a national leader in expanding the SNAP E&T third-party reimbursement program with community-based organizations, technical colleges, state agencies, and for-profit entities to provide services. The program now includes specific components to assist able-bodied adults without dependents (“ABAWDs”) by providing educational, training, and volunteer opportunities that allow them to remain SNAP-eligible while pursuing self-sufficiency. SNAP E&T has expanded the partnership with the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) by submitting a Combined State Plan. In 2019, SNAP E&T collaborated within the Agency to develop the South Carolina Comprehensive Employment and Training System (SCCETS), which was the runner-up for the 2019 South Carolina Information Technology Directors Association Innovation Award.

Preschool Development Grant Birth through Five Initiative

South Carolina completed year one of the $3.5 million Preschool Development Grant Birth through Five awarded by the US Department of Health and Human Services and the US Department of Education. DSS partnered with other state agencies and non-profit organizations to coordinate activities, including a statewide needs assessment for the development of a strategic plan. In addition, $11.1 million in year two funding was awarded to begin a variety of capacity-building initiatives.

Background Check Requirements for Child Care Providers

As a result of new federal and state requirements, child care providers are now subject to a comprehensive criminal background check every five years that includes both in-state and national fingerprint-based criminal history, child abuse and neglect registry, and sex offender registry checks. The same checks will be conducted in any state a child care provider resided in within the last five years.

AGENCY NAME:	Department of Social Services
AGENCY CODE:	L04	SECTION:	038

Effective August 5, 2019, the Agency began requiring background checks for all new applicants. For existing child care providers, these new requirements were implemented on a regional basis. The Agency is required to have updated background checks on all existing child care providers completed no later than October 1, 2020.

ABC Quality (ABCQ) – Quality Rating Improvement System (QRIS) Revisions

ABCQ, the state’s voluntary quality rating improvement system (QRIS) for child care facilities is a broad five-tier quality structure designed to assist providers in enhancing their program beyond basic licensing standards and to help parents choose quality care. The ABC quality rating determines the ABC Quality Level, which in turn determines the tiered payment rate for providers from the SC Voucher reimbursement system.

During 2019-2020, ABC Quality began implementing a revised and consolidated strengths-based assessment tool. The evaluation reviews mandatory requirements, policies and procedures, and classroom standards. During the implementation period, only programs with increased quality levels will be recognized. Programs that receive a decreased quality level will retain their previous rating for an identified period to work toward improvements and lessen the impact of the new assessment tool.

Training for Child Care Providers

DSS continues to provide support for the federally mandated health and safety pre-service training required of child care providers participating in ABCQ, to include an additional 12 hours of online training. All training is provided at no cost to ABCQ providers. All staff in ABCQ programs must have current CPR and first aid certification training, which is also made available at no cost.

Early Care and Education Infrastructure Improvements

DSS continues to work toward an integrated data system for the Division of Early Care and Education which includes SC Endeavors, ABC Quality, Child Care Licensing, SC Voucher, and the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP). Data integration will reduce duplicate data entries and increase overall data quality.

Child Support Services

The Child Support Services Division (CSSD) establishes and enforces orders for child support, establishes paternity for children when paternity is an issue, locates absent parents when whereabouts are unknown, and manages the collection and distribution of child support payments. CSSD also provides enhanced fatherhood initiatives to improve the capability of both custodial and noncustodial parents to provide their children with the financial, physical, and emotional support they deserve and need to be safe and to thrive.

The new Palmetto Automated Child Support System (PACSS) completed its statewide implementation with certification by the federal Office of Child Support Enforcement in September 2019. The conclusion of the certification process marked the end of federal penalties for non-compliance with technology requirements.

As part of the implementation, all Agency child support staff, as well as family court staff (including judges) have received PACSS training. Ongoing outreach efforts, to include internal and external training resources and policy materials, will continue to ensure maximum productivity is achieved and maintained.

During the PACSS implementation, the division also activated a federally mandated state disbursement unit (SDU). Through a partnership with Conduent, the SDU collects and disburses child and spousal support payments made on support cases managed by DSS, as well as private support cases. This change shifts the bulk of payment processing from local county clerks of court to a statewide centralized entity. This redesign opens new avenues for making support payments to noncustodial parents. Additionally, parents receiving support now have the option of receiving payments through direct deposit or a stored value card. The SDU has also expanded its call center operations, to also include an enhanced Integrated Voice Response (IVR) system.

AGENCY NAME:	Department of Social Services

Also pursuant to the implementation of both PACSS and the SDU, the division has assumed additional duties for the centralized management of wage withholding for support obligations. To meet that need, the division has established a new employer services unit (ESU) to maintain the PACSS employer database. The ESU process makes wage garnishment more efficient by standardizing and consolidating employer information used for garnishment notices. This database reduces turnaround time, errors, and postage costs. The ESU also manages virtually all income withholdings statewide. The ESU is now a central point of contact for employers, so that matters regarding garnishment and health insurance requirements can be addressed quickly and consistently.

Adult Advocacy Services

Adult Protective Services

Adult Protective Services (APS) is mandated to investigate non-criminal reports of caregiver abuse, neglect, and exploitation of vulnerable adults. If the standard of evidence is met, APS then has the responsibility to provide temporary protective services to persons 18 years of age or older who reside within a community setting and have a physical or mental condition which prevents them from providing for their own care or protection.

South Carolina was one of four states selected for a pilot project with the US Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Community Living (ACL). The project aligns policy and practice to the National Voluntary Consensus Guidelines for APS Programs. The project should be completed by the end of 2020.

Based on its internal strategic plan, APS has restructured its statewide management and staffing plan. The roles of APS performance coaches were redesigned into area manager positions, with direct management responsibilities for county-level APS staff in each of the four regions. In addition, APS now has a case manager presence in every county. This restructuring has allowed APS case managers to carry only APS cases, as opposed to situations in the past where many case managers carried both child welfare and APS cases.

To increase uniformity to the APS intake process, a new APS pre-screening tool was created to help intake staff make an informed and consistent decision about the legal mandate of APS as it relates to the intake report. The tool was implemented statewide to all intake hubs, to include training and follow-up monitoring.

APS contracts with an Upstate assisted living facility for six temporary emergency stabilization beds. These beds decrease the need for costly sitters, stabilize the adult, and allow staff to better serve them through in-home assistance or placement in a permanent facility. APS is seeking to expand this service statewide.

South Carolina is the only state to utilize the Family Group Conference (FGC) model for APS cases. Funded by a Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) grant since October 2016, the FGC model allows DSS, family, fictive kin, state stakeholders, and community supports/resources to create partnerships for the safety, well-being, and self-determination of vulnerable adults. The project has now expanded to seven counties with five lead intake practitioners in the intake hubs and a full-time victim advocate. During SFY 2019-2020, 37 FGCs were conducted. The Agency has applied for another VOCA grant to support these initiatives for a fourth year.

The Agency continues as an active member of the South Carolina Adult Protection Coordinating Council (APCC) along with other state agencies, court system and law enforcement representatives, advocacy groups, and allied professional associations. Since 2016, APS has participated in the National Adult Maltreatment Reporting System (NAMRS), which collects data from all states and provides benchmarking resources for the division.

AGENCY NAME:	Department of Social Services
AGENCY CODE:	L04	SECTION:	038

Working collaboratively across the Agency, APS has developed data dashboards that show the current number of open investigations and cases. The dashboards are updated daily and can be filtered to show statewide and/or county data, as well as calculate the length of time cases have been open. These dashboards also produce specialized reports on APS client placements and visitations by APS staff.

Domestic Violence Program

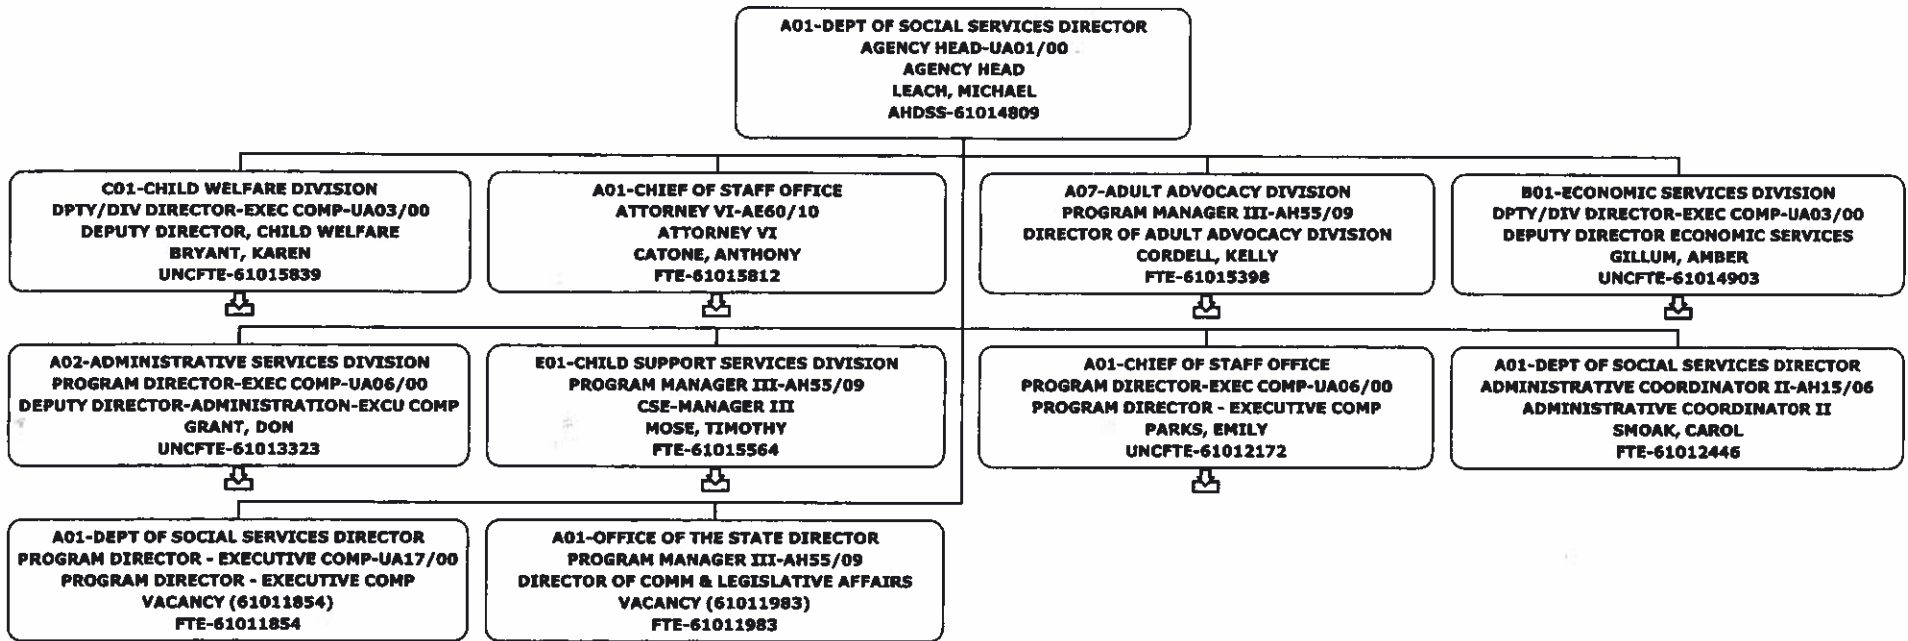

This program funds, monitors, and assists domestic violence programs statewide, as mandated by state law. Crisis intervention and prevention services support victims of family violence and their children through a network of community based/non-profit service providers. This program manages the federal Family Violence Prevention and Services Act (FVPSA) grant that supports emergency shelters and related activities.

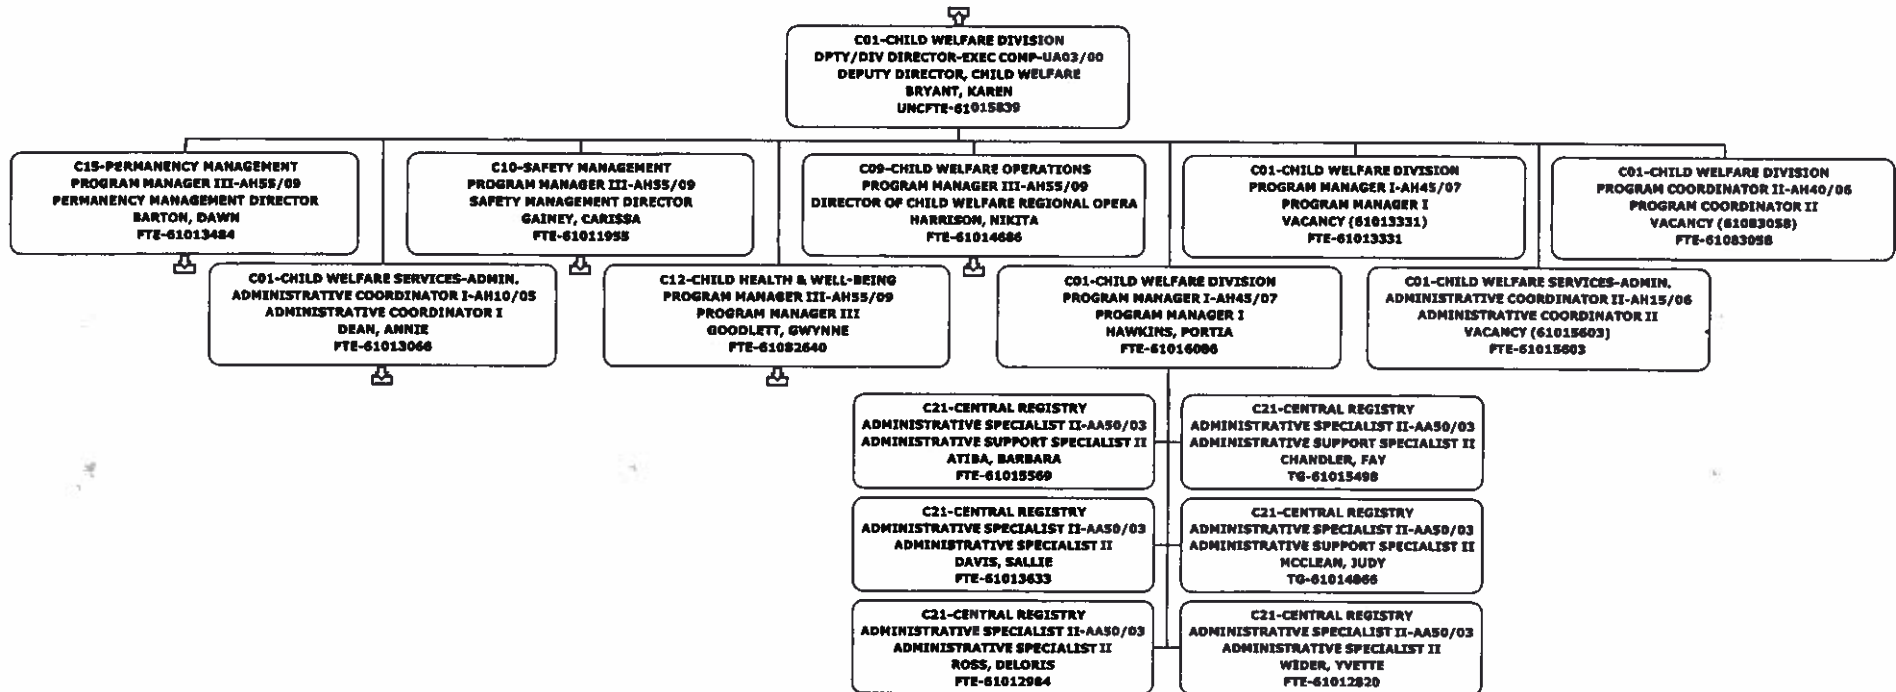

As part of the partnership with the University of South Carolina’s College of Social Work to provide APS certification training and other courses, content on domestic violence is being integrated into all curriculum offerings. In partnership with the South Carolina Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault, staff receive annual training on domestic violence, to include new topics on mental health and substance abuse.

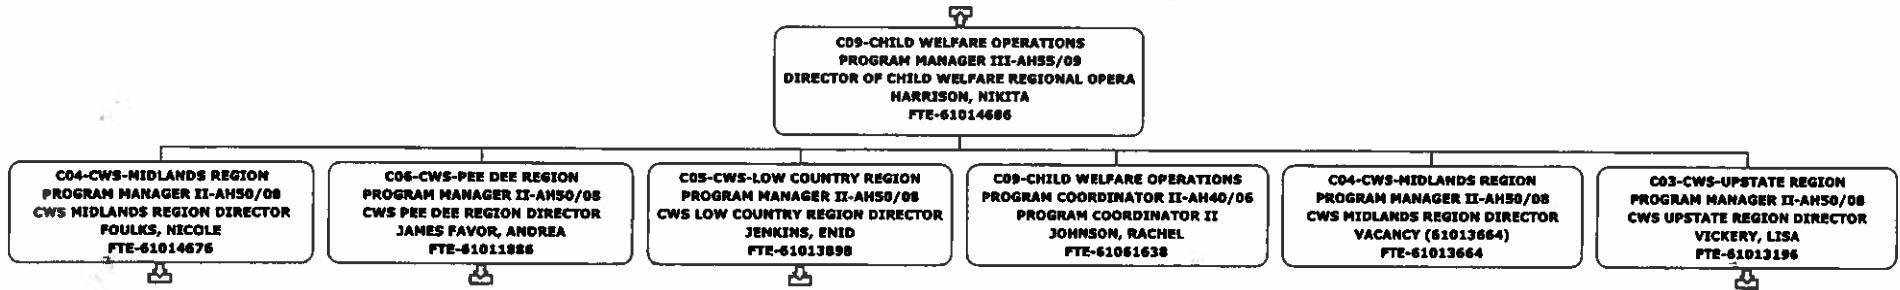

The Agency has partnered with the Safe & Together Institute to provide online domestic violence training to 1,068 child welfare staff in SFY 2019-2020. The training helps staff identify and understand the dynamics of domestic violence to better serve families by keeping children safe. Topics include best practices for responding to cases, working with and partnering with victims, and holding perpetrators accountable.

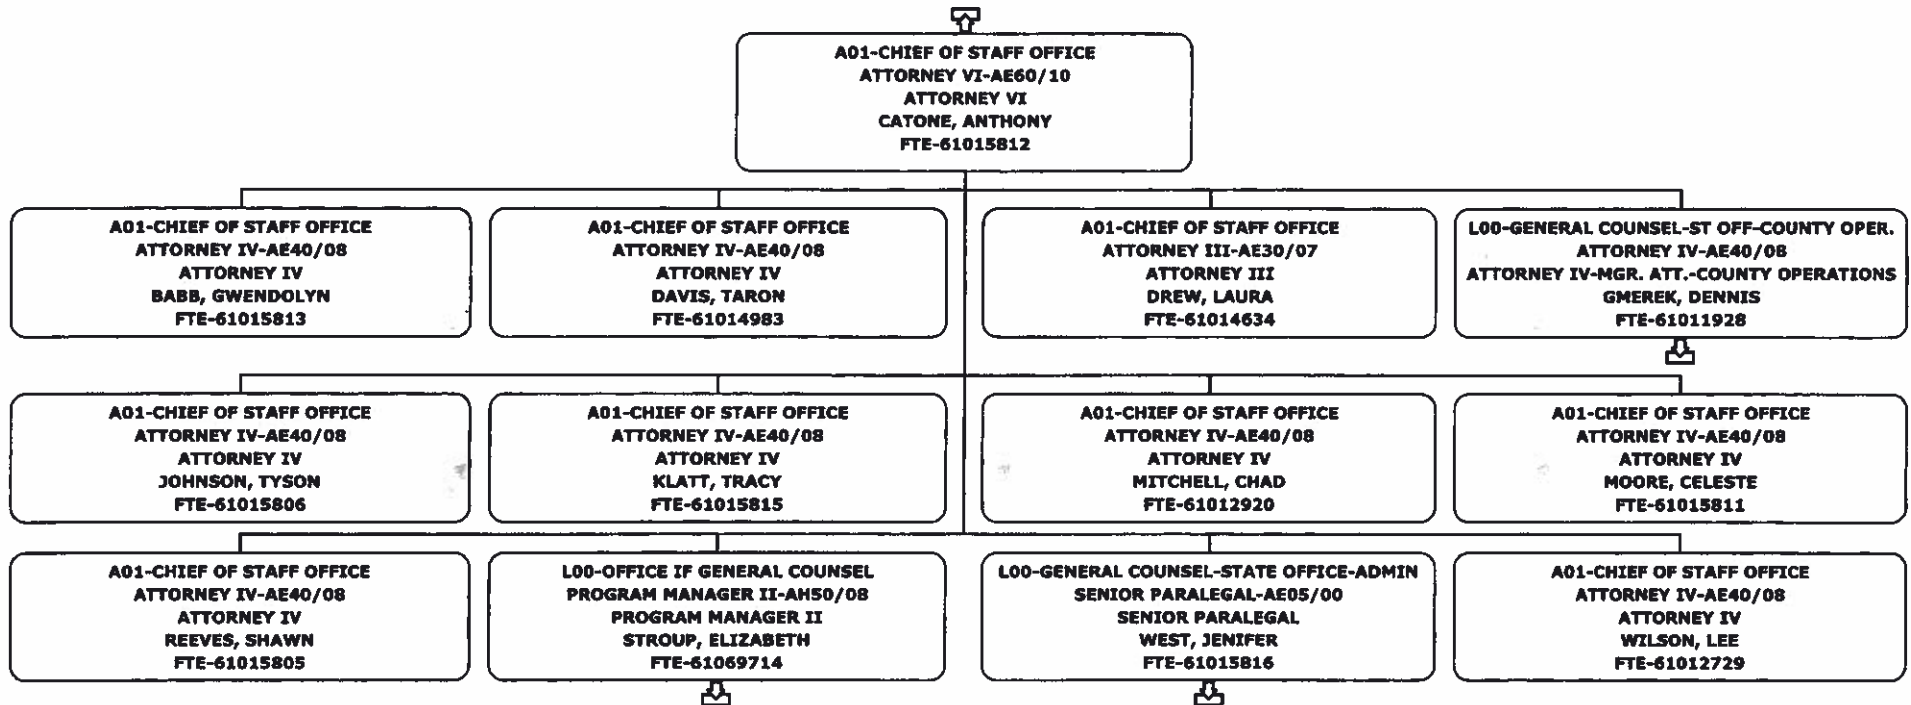

Another initiative focuses on gender-based youth prevention services through a contract with the One Circle Foundation for the “Girls Circle” and “Boys Council” programs. Individuals are trained to incorporate and facilitate these activities into their existing programs, to include curricula and technical assistance. Participants also provide evaluation data. These trainings were provided to 260 individuals during SFY 2019-2020.

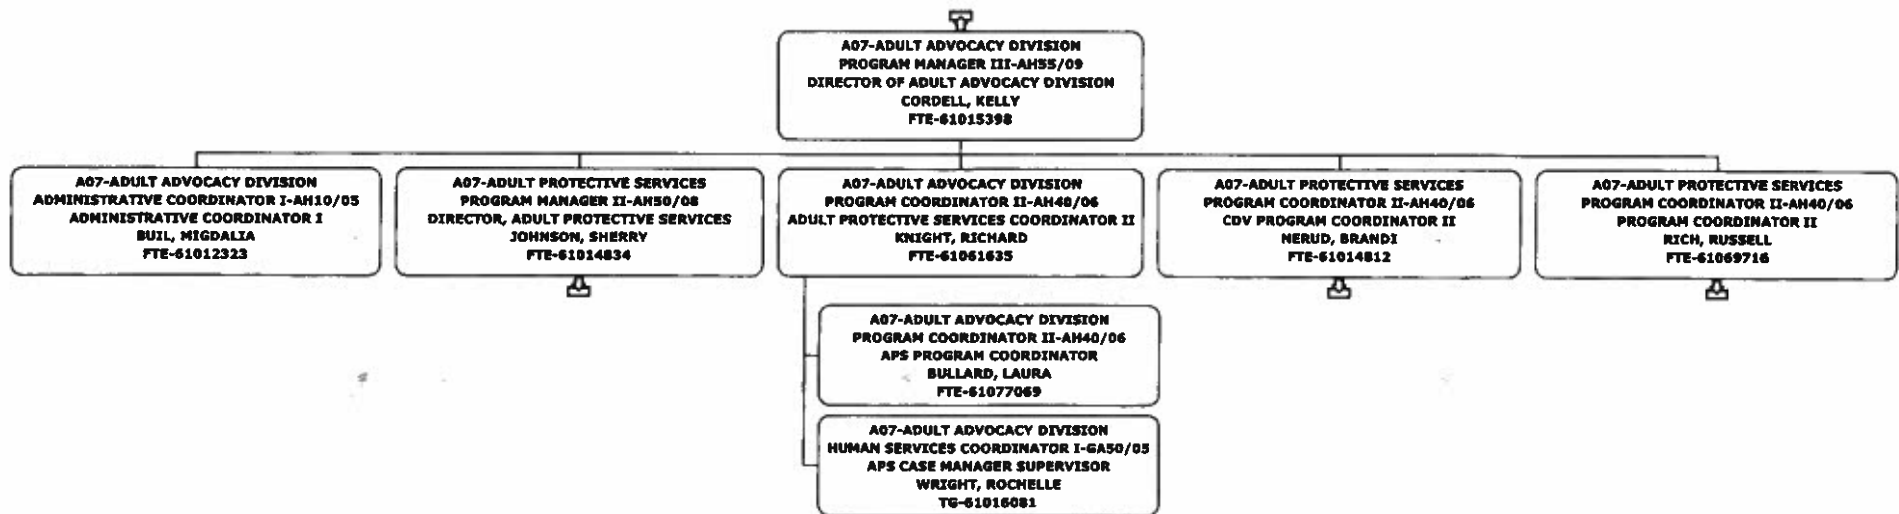

In addition to these initiatives, the Agency has provided additional funding to better support the domestic violence liaison program in each DSS county office. This program pairs an advocate from one of the 13 domestic violence programs DSS supports with county DSS offices to better serve shared clients. Ultimately, this program helps foster positive relationships with DSS county staff and the local domestic violence program staff.
