

Revenue and Fiscal Affairs Office Locate Me Tool

Example of address entered in Locate Me Tool

What does it do?

Individual can enter their address and select different boundaries they want to view (e.g., House district, Judicial district, Council of Governments region, etc.).

Opportunities to gain efficiencies for the public

- Currently, an individual must navigate to individual agency websites to find different information specifically applicable to them (and know which agency page to visit).
- If an agency shares information with RFA, the information can be added to Locate Me to allow an individual to view information from multiple agencies, in a central location.

Note: Each agency maintains ownership of their information. Also, each agency can add the map to their individual webpage, in addition to information they currently provide.

Election Commission

- 1) Candidates; and
- 2) Elected individuals

Secretary of State's Office

- 1) Appointees to state boards and commissions

Example of public information an individual could view, if agencies provided the information to RFA:

- Candidates – View the names of those running for office in their area;
- Elected individuals – View the names of those representing their area in various elected offices; and
- Appointees to state boards and commissions - Those that represent the individual on the board or commission.
