Job 27:5b

In his own defense, Job reaffirms that: “ ‘ . . . until I die I will not put away my integrity from me.’ ”

Join me as we bow in prayer: Holy God, all across this wonderful country of ours there is an enormous need for leaders who are honorable and decent individuals, for those of good character and noble wisdom who more than anything else want to do what is right and just. So all the more do we thank You, dear Lord, for these Senators and staff members whose words and actions define them as true and noble leaders and who know full well what integrity is all about. Continue to uphold them as they lead the people of our State. Moreover, O God, we pray yet again that You also hold in Your care those hundreds of thousands of individuals in war-torn and earthquake ravaged countries. We pray as always in Your loving name, dear Lord. Amen.

The Committee on Education proposed the following amendment (SEDU-418.DB0001S):

Amend the bill, as and if amended, SECTION 1, by striking Section 59-155-180(C)(3), (4), and (5) and inserting:

(3) The reading coach must not be assigned a regular classroom teaching assignment, must not perform administrative functions that deter from the flow of improving reading instruction and reading performance of students and must not devote a significant portion of his or her time to administering or coordinating assessments. By August 1, 2014, the department must publish guidelines that define the minimum qualifications for a reading coach. Beginning in Fiscal Year 2014-2015, reading/literacy coaches are required to earn the ~~add-on~~ certification within six years, except as exempted in items (4) and (5), by completing the necessary courses or professional development as required by the department ~~for the add-on~~. During the six-year period, to increase the number of qualified reading coaches, the Read to Succeed Office shall identify and secure courses and professional development opportunities to assist educators in becoming reading coaches and in earning the literacy add-on endorsement. In addition, the Read to Succeed Office will establish a process through which a district may be permitted to use state appropriations for reading coaches to obtain in-school services from department-approved consultants or vendors, in the event that the school is not successful in identifying and directly employing a qualified candidate. Districts must provide to the Read to Succeed Office information on the name and qualifications of reading coaches funded by the state appropriations.

~~(4) Beginning in Fiscal Year 2015-2016, early childhood and elementary education certified classroom teachers, reading interventionists, and those special education teachers who provide learning disability and speech services to students who need to substantially improve their low reading and writing proficiency skills, are required to earn the literacy teacher add-on endorsement within ten years of their most recent certification by taking at least two courses or six credit hours every five years, or the equivalent professional development hours as determined by the South Carolina Read to Succeed Office, consistent with existing recertification requirements. Inservice hours earned through professional development for the literacy teacher endorsement must be used for renewal of teaching certificates in all subject areas. The courses and professional development leading to the endorsement must be approved by the State Board of Education and must include foundations, assessment, content area reading and writing, instructional strategies, and an embedded or stand-alone practicum. Whenever possible these courses shall be offered at a professional development rate which is lower than the certified teacher rate. Early childhood and elementary education certified classroom teachers, reading specialists, and special education teachers who provide learning disability and speech services to students who need to improve substantially their reading and writing proficiency and who already possess their add-on reading teacher certification can take a content area reading course to obtain their literacy teacher add-on endorsement. Individuals who possess a literacy teacher add-on endorsement or who have earned a master's or doctorate degree in reading are exempt from this requirement. Individuals who have completed an intensive and prolonged professional development program like Reading Recovery, Project Read, the South Carolina Reading Initiative, or another similar program should submit their transcripts to the Office of Educator Licensure to determine if they have completed the coursework required~~ for the literacy teacher add-on certificate. The board is authorized to approve guidelines on an annual basis for professional development, coursework, certification, and endorsement requirements for teachers of early childhood and elementary education, including special education teachers, interventionists, reading specialists, and administrators, whose responsibilities, either directly or indirectly, substantially relate to reading and literacy instruction, support, or interventions as provided in this section. The guidelines approved by the board shall also include the issuance of appropriate credit to individuals who have completed an intensive and prolonged professional development program. Local school districts, working with the department, shall offer the required professional development, coursework, certification, and endorsements at no charge to educators. Inservice hours earned through professional development must be used for renewal of teaching certificates in all subject areas. The total number of hours required shall not exceed 60 of the 120 hours required during a teacher's five-year recertification cycle.

~~(5) Beginning in Fiscal Year 2015-2016, middle and secondary licensed classroom teachers are required to take at least one course or three credit hours, or the equivalent professional development hours as determined by the South Carolina Read to Succeed Office, to improve reading instruction within five years of their most recent certification. The courses and professional development must be approved by the State Board of Education and include courses and professional development leading to the literacy teacher add-on endorsement. Coursework and professional development in reading must include a course in reading in the content areas. Whenever possible these courses will be offered at a professional development rate which is lower than the certified teacher rate. Individuals who possess a literacy teacher add-on endorsement or who have earned a master's or doctorate degree in reading are exempt from this requirement. Individuals who have completed an intensive, prolonged professional development program like Reading Recovery, Project Read, the South Carolina Reading Initiative, or another similar program should submit their transcripts to the Office of Educator Licensure to determine if they have completed the coursework or professional development required for the literacy teacher add-on certificate. Beginning September 1, 2024, early childhood, elementary, and special education teacher candidates seeking their initial certification in South Carolina must earn a passing score on a rigorous test of scientifically research-based reading instruction and intervention and data-based decision-making principles as approved by the board. The~~ objective of this item is to ensure that teacher candidates understand the foundations of reading and are prepared to teach reading to all students.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 1, by striking Section 59-155-180(C)(7) and (8) and inserting:

(7) The Read to Succeed Office shall publish by August 1, 2014, the guidelines and procedures used in evaluating all courses and professional development, including virtual courses and professional development, leading to the literacy teacher add-on endorsement. Annually by January first, the Read to Succeed Office shall publish the approved courses and approved professional development leading to the literacy teacher add-on endorsement. Teachers, administrators, and other certified faculty and staff are exempt from having to earn the literacy endorsement to maintain certification only if they are not educating or serving students in a school or other educational setting. The literacy endorsement must be earned before an individual who was previously exempt pursuant to this item returns to a position where they educate or otherwise serve students.

(8) Annually by August first, the department shall publish the guidelines and procedures used in evaluating all courses and professional development, including virtual courses and professional development, leading to the literacy teacher endorsement. Annually by January first, the department shall publish the approved courses and approved professional development leading to the literacy teacher endorsement.

The Senate assembled at 1:00 P.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Matthew 6:21

We read that the Lord himself proclaims: “ ‘For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.’ ”

Let us pray. We recognize that today is Ash Wednesday, O Lord, a day of repentance when many cannot help but ponder how it is that we so typically live in ways that are light-years from the manner You would have us all live. In the face of that reality we pray that You will give each of us the strength we need to change our ways, dear God, the courage to admit our shortcomings, and the willing desire to choose to live as You, Lord, would have us live, day by day. And as always, we ask that You will strengthen each of these Senators as You alone can, and give them the peace of heart and mind they need in order to carry out Your will for all of the people of South Carolina. In Your name we pray, Lord. Amen.

Remarks by Senator GARRETT

Thank you all. You know, this fentanyl is a very dangerous drug. It is killing many of our children and it is a national problem. It is not just a South Carolina problem. I would love for South Carolina to be able to put a band around us and keep all of it out of South Carolina. We can't do that, so in my estimation we have to be thinking in terms of national policy as well as South Carolina policy. We can't do this alone, so our policies need to be consistent with the national policies. We all need to be working together state, federal, and local government. We need to support law enforcement. When somebody loses a child to drugs, they don't really care whether or not it had four grains, or eight grains, or two grains, or any grains. When you lose a child to this, all you know is that someone sold it to them. That is what you know and understand. Often, as was testified at that meeting, many of those people actually knew who it was that sold them that drug and they are not being prosecuted. So nowadays, what we have is a situation where the dealers are smarter. They are now putting their drugs into every other drug. For instance, they lace marijuana with this drug, fentanyl, and kill you just the same as whether or not they gave you straight fentanyl. It is a problem for all of us. We've got a good federal and state law that deals with a combination of all of these drugs. It is in our Section 16-3-80, and it also deals with the issue that was before us earlier. This amendment draws in all federal law and our state law or state law into our federal law, and it uses all of this power. Oftentimes, we don't have the money or expertise in South Carolina -- oftentimes to do this work that needs to be done, to the interdiction. Oftentimes a lot of this stuff coming in is not coming in just from South Carolina. It is coming in from Florida. It is coming in from Atlanta. It is coming in from Nashville. It is coming in from Charlotte. All of this is coming in. It comes in and goes out, before we even know who has delivered it. Unless we work the system that is already in place, the South Carolina system is consistent with the federal system. This amendment says that all illegal drugs, if they kill your child, should warrant the penalty of thirty years. So that's what the amendment does. Thank you.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 2023

On motion of Senator GAMBRELL, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator GARRETT were ordered printed in the Journal.

Isaiah the prophet proclaimed: "Comfort, comfort my people, says your God."

Bow in prayer with me, if you will: Holy God, we give You our sincerest thanks today for every individual who strives to serve You faithfully here in the Senate of South Carolina: the dedicated and caring Senators themselves determined to honor You by doing their very best, the staff members who labor diligently and often quietly behind the scenes to carry out the will of this Body, and every other servant doing his or her dead level best to provide for the needs of all South Carolinians. Indeed, everyone who labors during these challenging days to bring hope and comfort to our people needs to be counted among our modern-day heroes, and so we accord each of these our high praise and thanksgiving. We humbly pray all this in Your loving name, dear Lord. Amen.

The Committee on Education proposed the following amendment (SEDU-418.DB0001S):

Amend the bill, as and if amended, SECTION 1, by striking Section 59-155-180(C)(3), (4), and (5) and inserting:

(3) The reading coach must not be assigned a regular classroom teaching assignment, must not perform administrative functions that deter from the flow of improving reading instruction and reading performance of students and must not devote a significant portion of his or her time to administering or coordinating assessments. By August 1, 2014, the department must publish guidelines that define the minimum qualifications for a reading coach. Beginning in Fiscal Year 2014-2015, reading/literacy coaches are required to earn the ~~add-on~~ certification within six years, except as exempted in items (4) and (5), by completing the necessary courses or professional development as required by the department ~~for the add-on~~. During the six-year period, to increase the number of qualified reading coaches, the Read to Succeed Office shall identify and secure courses and professional development opportunities to assist educators in becoming reading coaches and in earning the literacy ~~add-on~~ endorsement. In addition, the Read to Succeed Office will establish a process through which a district may be permitted to use state appropriations for reading coaches to obtain in-school services from department-approved consultants or vendors, in the event that the school is not successful in identifying and directly employing a qualified candidate. Districts must provide to the Read to Succeed Office information on the name and qualifications of reading coaches funded by the state appropriations.

~~(4) Beginning in Fiscal Year 2015-2016, early childhood and elementary education certified classroom teachers, reading interventionists, and those special education teachers who provide learning disability and speech services to students who need to substantially improve their low reading and writing proficiency skills, are required to earn the literacy teacher add-on endorsement within ten years of their most recent certification by taking at least two courses or six credit hours every five years, or the equivalent professional development hours as determined by the South Carolina Read to Succeed Office, consistent with existing recertification requirements. Inservice hours earned through professional development for the literacy teacher endorsement must be used for renewal of teaching certificates in all subject areas. The courses and professional development leading to the endorsement must be approved by the State Board of Education and must include foundations, assessment, content area reading and writing, instructional strategies, and an embedded or stand alone practicum. Whenever possible these courses shall be offered at a professional development rate which is lower than the certified teacher rate. Early childhood and elementary education certified classroom teachers, reading specialists, and special education teachers who provide learning disability and speech services to students who need to improve substantially their reading and writing proficiency and who already possess their add-on reading teacher certification can take a content area reading course to obtain their literacy teacher add-on endorsement. Individuals who possess a literacy teacher add-on endorsement or who have earned a master's or doctorate degree in reading are exempt from this requirement. Individuals who have completed an intensive and prolonged professional development program like Reading Recovery, Project Read, the South Carolina Reading Initiative, or another similar~~

~~program should submit their transcripts to the Office of Educator Licensure to determine if they have completed the coursework required for the literacy teacher add-on certificate. The board is authorized to approve guidelines on an annual basis for professional development, coursework, certification, and endorsement requirements for teachers of early childhood and elementary education, including special education teachers, interventionists, reading specialists, and administrators, whose responsibilities, either directly or indirectly, substantially relate to reading and literacy instruction, support, or interventions as provided in this section. The guidelines approved by the board shall also include the issuance of appropriate credit to individuals who have completed an intensive and prolonged professional development program. Local school districts, working with the department, shall offer the required professional development, coursework, certification, and endorsements at no charge to educators. Inservice hours earned through professional development must be used for renewal of teaching certificates in all subject areas. The total number of hours required shall not exceed 60 of the 120 hours required during a teacher's five-year recertification cycle.~~

~~(5) Beginning in Fiscal Year 2015-2016, middle and secondary licensed classroom teachers are required to take at least one course or three credit hours, or the equivalent professional development hours as determined by the South Carolina Read to Succeed Office, to improve reading instruction within five years of their most recent certification. The courses and professional development must be approved by the State Board of Education and include courses and professional development leading to the literacy teacher add-on endorsement. Coursework and professional development in reading must include a course in reading in the content areas. Whenever possible these courses will be offered at a professional development rate which is lower than the certified teacher rate. Individuals who possess a literacy teacher add-on endorsement or who have earned a master's or doctorate degree in reading are exempt from this requirement. Individuals who have completed an intensive, prolonged professional development program like Reading Recovery, Project Read, the South Carolina Reading Initiative, or another similar program should submit their transcripts to the Office of Educator Licensure to determine if they have completed the coursework or professional development required for the literacy teacher add-on certificate. Beginning September 1, 2024, early childhood, elementary, and special education teacher candidates seeking their initial certification in South Carolina must earn a passing score on a rigorous test of scientifically research-based reading instruction and intervention and~~ data-based decision-making principles as approved by the board. The objective of this item is to ensure that teacher candidates understand the foundations of reading and are prepared to teach reading to all students.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 1, by striking Section 59-155-180(C)(7) and (8) and inserting:

(7) ~~The Read to Succeed Office shall publish by August 1, 2014, the guidelines and procedures used in evaluating all courses and professional development, including virtual courses and professional development, leading to the literacy teacher add on endorsement. Annually by January first, the Read to Succeed Office shall publish the approved courses and approved professional development leading to the literacy teacher add on endorsement. Teachers, administrators, and other certified faculty and staff are exempt from having to earn the literacy endorsement to maintain certification only if they are not educating or serving students in a school or other educational setting. The literacy endorsement must be earned before an individual who was previously exempt pursuant to this item returns to a position where they educate or otherwise serve students.~~

(8) Annually by August first, the department shall publish the guidelines and procedures used in evaluating all courses and professional development, including virtual courses and professional development, leading to the literacy teacher endorsement. Annually by January first, the department shall publish the approved courses and approved professional development leading to the literacy teacher endorsement.

The Senate proceeded to a consideration of the Bill, the question being the third reading of the Bill.

Senator MALLOY spoke on the Bill.

Remarks by Senator MALLOY

Senator ALEXANDER and members of the Senate, I come before you to briefly speak about what had happened on this specific amendment to S. 120. I have noted that there are some fallacies surrounding it that I want to address. I want to make certain that everyone is clear that nothing in this Bill carves out a person's will or desire for a person to die at the hands of the State. Please know that any categorization of this amendment as one of those issues is patently false. Many of us have represented clients or know those that have represented clients that began as a death penalty case and is not a trial by a judge, but instead, a trial by a jury of their peers. There are often disparities in these cases, so please do not take this vote or support anything as it relates to this issue as to a person's own stance. Those opinions belong to the individual and do not belong in this discussion.

Simply put, the State cannot get the drug used for lethal injection. Do you believe it is more humane to use lethal injection to execute the death penalty? However, one could conceivably argue that no form of execution is humane, depending on where one may stand on this issue. Let's look at what's been happening on the subject of the death penalty in other states, as well as what is happening here in South Carolina. There has been much discussion nationwide about whether innocent people have been executed and we can all agree that yes, innocent people have been executed. Are there innocent people now on death row? Yes, there are. Are there a disproportionate number of those on death row that are poor? Yes, there are. Is there a disproportionate percentage of African Americans on death row? Yes, there are. In South Carolina, we have thirty-four people on death row, and you may be surprised to learn that seventeen are black and seventeen are white. Conversely, there is one person on death row in California. When you begin looking at the numbers as it relates to population, there is still a disparity.

My other point is this -- you've heard me talk a great deal about our prison population and what we do with our inmates. If you look at what has happened with our prison population in recent years, you will see a significant decline in numbers. In 2014, it went down by 365 inmates. In 2015, it went down by another 542. In 2017, it went down an additional 159, and the next year another 890. In 2018, it went down 829 and in 2020, it went down by 581. Then there was a big jump, down 2,434 inmates, and now South Carolina is down to between 15,000 and 16,000 inmates. We have effectively changed the trajectory of incarceration, and we could begin to consider closing prisons. While the death penalty is certainly the ultimate punishment, views on it have evolved over time. There are many reasons for this, but as we continue to consider this issue, let's be sure that we understand that different countries have different punishments. There are some that rarely utilize the death penalty at all and let me be clear, this is not a bright line test on the death penalty.

In this State, there should be an aggravating circumstance for the death penalty as a result of a hate crime, but we don't have it. We don't even have a definition of a hate crime in this State. For example, we had to prosecute Dylan Roof in federal court, where he was convicted and sentenced to death. He pled to a life sentence here in state court -- a life sentence as the consequence for his heinous acts.

If you look at where these inmates on death row are from, and there are only 34, you will see that there is also a disparity in counties that implement the death penalty. If we are truly going to have an issue on this, it must be fair. Senator McLEOD attempted to put up an amendment yesterday regarding whether or not the State should video executions. And while the public may perceive this as a good idea, and maybe it is, it is a difficult issue. There were concerns around whether such videos would be leaked to the public. Let us understand that in particularly heinous cases -- attorneys keep crime scene photos out of the mainstream media -- could you imagine what would happen if those pictures made it into the public? So while Senator McLEOD's idea is good and sincere, as a practical matter, we must consider whether or not we want unfettered access to such videos in the mainstream media. What we currently have in place is the written transcript of events to reproduce actual events to give the media the ability to fairly report upon the proceedings afterwards, once they have left the facility.

For those that have had the opportunity to witness such a proceeding, many wish they had not. Some have represented individuals that become very genteel toward the very end. I have personally seen very heinous cases where their sentences have been commuted to life. The law of the land in South Carolina is the death penalty, but it will change as it evolves around the country. There will one day be a time where South Carolina will no longer have the death penalty. There will be a time when the United States of America will no longer incarcerate people at the rate they currently do. Twenty-five percent of the world's prison population is in the United States of America. We have more prison beds than dorm room beds in this country. In forty-two states, we have more prisoners than we have students in universities and colleges. We are a lock 'em up society, not a rehabilitative society.

And so I come to my last point, then I will take some questions. This is not political football, so if you ask someone how they feel about this issue -- I will say that I am conflicted a little bit myself, depending on whether I just left Sunday School, or whether someone has caused suffering to my family. I have looked into Dylan Roof's face, and I don't know how he deserves existence in this world. Will he ever be executed? No.

So, in conclusion, this is not a political football, so please don't take it that way. We had some discussion yesterday about how execution is set up in this State. The people that are in attendance are not clothed in uniforms that cover their faces or anything of the like. That doesn't happen. As the process has evolved in this State over time -- have had past debates over using a firing squad and bringing the electric chair back. From what we read, there are a lot of botched executions, particularly in the electric chair. If you read up on this, even within the execution drug cases, the firing squad is the least botched. But no one can truly fathom a firing squad becoming a reality in this State.

So I will conclude by saying that I have been asked why I would vote for this Legislation. I have a hard time explaining that, so my first response was that it is the law of the land, and while it's more accepted if you will, I don't believe that it is entirely accepted. If you are going to keep the death penalty, do you take the option of having the electric chair or firing squad or the lethal injection? The Senate has chosen that it would implement this shield law to accept the lethal injection drugs and make it the law of the land in South Carolina. As we move forward, I want to make certain that we don't use this issue as a dividing point for the ultimate issue -- the death penalty -- that you could be challenged on yourself and your belief system, not just your policy. This is about human decency and the people affected by our decisions.

On motion of Senator MATTHEWS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator MALLOY were ordered printed in the Journal.

Senator K. JOHNSON spoke on the Bill.

Remarks by Senator K. JOHNSON

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. Members, yesterday when we voted a second reading on this Bill I think the vote was 39 to 5, and I was one of those five that voted against the Bill. I think I convinced myself that I lean against the death penalty. Now, keep in mind that I'm hard on criminals and I don't like crime, and I tend to like for people to be punished especially for the more heinous crime; however, as we've just heard in the last exchange, there are studies that show that about 4.1% of people who are on death row or who have been executed were innocent. I don't think that there is any justification for executing an innocent person. I also think that giving a person life plus one hundred years or life without the possibility of parole in a lot of cases is a harsher penalty than the death penalty. I think sometimes the death penalty is too easy for some people.

We sat here a month or so ago and the majority of the Body was stating adamantly how pro-life they are. I speak for myself, and I said then during that debate that I had a hard time understanding their reasons as to how they feel as they do. I have a hard time reconciling a person being so strongly pro-life, and then here we are now on a different Bill and they're in favor for the death penalty. I wouldn't have as hard of a time with that if it weren't for the fact, as I said before, we're executing all these people and we have some people on death row who are 100% innocent. There is one in every twenty-five being executed for a crime they didn't commit, but if that were just one that would be one too many.

The other problem I had with this Bill is that we want to shield the identity of those who are involved in this, such as pharmacists, doctors, and others who are involved; however, in the case of abortion, if the woman wants to exercise her right to have the baby aborted, we are not trying to shield her identity. I think the Bill we passed a few weeks ago says, if a woman decides that she wants to have an abortion because the baby was conceived through rape, she can do so but a lot of information must be reported to the police department, and it is filed on record. If the baby was aborted due to a fetal anomaly or due to risking the life of the mother, there is also some reporting that must be done. The woman doesn't have this shield like the people who are involved in the death penalty. That is why I voted against it. I don't think that we should have the right to kill people because they kill people. I think that there are severe and harsh punishments that can be meted out that come short of killing people. Again, I say that because when we do that, we are killing innocent people and we have killed innocent people. If the data is correct, what we have here in the death penalty, is one in twenty-five of those people that have been executed, or, one in twenty-five of those folks who are waiting to be executed are innocent. Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT.

On motion of Senator STEPHENS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator K. JOHNSON were ordered printed in the Journal.

Senator DAVIS spoke on the Bill.

Remarks by Senator DAVIS

Did you know it is very rare we have an issue like this before us and there are important things to explore as we debate it? I am not going to be long, maybe five or ten minutes, but I think there are some important points to be made here. Are you aware that I support the death penalty? Are you aware that the reasons individuals give in support of the death penalty are either, it is necessary as a deterrent, it is necessary to provide justice for the family members of those who were killed, or it is necessary in a broader justice sense for an individual who has taken a life to surrender a life?

There are various public policy reasons given by those who support the death penalty. Did you know that Science Magazine and many journals have done an exhaustive study of three decades worth of executions and capital punishment? They determined that in approximately 4% of the cases you are executing a person who is innocent. Now, that varies depending upon the statistician, but no one is going to dispute there are going to be instances when somebody who is innocent is executed. Did you know those who support the death penalty take the position, when you balance those public policy reasons, that I stated -- whether it is deterrence, justice, or whatever it is -- that those public policy reasons justify the taking of an innocent life? And did you know when I am thinking that through, I am remembering the abortion debate and those who say that life under every single circumstance must be protected? That there is no countervailing right that you can balance against it. Women's liberty is not a right you can counterbalance against it. Would you agree with me that there is a bit of a disconnect in the reasoning process between those who argue that there should be a ban on abortions from the time of conception, that life is absolute, that all innocent life needs to be protected, and that there is no sufficient countervailing balance or social good to balance against that in that context? But in the death penalty context, they are perfectly willing to allow an innocent person to be executed because of those countervailing public policy benefits.

I just wanted to point out that I think there is hypocrisy between those two positions. Did you know, that as a matter of fact, an innocent person is going to be executed at some point in time? We know that. Yet we do it anyway because of the corresponding public benefits. I am just not sure why those who support the death penalty and make that argument do not apply that same reasoning to abortion. Thank you.

On motion of Senator MATTHEWS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator DAVIS were ordered printed in the Journal.

The Bill was read the third time ordered sent to the House.

Let us pray: O Loving Lord, it has now been one year, one year since the horrors of modern warfare brought havoc and destruction upon the people of Ukraine. One entire year of unrelenting terror and death. We pray, dear God, that Your hand of mercy will be with those who survive and who struggle to overcome the forces of darkness. We pray further for those who are striving to bring about peace, to provide medical aid, to assist Ukraine as yet another year of unimaginable fear gets underway. Also, Lord, as this Senate yearns for peace everywhere, we ask You to keep our own troops safe, wherever they happen to serve. Remarks by Senator SCOTT

Mr. PRESIDENT, members of the Senate, before we exit for the day, I wanted to make sure at the end of the session we at least shared some real facts as relates to Black History Month. They say facts come from U.S.A. Facts published on Wednesday, February 9, 2023, which indicate that more than 12% of the American population identified as black or African American in 2022. The data showed from five government entities that on average, black Americans are more likely to be in unions than the general U.S. population -- voted higher in rates in 2020 than in 2016, making up the greatest share of congress than ever before. Black or African American population in 2020 was 39.9 million people. That's 12.1% of the 331.4 million people living in the United States. People identify as black or African American were 11.9% of the veteran population between 2015 and 2019. They were the second largest racial group of veterans after white Americans. Another 2% of veterans identified as two or more races. Third, the voting race for African Americans during the 2020 Presidential Election was 62.6%, up in 2016, but down from 66.2% in 2012. 66% of black women who were public school teachers reported having at least a Master's degree. Asian women at public schools reported advanced degrees at a higher rate. Since at least 2000, black workers have been more likely to belong to labor unions than U.S. workers overall. In 2019, 11.2% of black workers were unionized compared to 10.3% of workers overall. The state having the largest portion of blacks and African Americans, of course, is Mississippi. 82% employed black women worked full-time in 2019 compared to 77% of overall full-time employed women. In 2019, 77.9% of black people with advanced degrees and 77.4% with bachelor's degree participated in the labor force. 58% of black people with high school diplomas as black or African American and 37.7 -- 37.3% without a high school diploma. Black high school attendance or African American high school attendance was at a record in 2019 -- 87.9%. The 117th Congress had sixty-two members, which is a record high for Congress -- coming from twenty-eight states, including the Virgin Islands and Washington,

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 2023

D.C. In 2021, 19.5% of black people who lived in the United States were living below the poverty guideline, and that's the point I want us to pay very close attention to in South Carolina. How many folks do we have still living below the poverty guideline? This is compared to 8.2% of white people and 8.1% of Asian people. Within our rural counties, and we have many, many rural counties in this State, and that's where I've spent the last four years dealing with rural and special rural issues. 24.1% of African American residents versus 10.4% of white residents lived below the federal poverty guidelines in 2016. Some proportion of rural and urban African American, when combined together, is about 26.7%. I want to say this has been a great time to continue to celebrate Black History Month. We've still got a lot of work to do. I did not share with you South Carolina statistics because I know what they are and folks in South Carolina compared to the rest of the Nation -- we've got a long way to go. Thank you, and for those who participate in black history across the State of South Carolina, I say keep the good work up, let's continue to work hard to make South Carolina great.

On motion of Senator STEPHENS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator SCOTT were ordered printed in the Journal.

Indicates New Matter

The Senate assembled at 1:00 P.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

I Corinthians 13:11

The Apostle Paul pointedly reminds us that: "When I was a child, I talked like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child; when I became an adult, I put an end to childish ways."

Please join me as we bow in prayer: O Lord, serving others is never an easy task. And certainly here in the Senate of South Carolina, working on behalf of the people of our State is challenging at every level. The temptation to be evasive and to rely on excuses is a tempting option sometimes. To do anything possible just to get past a sticky issue comes to mind now and then. To think along these childish lines for some might be unavoidable. Yet these Senators and their aides know full well that such approaches are simply not the way to go. Rather, to face matters head-on, to debate fully and rationally, to make wise choices which truly can benefit our people are always the very best ways to proceed. Such approaches have typically been among the hallmarks of this august Body. May it ever be so. This we pray in Your loving name, dear Lord. Amen.

Indicates New Matter

The Senate assembled at 11:00 A.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Joshua 4:9

In the book of Joshua we read that: “Joshua set up twelve stones in the middle of the Jordan, in the place where the feet of the priests bearing the ark of the covenant had stood; and they are there to this day.”

Let us together bow: Clearly, O Lord, it is apparent that Joshua was creating a memorial. By placing those stones in the Jordan, he was determined that succeeding generations of Israelites would well remember a significant time of their early history. And shifting to today, this leads us to ponder: what sort of “memorial” will the women and men of this Senate leave behind? What will be the lasting legacy of this Senate? Will it be a memorial that is worthy and genuinely meaningful, one that speaks to how life has been made better for our people? We pray fervently, Lord, that these Senators will indeed leave such a powerful and longlasting memorial. And, as always, Lord, we pray in Your name that the ultimate glory is Yours. Amen.

Remarks by Senator MALLOY

Thank you PRESIDENT ALEXANDER and members of the Senate. I would be remiss if I let this moment pass after we are talking about the Heirs' Property Act. In this General Assembly, we talk about our legacy and of those before us. So many times the things we discuss here are social justice issues and issues that move the needle. However, I recall a time many years ago, there was a gentleman employed by the Senate that worked here relentlessly on heirs' property. During that time, we had a Bill that was drafted by Catherine Wells, a staff member on the Judiciary Committee and signed by former Governor Haley. It was an innovative law that required independent appraisals and open market sales to ensure that heirs received fair prices. Additionally, the new act would not prevent sales for the failure to pay taxes or described in the BBC, at that time, but it would ensure that sales begun by developers and distant heirs would be more impartial and advantageous for all property owners. During session, it went to the House, was labored, and then another House member put it in their name, sent it back and we named it the Clementa Pinckney Heirs' Property Act.

The constituents from the Charleston area are nodding their heads in confirmation for they understand exactly what this means. This is a continuation of the work that is so necessary in our State and should have been enacted many years ago. Therefore, I applaud those that have been a part of this. Families come and go, instilling legacies within the area in which they live, but the land always remains. But many times this is a story that leaves a stain on South Carolina. We have folks that will work on conservation efforts, such as Senator CAMPSSEN, and we protect conservation, at times even from development, and so we must have truly what we consider “good”.

There are many times that we have Legislation like this, the Clementa Pinckney Heirs’ Property Act, and I believe there is no pride in authorship. As I stated before, every meaningful piece of Legislation that we have here in this Body, if you are going to satisfy and do the public good, must be bipartisan. Ideas must flow from each party and each individual Senator, and we must not worry about who is the author, but rather the content of what is included in the Legislation. It has been eight years since the death of Clementa Pinckney but still today everyone knows his story. Everyone has a story of the land they have lived upon. The family from that time may be gone but the name and the legacy lives on, as does the blood, sweat and tears that were poured into it. If we are going to have development, and we are a growing State, there must be a free and fair market for it. We cannot work in backroom deals in the form of a quitclaim deed, resulting in a partition action, with their things being sold off for pennies on the dollar. We cannot have the blood, sweat and tears of those that came before us ignored -- those that are crumbling in unfound graves which we still find on some of these properties.

While we are doing this, we must be ever mindful that we have a lot of history here. I implore you to look at that door -- it is not just your history, it is everyone’s history. The blood and the sweat that has built this State belongs to all of us. My grandfather is no less than your grandfather, so let us protect them. Lastly, we are not supposed to agree. We do not come from the same place, and that is what makes up this Senate body. I am happy that we can come together to work toward something we can agree on. It is my hope that we empower and put the tools together for this committee to do their work competently, and to ensure that they report back fairly and equally, for the people of yesterday still matter to us.

In closing, I say this as a nod to our friend that we are always referencing when the subjects of hate crimes and similar issues are raised, Clementa Pinckney, as he fought tirelessly for this point for a multitude of years. I move for adoption.

On motion of Senator DAVIS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator MALLOY were ordered printed in the Journal.

The Senate assembled at 2:00 P.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

I Samuel 17:4

In I Samuel we read this familiar story: "...there came from the camp of the Philistines a champion named Goliath of Gath, whose height was six cubits and a span."

Please join your heart with mine as we pray: Most Holy God, we realize fully that giant issues arise before this Senate on a regular basis. Some are huge problems highlighting wickedly complex issues, such as highway system concerns and many other infrastructure challenges. And others can be viewed as positive matters like welcoming new investment and bringing further development to our ever-growing State. But whether they are negative matters or positive ones, these are indeed giant tasks which need the full attention and wisdom of these Senators and their staff members. All of this is why today we pray for Your blessing and guidance upon this Senate, O God, as these leaders wrestle with how to best address each issue and bring about meaningful results for our citizens. So we pray in Your wondrous name, dear Lord. Amen.

Remarks by Senator HARPOOTLIAN

Thank you. I originally got up here to say that I received a number of emails and texts. Especially from Senator SHEALY who wanted to know how I was. She always wants to know, if I am eating well. Am I sleeping well? I really appreciate those who reached out to me in this maelstrom of a trial. It was hard to focus on anything except for the trial. We stayed in Walterboro, South Carolina -- for six weeks we stayed down there.

TUESDAY, MARCH 7, 2023

We pretty much did not go anywhere, or do anything, except for work on this case and I want to say a couple of things about this process.

First, my personal observations are that I have been doing this for almost half a century, and it is still as enjoyable today for me as it was almost fifty years ago when I first began this process of trying cases. I have tried hundreds and hundreds of them -- big cases, little cases. I have won cases. I have lost cases, but that process -- if it operates correctly -- can be so satisfying to the lawyers. If the client loses, they are not satisfied. If they win, typically they feel like they should have won anyway. So, it is really not particularly fun or satisfying for them.

The second point I make is this, Senator CAMPSSEN has questions about the integrity of the system. I disagree with Judge Newman on some of the rulings he made. He ruled. We objected. It is in the record. The Supreme Court of Appeals has a chance to look at it, and so does the federal court. That is not based on bias, he just had a different view of the law than I had.

Now, the third thing I want to say is this: of course, people feel compelled to express their opinion on things through the internet. I guess it is on my website, my email. Some people said, I really wanted that big case you had, but that is not what they chose to send me. Most of the emails and messages were very positive. A lot of them were people that were watching the trial in Germany, England, or the Netherlands. Many people here also gave me suggestions, on a daily basis, on what we should do or how we screwed up yesterday. But to the people that sent me the -- you are a rotten piece of scum and I hope you die of rectal cancer -- you know what? They have a misapprehension of the system. They have a misapprehension of our justice system. While they are very familiar with the second amendment apparently, they have not read the fourth, fifth, sixth, or eighth amendment that guarantees us freedom. We are guaranteed freedom of ourselves and our property. John Adams was the 2nd President of the United States. Eight British soldiers were charged with murdering colonial activist demonstrators who charged them. Eight of them were indicted and charged with murder. John Adams represented them in 1770. Six were acquitted. Two were convicted of manslaughter. None of them were hung. John Adams said that everybody deserves the presumption of innocence and the benefit of counsel. What I do not understand is why this presumption of innocence is such an alien concept. But trust me, there are literally hundreds, if not thousands of emails, that my co-counsel and I received. Not all of them wished rectal cancer on me, but most of them were fairly critical. These are people that do not understand the Constitution. They do not understand one thing: I took an oath forty-nine years ago and I pull it out from time to time and read it as a lawyer because oath matters. Your word matters. I will maintain the respect and courtesy due to the courts of justice, judicial officials and those who system to my clients. I pledge faithfulness, competence, diligence, good judgment, and prompt communication. To opposing parties and their counsel, I pledge fairness, integrity, and civility, not only in court but also in all written and oral communications. I have not always upheld that particular oath promise there, but God knows I have tried. I will maintain the dignity of the legal system and advance no fact prejudicial to the honor and reputation of a party or witness unless required by the justice of the cause of which I am charged. I will assist the defenseless or oppressed by ensuring that justice is available to all citizens that will not delay any person's cause for profit or malice, so help me God. This is an oath I took forty-nine years ago, and I take it seriously. And by the way, you do not have to convince me that you are innocent for me to represent you. That is not the issue. The issue is, can the State prove your guilt beyond a reasonable doubt? When you decide that position, once you decide on that position, you are free to do what is in your client's best interest. If your mind is muddled with, "Is he innocent or guilty," then you cannot do your job. I have prosecuted. I put a man in the electric chair. I have defended a man who went to the electric chair. I have done both sides. I am not a Red Sox fan or Yankees fan. That is not what this is about. This is doing your job. So, to those out there -- this may appear on YouTube somewhere -- who do not understand that, go read a book. Abraham Lincoln represented twenty murder defendants. Not all of them were acquitted but he fought for every one of them. This is about a system. By the way, that system does not exist in this State without us. That is the attractiveness of being in this Body. We shape how that system works. So, I have come back from six weeks overseas (Walterboro, SC) and Margie is not here. Margie Matthews was very kind in letting us use her office to have lunch every day to avoid the -- I know this sounds so vain -- paparazzi who surrounded the Walterboro Colleton County Courthouse. By the way, people that slept outside for nights to get into the courtroom -- get some help, please.

So, thank you for being nice to me while I was gone. You took care of abortion. You have not taken care of guns, Majority Leader. You could have done it all, brought me back without having to deal with that kind of stuff. But I appreciate you at least getting some of the stuff cleared out. Thank you.

On motion of Senator SABB, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator HARPOOTLIAN were ordered printed in the Journal.

Expression of Personal Interest

Remarks by Senator GUSTAFSON

This statement of personal interest is a statement of public interest. We are bombarded with negative and toxic messages and news too much. Today I am sharing a brief chronicle about our people, our community leaders, our state representatives, and SCDOT collaborating towards a positive common purpose in District 27.

There has been an intense public outcry to address the steady stream of accidents at the crossroads of Love's Travel Stop and Dove Sutton Road in Pageland. Lynches River Industrial Park, Love's, and Walmart Distribution Center are all located on a short stretch of Highway 601 punctuated by hills and hindered sight areas. We all agree adequate sight distance is needed to have safe and efficient traffic. There are no current stops, lights, or intersections that would slow traffic enough to avoid vehicle accidents.

The problems there pre-date Love's opening on April 21, 2022. For well over a year, many of us have been requesting the installation of a traffic light. My first official written request to SCDOT is dated February 22, 2022.

As a mother of three, I know the heartbreak of a hurting child, so when I was contacted on Friday, December 23, 2022, about yet another serious incident, I felt compelled to get in touch with the family immediately. Quanicka Robinson is the mother of Quadazhia Blakeney who was injured in December. They both use this road to get to work. I caught Ms. Robinson at the hospital, and she tearfully explained that Quadazhia was in surgery and would have several more by Sunday, Christmas Day. Perhaps there would be comfort in knowing the state government cares and the intersection was in the middle of serious scrutiny.

Quadahzia was released from the hospital on January 5th but readmitted the same night at a different hospital. She cannot walk. She cannot bear any weight on her legs, so rehab is not possible right now. She cannot work, and she has received two paychecks since this accident. She is but ONE accident victim from this deadly intersection and there have been fatalities. Along the way, there was a petition signed by almost 2,000 people, online complaints on social media, newspaper reports, elected officials' statements, and calls.

Reaching for support, I got in touch with Laura Moore, General Manager of the Walmart Distribution Center. We discussed the situation, and ultimately, she agreed to request financial support for this possible project from the corporate office. I also suggested that her on-site employees write letters of support directly to SCDOT and offered to handle the coordination. When we touched base last week, she had discontinued that request for letters, since there had been an unofficial announcement of the traffic light moving forward. The question about financial assistance remains open this week.

I saw a quote from Calvin Coolidge, our thirtieth President, about persistence and I'm just going to read this and thank you for indulging me. "Persistence, passion, positive work, and support as well as collaboration, does happen in our State Government. It can happen and this is just a tiny example. Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not, nothing is more common than unsuccessful men with talent. Genius will not, unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not, the world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent." As we face our challenge of workforce development and economic development, let us persist together and collaborate. Let us work together with other elected officials to move good legislation and say thank you when it's deserved. Thank you SCDOT and thank you for your time.

On motion of Senator BENNETT, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator GUSTAFSON were ordered printed in the Journal.

Indicates New Matter

The Senate assembled at 12:15 P.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Isaiah 64:8

We recall how Isaiah the prophet proclaimed: “. . .O Lord, you are our Father; we are the clay, you are our potter; we are all the work of your hand.”

Let us pray: It is marvelous, dear God, that Your creation embraces such rich variety. Truly, the world around us blesses and touches us and even at times confounds us by the endless diversity we see and experience. Plus, at the very core of it all, Lord, there remains that most wonderful truth of all: how we humans are all Your children, each one of us. Therefore, in our awareness of this “oneness,” we pray that You, dear God, will lead us to care genuinely for one another and also for this world You have given us. And may that same quality be a hallmark of this Senate and of the efforts of each of these Senators, a reality which will be sure to bring great joy and blessing and hope to all. In Your loving name we pray, Lord. Amen.

The PRESIDENT called for Petitions, Memorials, Presentments of Grand Juries and such like papers.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 2023

RECESS

At 12:25 P.M., on motion of Senator MASSEY, the Senate recessed from business for the purpose of attending the Joint Assembly.

Address by the National Commander of The American Legion

The PRESIDENT of the Senate announced that it had convened under the terms of a Concurrent Resolution adopted by both Houses.

S. 550 -- Senator Alexander: A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION TO WELCOME THE NATIONAL COMMANDER OF THE AMERICAN LEGION, VINCENT J. "JIM" TROIOLA, TO SOUTH CAROLINA, AND TO INVITE HIM TO ADDRESS THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN JOINT SESSION IN THE CHAMBER OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AT 12:30 P.M. ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 2023.

The Honorable Vincent J. Troiola and members of his party were escorted to the rostrum by Senators CROMER, GOLDFINCH, SENN, ALLEN and FANNING and Representatives Mitchell, Williams, Oremus, Hosey and Schuessler. The PRESIDENT of the Senate introduced the Honorable Vincent J. Troiola, National Commander of The American Legion.

Commander Troiola addressed the Joint Assembly.

Ladies, gentlemen, distinguished members of this great Body, it's truly an honor to speak to you today in this historic capitol. Before I begin, please allow me a moment to introduce members of The American Legion Family who are with me today. We have with us the Commander of the South Carolina American Legion, Jim Jarvis of Columbia. National Executive Committeeman Joe Lysaght of James Island. James Holland, Alternate NEC from Aiken. The department Adjutant Mike Strauss, of North Augusta. The American Legion Auxiliary Department of South Carolina President Pat Ward of Greenville. And, the Sons of The American Legion South Carolina Detachment Commander Ryan Henderson of Charleston.

Ladies and gentlemen -- we have all heard the famous saying that there are two things that are inevitable in life -- death and taxes! Well, that maybe so, but I want to thank this Legislature and Governor McMaster for at least making taxes less burdensome for military retirees and surviving spouses. Thanks to the hard work of the men and women of this Legislature, military pensions are now exempt from South Carolina taxes. This sends exactly the right message to veterans searching for a state to call home after a career of military service.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 2023

Even before the Governor signed the Workforce Enhancement and Military Recognition Act on May 13th -- the Palmetto State earned a well-deserved reputation as a welcoming community for America's heroes. South Carolina had already given veterans state employment preferences, education and tuition assistance, vehicle tags, as well as hunting and fishing license privileges. You have also expanded property tax exemptions to include surviving spouses of disabled veterans. Simply put, when it comes to the treatment of veterans, this State gets us.

Moreover, South Carolina is a major contributor to America's military strength, with eight major military installations and numerous smaller facilities within your borders. The annual economic impact of the military community here is estimated to be $34.3 billion, while translating into more than a quarter-million jobs. You have the tenth highest density of service members in the country and nearly 400,000 veterans call South Carolina "home."

Twenty-three thousand of South Carolina's veterans are Legionnaires, serving local communities through more than 160 posts. But it isn't just veterans and the military who American Legion Families serve. They are awarding scholarships, conducting some of the finest youth programs in the country and educating the next generation of South Carolinians on the importance of patriotism and good citizenship.

On July 11th, a national team from The American Legion met with veterans and VA representatives at Post 130 in Cayce. It was our first System Worth Saving Townhall since before the COVID-19 pandemic.

Included in the visit was a tour of the Columbia VA Medical Center. The VA Health Care System has made some remarkable improvements over the last decade. The American Legion is vigilant to ensure that VA serves veterans as well as veterans have served this country. We will point out VA's mistakes and we will often be loud in doing so. But we also recognize that VA usually provides outstanding care and must be fully funded so veterans can have access to this needed benefit.

Last Wednesday, I testified before a joint session of Senators and Representatives in the U.S. Congress. I told them that the number one priority of The American Legion is stopping veteran suicide. Every member of this Legislature -- indeed, every American -- can help us with this effort. I have seen estimates that seventeen veterans per day take their own lives. I've seen another study that says it's more than forty. The number is more likely somewhere in between.

Sometimes their military service was overlooked. Other suicides are mistakenly ruled as accidental overdoses. In other words, the statistics are all over the place. As far as The American Legion is concerned, the most important number to remember is ONE. As in, Be the One to stop it.

Be the One to discuss a topic that for years went unmentioned in polite society. Be the One to reach out to a veteran who may be struggling. Be the One to encourage the veteran to seek help. Be the One to follow-up with the veteran to let him or her know that they are not forgotten. Be the One to convince a veteran that life is worth living and that suicide is absolutely not an option. In other words, BE THE ONE TO SAVE ONE.

Very few of us are professional therapists which is why we welcome the announcement that as of January 2023, any veteran in suicidal crisis can be seen at any VA or non-VA health care facility free of charge. The veteran does not even have to be enrolled in the VA system for this benefit. It includes up to thirty days of inpatient or ninety days of outpatient care at any VA or non-VA facility.

As elected officials and leaders in your districts, you have a large platform. Please use it to share the new crisis hotline number, 9-8-8. We need to ensure that 9-8-8 is as widely known as 9-1-1. In fact, a 9-8-8 call today can help prevent a 9-1-1 call tomorrow. For several years now, The American Legion has conducted Buddy Check efforts in which veterans reach out to other veterans to foster friendship and wellness. Peer support works. Thanks to congressional action, I'm pleased to say that this year the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs will be designating annual Buddy Check weeks nationwide. Veterans value courage. If you can help The American Legion remove the stigma associated with PTSD and depression, and if you can help us make the case that seeking mental wellness is courageous, then my time with you today has been well spent.

South Carolina not only believes in supporting those who served, but through great institutions like The Citadel -- you are producing tomorrow's defenders of freedom. I am pleased to see that last fall The Citadel welcomed its first cadet recruits from Ukraine. The American Legion does not support the deployment of U.S. troops to that war-torn nation but we do support arming and assisting the Ukrainian people in their fight for survival. The international community, and especially our allies, must use all diplomatic and economic tools at our collective disposal to stop Russian aggression.

We remain equally concerned with the provocations of Communist China. Every year The American Legion hosts representatives from the Taiwan Veterans Affairs Council at our national convention. I was briefed by senior U.S. military commanders during my visits to Okinawa and Hawaii in December. The military and economic threats represented by China and the saber-rattling by North Korea should not just concern the people of the Indo-Pacific region but Americans here in the homeland.

For my friends who believe that we spend too much of our budget on national defense, I encourage you to travel abroad. Visit Korea's demilitarized zone. Attend a Pearl Harbor observance and reflect on what could happen. The American Legion believes that a strong defense is not just wise policy but a constitutionally mandated imperative. We must not jeopardize our readiness through feel-good budgetary cuts.

I just reiterated the many ways in which South Carolina shows its appreciation for veterans. We owe it to the next generation of veterans to ensure that they are always the best-trained, best-equipped and best-armed military force on the planet.

Yesterday, I had the honor of visiting Shaw Air Force Base and Fort Jackson. Though Sumter is a close drive from Columbia, when it comes to housing -- they are worlds apart. While it is the federal government that allocates the housing allowance for members of the military, servicemembers at Shaw receive about $300 a month less in Basic Housing Allowance than those at Fort Jackson. More concerning is the lack of affordable housing for military members in the Sumter community. If the State were to incentivize landlords to give our military a break on rent, they will find servicemembers make ideal tenants.

Another issue is a lack of affordable daycare. A common complaint that we heard was about the onerous regulatory process that goes with operating a daycare. We all want safety for our children, but cost should go down and options should go up.

The future of the U.S. Army truly runs through this State. Fort Jackson is not just a basic training camp. It conducts the Future Soldier Prep Course, where men and women strengthen their intellectual, physical and nutritional fitness before they even enter basic training. This is designed to overcome shortfalls that may hinder one's ability to pass recruit training.

Fort Jackson is also the home of the U.S. Army's Drill Sergeant Academy. The men and women at this school epitomize leadership. They shoulder the enormous responsibility of creating U.S. soldiers. They do so with great strength, skill, firmness and fairness. When it comes to U.S. military representation in this State, South Carolina should be proud.

While I am here, I would like to extend my congratulations to Jonathan Biering. Jonathan is a senior at Pinopolis High School in Pinopolis, South Carolina. I just saw Jonathan last week in Washington. He is one of 10 recipients of a Samsung American Legion Scholarship. It is a well-deserved honor for the young man, who is the great grandson of a Korean War Navy veteran. More than 4,600 high school juniors nationwide applied for the $10,000 scholarship, which is awarded to students who are descendants of veterans and have met standards of academic excellence and community service. Jonathan is also a graduate of The American Legion Department of South Carolina Boys State program.

Now, if you would allow me for one moment to call to the two members of this distinguished body who have proven that they are not only great lawmakers, but they are advocates for those who have served. They have been designated by The American Legion Department of South Carolina as the Outstanding Members of the Legislature for 2023. They are true friends of veterans and The American Legion.

Senator GEORGE “CHIP” CAMPSSEN III and Representative Matthew W. Leber, would you please join me? Congratulations Senator CAMPSSEN and Representative Leber. We appreciate all that you do on behalf of veterans.

Thank you so much, South Carolina Legislature. God bless you, God bless America and God bless South Carolina!

Remarks by Senator SABB

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. Thank you, members. I really want to follow up just for few minutes on a conversation that we began to have yesterday related to what some are classifying as being the new trial of the century. We had the good fortune of listening to one of the best lawyers, I think, in the United States, who just happens to be a member of this Body, come and share some valuable information with us about some of his experience. Yesterday, I thought that I was going to have to leave the Chamber early because I had to go and do a special presentation to someone who we discussed yesterday. I think most of you may know that Judge Newman is from Greeleyville, just as I am, and he was being recognized by Williamsburg County yesterday and given the Lifetime Achievement Award. I thought what was interesting about it was that he was chosen in early February before the actual trial that garnered national attention. I really enjoyed the experience and enjoyed presenting the award to him. I would like to piggyback on some of the comments that Senator MALLOY made yesterday if you all will bear with me for a moment or two.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 2023

I think it is important that we use this moment to highlight our judge situation. I had the good fortune of being a part of a conversation with a group from Georgetown yesterday and a good friend of mine who is a member of this Body, and I had the opportunity to talk with them. The conversation came up about judges and how they're selected in South Carolina. I think, for me, I have got to say this because I believe it is true. I think that the manner in which we select judges in South Carolina has to be re-examined. I think it must be re-examined because I came into the Legislature in 2010 and in 2010, I felt good about the system. I mean, I thought that the system was open. I thought that folks had a chance, but candidly in my humble opinion it has changed. There is more of a Litmus test now as it relates to judges and how they are elected and if it doesn't change, I think that a lot of good judges will be excluded as a result of it.

For two reasons, I don't think Judge Newman would be elected right now. One of the reasons is because he is an at-large judge, and right now at-large judges typically serve in the area where they don't have resident judges. That's no longer the way it is, when Judge Newman's seat comes up, or came up, for election, there was no consideration given to the fact that he held what many of us considered to be a resident seat in Williamsburg. All the at-large seats are going to go to the larger counties. Smaller counties aren't going to have any resident judges anymore. I think that's wrong. I think it is a wrong direction for us to go. I think two things must happen. One is, that we can convert a lot of the at-large seats to resident seats to make sure that rural South Carolina maintains a resident judge. I think if we fail to look at that, then we're saying in essence we want the larger counties to have all the judges. Some counties have five, six and seven judges -- others have none and it is because they have resident seats along with at-large seats and we're unwilling to look at that. I think we fundamentally change how judges are spread out in our State and quite frankly, I think that's wrong. I am asking us to just take another peak at that and see if we can't be a little fairer as it relates to all our counties in our State and not just some. I think the latter point that I made with regard that any time we've got a system whereby if that judge issues an opinion, where the opinion is not in keeping with what we believe the law is, or ought to be, based upon the interpretation, and a new member of the Legislature and the House can walk up to that jurist and say I just read your resignation. I think that when a freshman Legislator can come before a jurist and say I just read your resignation because you wrote an opinion that I disagree with, and my whole effort is going to be to make sure that you're not reelected when the time comes. I think that when we are bold in such a way, that we feel comfortable and confident in saying that to a judge -- I think something is wrong with that. Back in the day, when I was in law school, we said that there were certain things that could have a chilling effect on other things. I think that if this Body maintains the notion that any time a jurist makes a decision that we don't agree with, we're going to get rid of him. Then guess what happens, the General Assembly now -- not only are we the Senate, not only are we the House, the Legislative Branch of the Government, we are now taking over the Judicial Branch of the Government. I just waited quite frankly -- one of the other debates for some of our scholars, who fundamentally believe in separation of powers -- to address an issue like that because it is huge. Quite frankly, those kinds of issues are bigger than we are as Senators in the State of South Carolina.

So, I'm just hopeful that we use this moment to analyze, well, on the one hand to express appreciation for a system that we're proud of and on the other hand look at the possibilities of weakening a system and figure out how we can in fact strengthen it.

On motion of Senator McELVEEN, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator SABB were ordered printed in the Journal.

TO UPDATE THE ENDORSEMENT REQUIREMENTS OF READ TO SUCCEED.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Bill.

The Committee on Education proposed the following amendment (SEDU-418.DB0001S), which was adopted:

Amend the bill, as and if amended, SECTION 1, by striking Section 59-155-180(C)(3), (4), and (5) and inserting:

(3) The reading coach must not be assigned a regular classroom teaching assignment, must not perform administrative functions that deter from the flow of improving reading instruction and reading performance of students and must not devote a significant portion of his or her time to administering or coordinating assessments. By August 1, 2014, the department must publish guidelines that define the minimum qualifications for a reading coach. Beginning in Fiscal Year 2014-2015, reading/literacy coaches are required to earn the ~~add-on~~ certification within six years, except as exempted in items (4) and (5), by completing the necessary courses or professional development as required by the department ~~for the add-on~~. During the six-year period, to increase the number of qualified reading coaches, the Read to Succeed Office shall identify and secure courses and professional development opportunities to assist educators in becoming reading coaches and in earning the literacy ~~add-on~~ endorsement. In addition, the Read to Succeed Office will establish a process through which a district may be permitted to use state appropriations for reading coaches to obtain in-school services from department-approved consultants or vendors, in the event that the school is not successful in identifying and directly employing a qualified candidate. Districts must provide to the Read to Succeed Office information on the name and qualifications of reading coaches funded by the state appropriations.

(4) ~~Beginning in Fiscal Year 2015-2016, early childhood and elementary education certified classroom teachers, reading interventionists, and those special education teachers who provide learning disability and speech services to students who need to substantially improve their low reading and writing proficiency skills, are required to earn the literacy teacher add-on endorsement within ten years of their most recent certification by taking at least two courses or six credit hours every five years, or the equivalent professional development hours as determined by the South Carolina Read to Succeed Office, consistent with existing recertification requirements. Inservice hours earned through professional development for the literacy teacher~~

~~endorsement must be used for renewal of teaching certificates in all subject areas. The courses and professional development leading to the endorsement must be approved by the State Board of Education and must include foundations, assessment, content area reading and writing, instructional strategies, and an embedded or stand-alone practicum. Whenever possible these courses shall be offered at a professional development rate which is lower than the certified teacher rate. Early childhood and elementary education certified classroom teachers, reading specialists, and special education teachers who provide learning disability and speech services to students who need to improve substantially their reading and writing proficiency and who already possess their add-on reading teacher certification can take a content area reading course to obtain their literacy teacher add-on endorsement. Individuals who possess a literacy teacher add-on endorsement or who have earned a master's or doctorate degree in reading are exempt from this requirement. Individuals who have completed an intensive and prolonged professional development program like Reading Recovery, Project Read, the South Carolina Reading Initiative, or another similar program should submit their transcripts to the Office of Educator Licensure to determine if they have completed the coursework required for the literacy teacher add-on certificate. The board is authorized to approve guidelines on an annual basis for professional development, coursework, certification, and endorsement requirements for teachers of early childhood and elementary education, including special education teachers, interventionists, reading specialists, and administrators, whose responsibilities, either directly or indirectly, substantially relate to reading and literacy instruction, support, or interventions as provided in this section. The guidelines approved by the board shall also include the issuance of appropriate credit to individuals who have completed an intensive and prolonged professional development program. Local school districts, working with the department, shall offer the required professional development, coursework, certification, and endorsements at no charge to educators. Inservice hours earned through professional development must be used for renewal of teaching certificates in all subject areas. If the eligible student leaves or withdraws from the school for any reason before the end of the semester or school year and does not re-enroll within thirty days, then the school shall return a prorated amount of the scholarship to the scholarship funding organization based on the number of days the eligible student was enrolled in the school during the semester or school year within sixty days of the student's departure.

(B) Before the issuance of a check, a parent shall certify that the eligible student has not received a scholarship from any other scholarship-granting organizations in the current academic year.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 2023

(C) Before the issuance of a check to an eligible school, the school must provide documentation to the scholarship funding organization that it meets the criteria established in Section 12-6-3850(4).

(D)(1) The tax credits authorized for an eligible student qualified and defined under Section 12-6-3850(5)(a) [General Child], (b) [Disadvantaged Child] and (c) [Exceptional Needs Child] may not exceed cumulatively a total of fifteen million dollars in each qualifying category, each calendar year.

(2) The tax credits authorized for an eligible student qualified and defined under Section 12-6-3850 (5)(d) [Home School Child] may not exceed cumulatively a total of ten million dollars each calendar year.

(3) If the South Carolina Department of Revenue determines that the total of the credits claimed in this section by all taxpayers exceeds the limit amount, it shall allow credits only up to those amounts on a first-come, first-served basis. However before October first of each tax year, no taxpayer may claim more than fifty percent of the allotment for any of the tax credits allowed in this section. After October first, a taxpayer that has claimed the maximum allotment may reapply to claim additional credits. For purposes of determining priority, the subsequent application must be placed in order with all other applications received.

(4) The tax credits authorized pursuant to this section remain the same unless an increased or decreased limit is authorized in the annual general appropriations act.

(E) The department shall establish an application process to determine the amount of credit available to be claimed. The receipt of the application by the department shall determine priority for the credit.

(1) The tax credit must be claimed on the return for the tax year that the contribution is made.

(2) A taxpayer may not claim more than one hundred percent of his total tax liability for the tax year in contributions toward the tax credits authorized by this section. This credit is not refundable. If the credit exceeds the taxpayer's tax liability for the taxable year, the excess amount may be carried forward for credit against the next ten succeeding taxable years.

(3) If a taxpayer deducts the amount of the contribution on the taxpayer's federal return and claims the credit allowed by this section, then the taxpayer shall add back the amount of the deduction for purposes of South Carolina income or bank taxes.

(F) The department shall prescribe the form and manner of proof required to obtain the credits authorized by this article. Also the department shall develop a method of informing taxpayers and scholarship-funding organizations if the credit limit is met at any time during the year.

(1) A corporation or entity entitled to a credit under this section may not convey, assign, or transfer the credit authorized by this section to another entity unless all assets of the entity are conveyed, assigned, or transferred in the same transaction.

(2) Notwithstanding the maximum credit limits set forth in this article, if one of the eligible student-qualifying categories listed in subsection (D) reaches its limits but another eligible student-qualifying category has not reached its limit by October first of each tax year, then the department may transfer the unused credits to the eligible student qualifying category that has reached its limit. However, the credit only may be transferred and may not cumulatively allow more than the authorized annual cumulative total provided in this section. In considering a credit transfer under this item, those eligible student qualifying categories listed in subsection 12-6-3850(5)(b) [Disadvantaged Child], (c) [Exceptional Needs Child], (d) [Home School Child], and (a) [General Child] must have priority order when transferring credits.

Section 12-6-3875. (A) By September first of each year, the Treasurer shall publish on its website a list of all qualifying nonprofit scholarship-funding organizations for the succeeding calendar year, to include their names, addresses, telephone numbers, and, if available, website addresses and applicable audits.

(B) By January fifteenth of each year, the Treasurer shall report to the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and the Governor:

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 8, 2023

(5) a copy of a compilation, review, or audit of each scholarship-funding organization conducted by a certified public accounting firm as provided to the Treasurer by each scholarship-funding organization in their application to participate in the program;

(6) the criteria and eligibility requirements for scholarship awards of each scholarship-funding organization as provided to the Treasurer by each scholarship-funding organization in their application to participate in the program; and

(7) any report required by this section may not specifically include the name, amount, or any other personally identifiable information of scholarship recipients.

Section 12-6-3880. (A)(1) The Treasurer and the department have authority to examine and audit the nonprofit scholarship-funding organizations, including determining whether the nonprofit scholarship-funding organization is being operated in a manner consistent with the requirements for an IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization or is in compliance with any other provision of this section.

(2)(a) If an audit by the Treasurer or department produces evidence that a nonprofit scholarship-funding organization is not being operated in a manner consistent with the requirements for operating an IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization or is not in compliance with any other substantial provision of this section, the Treasurer or the department immediately may revoke the organization's participation in the program and shall notify the organization in writing of the revocation.

(b) Actual notice of revocation may be provided to the organization by personal delivery to the organization, by certified return receipt mail to the last known address of the organization, or by other means reasonably designed to provide actual notice to the organization.

(c) Any donations made following the date the actual notice of revocation are received by the organization do not qualify for the credit and the donated funds must be returned to the donor by the organization.

(d)(i) Within thirty days after the day on which the organization is provided actual notice of the revocation, the organization may request a contested hearing before the Administrative Law Court. Within seven days after a request for a contested case hearing is received by the Administrative Law Court, an administrative law judge shall hold the contested case hearing and determine whether the revocation was reasonable under the circumstances. The Treasurer or the department has the burden of proof of showing that the revocation was reasonable under the circumstances. The revocation is reasonable if the Treasurer or the department has substantial credible evidence that the organization is not being operated in a manner consistent with the requirements for operating an IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization or is not in compliance with other substantial provisions of this article. If the organization does not request a contested case hearing within thirty days of the immediate revocation, the revocation is permanent.

(ii) If the administrative law judge determines that the immediate revocation was reasonable, the administrative law judge shall remand the case to the Treasurer or the department to issue a Treasurer or department determination for permanent revocation within the time period determined by the judge. The organization may appeal this Treasurer or department determination in accordance with Section 12-60-460. At the contested case hearing on the Treasurer or department determination, the parties may raise new issues and arguments in addition to those issues and arguments previously presented at the immediate revocation hearing.

(iii) If the administrative law judge determines that immediate revocation is not reasonable, the revocation must be lifted, and the organization may resume accepting donations and award scholarships. The Treasurer or department may still issue a Treasurer or department determination in accordance with Section 12-60-450(E)(2).

(e) If at any time during the process, the Treasurer and department believes the organization is in compliance, the Treasurer may reinstate the organization.

(f) Following the permanent revocation of a nonprofit scholarship-funding organization, the Treasurer has the authority to oversee the transfer of donated funds of the revoked organization to other nonprofit scholarship-funding organizations.

(g) A scholarship-funding organization may transfer funds to another scholarship-funding organization if the organization ceases to exist. The funds that are transferred by one scholarship funding organization to another only may be considered by one organization when calculating its administrative expenses. The scholarship-funding organizations transferring and receiving the funds shall notify the Treasurer in writing within three days of the transfer. The notification may be made via electronic methodology.

Indicates New Matter

The Senate assembled at 11:00 A.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Ezekiel 34:31

In Ezekiel we read: "You are my sheep, the sheep of my pasture and I am your God, says the Lord God."

Bow in prayer with me, please: Glorious God, may these Senators always remember that behind every issue, bound along with many problems, and connected in some fashion to each formidable challenge there are always the women and men and children of South Carolina. Nothing comes before this Body that is not somehow a matter that actually impacts our citizens in one way or another. Therefore, we pray today, O Lord, that these Senators and their aides will always pause in their work as "shepherds" of the people and really see the human faces which are being affected by the work which this Body does -- or fails to do. May these leaders always be known as individuals who lovingly and thoughtfully respect "the sheep" that are in their care. We pray this in Your loving name, O Lord. Amen.

(B) For purposes of this section:

(1) "Apprenticeship" means a United States Department of Labor-approved and registered apprenticeship or an industry recognized apprenticeship for an occupation or profession licensed by a South Carolina regulatory board or commission under the South Carolina Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation, as approved by the applicable licensing board.

(2) "Board" means a board, commission, or panel under the South Carolina Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation that regulates a profession or occupation and issues a license to an individual. (C) A board shall issue an initial license pursuant to this section to an applicant, if the applicant:

- (2) explain the reason for the denial in the written decision, such as whether the licensing entity determined that the applicant's apprenticeship program does not correspond to the profession or occupation or level of license for which the applicant applied.

(E) A license issued pursuant to this section is subject to the same provisions of law governing a license for the occupation or profession.

(F) A board shall not require an applicant pursuant to this section to complete an apprenticeship for a greater duration of time than that which is required pursuant to federal law.

(G) A board may require an applicant pursuant to this section to successfully pass an examination only if the board imposes the same examination requirement on other license applicants. A board shall not require an applicant pursuant to this section to receive a higher score on an examination than the score required of other license applicants.

(H) A board may require an applicant pursuant to this section to pay a licensing fee only if the board imposes a licensing fee on other license applicants. A board shall not impose on an applicant pursuant to this section a licensing fee greater than the licensing fee imposed on other applicants.

Expression of Personal Interest

Senator JACKSON rose for an Expression of Personal Interest.

Remarks by Senator JACKSON

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. I will not take more than five minutes to speak briefly, with the intent of not taking any questions on this. I just wanted to stand to congratulate the House of Representatives for passing the Hate Crimes Bill yesterday. I also wanted to just encourage this Body to do the same. I hope, and I'm confident that I think we can get together and iron out any of our differences. I'll leave you with something I have in my hand. On March the 18, 1999, there was a Bill called S. 45 introduced by a bipartisan group of Senators that passed here in South Carolina. In fact, it was one of, if not the first time, any legislative chamber in the South passed a Hate Crimes Bill, Senator DAVIS. At that time on March 18, 1999, we were not required to have roll call votes, but to the seven of us who were here at the time, we remember that if you were against it, you were told to go put your name on the list so that you could be recorded voting against it. I was proud then, I am proud now to say out of forty-six Senators only three Senators were recorded to vote against a Hate Crimes Bill on March 18, 1999. Thank you. I hope that sometime this year we can pass the House Bill revisiting this subject and make all of us as proud as we were on March 18, 1999. Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT.

On motion of Senator DAVIS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator JACKSON were ordered printed in the Journal.

Psalm 98:1a

We hear the Psalmist declare: "Sing to the Lord a new song, for he has done marvelous things."

Bow with me as we pray, please: O glorious Lord, it is inevitable that now and then we might compare the life we happen to lead to that experienced by others around the globe. And of course, as we do so, we can't help but see how richly blessed all of us truly are here in our Nation and in our State. And although there is still so much to be done here at home, there is likely no other place on our planet where we would really choose to live. Therefore, O God, we pray today that You will bless and guide each of these Senators and their aides as they strive to continue leading us forward toward far more marvelous blessings, working together diligently and faithfully to make life even better for all of our people here in this place we love. In Your holy name we pray, O Lord. Amen.

H. 3604 -- Reps. Bannister, G.M. Smith and Murphy: A JOINT RESOLUTION TO AUTHORIZE THE EXPENDITURE OF FUNDS FROM THE CONTINGENCY RESERVE FUND FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS AND FEDERAL FUNDS DISBURSED TO THE STATE IN THE AMERICAN RESCUE PLAN ACT OF 2021, AND TO SPECIFY THE MANNER IN WHICH THE FUNDS MAY BE EXPENDED.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Resolution.

TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 2023

The Committee on Finance proposed the following amendment (SF-3604.CH0025S), which was adopted:

Amend the Joint Resolution, as and if amended, by striking all and inserting:

A JOINT RESOLUTION

TO APPROPRIATE FUNDING FOR CERTAIN INFRASTRUCTURE AND OTHER PURPOSES TO FOSTER ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND PRESCRIBE THE APPROPRIATE PURPOSES, TERMS, AND CONDITIONS.

Whereas, the General Assembly has through prior enactments determined that the construction of certain infrastructure, including in certain circumstances infrastructure constructed for use by private parties, enhances the recruitment of businesses to and the expansion of businesses within the State; that such infrastructure facilitates the operation and growth of businesses in the State, and thereby provides significant and substantial direct and indirect benefits to the State and its residents, including employment and other opportunities; that such benefits outweigh the costs of such infrastructure; that for such reasons it is in the best interest of the State to provide funding that serves a public purpose in fostering economic development and increasing employment in the State; and that the primary beneficiaries of such funding and the construction of such infrastructure are the State of South Carolina and its residents; and

Whereas, the General Assembly further finds that under certain circumstances it is appropriate for the State to undertake construction of infrastructure and to make other improvements that promote or improve state readiness for further economic development; and

Whereas, the General Assembly further finds that public confidence may be enhanced by identification of the amounts and purposes for which funding may be made available, for specific projects and for state readiness for further economic development; and

Whereas, the General Assembly further finds that processes of review, approval, and oversight, are appropriate and warranted for public funds designated for purposes of economic development; and

Whereas, the General Assembly further finds that sufficient unobligated funds are presently available and the interest of the State will be served by their appropriation for the purposes and subject to the terms and conditions described herein.

Now, therefore,

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina:

TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 2023

SECTION 1. (8) any such other purpose as is necessary and recommended by the Department of Commerce for Project Connect. Such other purpose is subject to review and comment by the Joint Bond Review Committee.

(C) The Department of Commerce is appropriated $200,000,000 to loan the Project Connect sponsor for additional soil stabilization to be paid back in full in a manner prescribed by the sponsor and the Department of Commerce. All payments and interest shall be returned to the general fund of the State upon receipt. This loan is not eligible for forgiveness.

SECTION 2. Funds appropriated pursuant to SECTION 1 may be carried forward into subsequent fiscal years for the same purpose as originally awarded, committed, or authorized. Earnings and interest on accounts created pursuant to this joint resolution must be credited to the general fund of the State.

SECTION 3. This joint resolution applies solely to the funds subject to this authorization and has no effect on any provision of permanent law. The provisions of this joint resolution terminate on fulfillment of their terms.

TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 2023

SECTION 5. The State Treasurer shall disburse the funds pursuant to SECTION 1 from Fiscal Year 2021-2022 Contingency Reserve Fund within five days of the effective date of this joint resolution. The State Treasurer shall further disburse all funds available, up to the amount set forth in SECTION 1 from the Fiscal Year 2022-2023 Projected General Fund Surplus within five days of the close of the state's books for Fiscal Year 2022-2023 by the Comptroller General or by November 1, 2023, whichever occurs first.

SECTION 6. Any funds remaining after the completion of Project Connect must be remitted to the general fund.

SECTION 7. If any section, subsection, paragraph, subparagraph, sentence, clause, phrase, or word of this joint resolution is for any reason held to be unconstitutional or invalid, such holding shall not affect the constitutionality or validity of the remaining portions of this joint resolution, the General Assembly hereby declaring that it would have passed this joint resolution, and each and every section, subsection, paragraph, subparagraph, sentence, clause, phrase, and word thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, paragraphs, subparagraphs, sentences, clauses, phrases, or words hereof may be declared to be unconstitutional, invalid, or otherwise ineffective.

SECTION 8. This joint resolution takes effect upon approval by the Governor.

Senator PEELER explained the amendment.

Remarks by Senator PEELER

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT and members of the Senate. This Finance Committee amendment deals with the Scout Motors infrastructure incentive package. Senator ALEXANDER, members of the Senate, this is the most transparent economic development project in history. You may want to talk about what is transparency. Senators, what does transparency mean in our talk in Columbia? Let me explain it to you. See the glass windows in those doors and windows there? You can see through them. It's transparent. You can see through those glass windows. When you look through those glass windows in the doors, let me tell you what you see. You see our Secretary of Commerce, Harry Lightsey III, and his Department of Commerce team. They are available here to answer any questions or concerns that Senators may have like they have from the get-go of this project. This incentive package we're talking about is a total cost of $1.291 billion. That's a huge sum. I'll admit it. It's a huge sum. It's also a huge project for this State and especially for the Midlands of this State. Let me tell you what else is huge. Our competition for businesses like this. The states of Georgia, North Carolina and Tennessee seem to outbid us time after time after time. But this is one that we have won. We landed it with the hard work of our Department of Commerce and leaders of this Senate and the House of Representatives. $1.291 billion -- the funding source for this money -- it's totally paid in cash. Although we could have borrowed money, we decided to pay cash for it. To me and the members of the committee we feel like this is the most prudent way to be able to fund this.

Why did we have this cash? In large part because we kept our doors open when many states did not, and thanks to the prudent and wise funding decisions of this Senate and House of Representatives, we have surplus money to be able to pay cash for this project. What's the break down for this $1.291 billion? First, $650 million is for the construction of a new I-77 interchange. It pays for road improvements to mitigate traffic problems for the residents of that area. It pays for the construction of the railroad bridge, water and wastewater infrastructure and mass grading and wetlands mitigation. A $400 million grant for hard assets needed, $16 million to acquire property to connect the class one rail mainline, $25 million to build a training center, publicly owned by Midlands Technical College to train South Carolinians for employment with Scout Motors and a $200 million loan to Scout Motors repayable with interest.

Now let's talk about what Scout Motors brings to this State. It brings $2 billion in capital out lay. It brings 4,000 jobs. Scout Motors is backed by Volkswagen on all the incentives and loans. Volkswagen in my era-- you think of that little bug with the engine in the back. Let me tell you about Volkswagen, it's one of the largest companies in the world. They're backing this.

And last, but not least, clawbacks are in place. Clawbacks -- they've been lawyered by two of the best lawyers and in Senate -- Senator RICHARD HARPOOTLIAN and Senator MICHAEL JOHNSON. They have lawyered this thing up. They are among the best -- not just two. They've lawyered this about as much as you can lawyer it. This project with Scout Motors has the potential of becoming the BMW of the Midlands. I shared with the Finance Committee about what BMW means to the Upstate. Senator THOMAS ALEXANDER and Senator NIKKI SETZLER, you all remember when Governor Carroll Campbell asked for our help to get BMW into the State of South Carolina? We had critics back then, many, many critics about what it took to bring BMW to South Carolina. Back then, when we brought BMW to Greer, one of the best jobs you could get in Greer was changing flat tires at Verne Smith's tire company. That was one of the best jobs you could get. But now you try to take BMW from the Upstate? Somebody would get their feelings hurt. Senator THOMAS ALEXANDER, I'm here to speak in favor of the Scout Motors incentive package.

On motion of Senator SABB, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator PEELER were ordered printed in the Journal.

Senator SETZLER spoke on the amendment.

Remarks by Senator SETZLER

Mr. PRESIDENT, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, it is an honor that I, as the Chairman of the Economic Development subcommittee of the Senate Finance Committee, am asked to speak about this project. There is one word that describes this project -- transformational -- not only to the Midlands of South Carolina but also to the State of South Carolina. This project will transform the Midlands of South Carolina, and it will continue the transformation of South Carolina overall.

We are now known as an automobile manufacturing mecca across the Southeast. What we have produced speaks to our accomplishments. Think about the vision, the tenacity and the courage you, as individual members of the South Carolina Senate, and your predecessors have to bring these companies to South Carolina. Think about Michelin and BMW in the Upstate; Volvo in the Low Country; and now you will have Scout Motors as backed by Volkswagen in the Midlands.

You have Michelin, you have Bridgestone in Aiken, you have Continental in Sumter -- all are world-class tire companies. Economic development news from today announced a new tire company locating in Allendale County with more than a thousand jobs. You have Boeing in Charleston. You have fighter jets made in Greenville. You have Amazon -- these are world-class companies that have located in our State that bring prosperity. They bring jobs. They bring economic development. They bring commerce to small businesses of South Carolina. We are now adding another giant to the inventory of companies in South Carolina.

On motion of Senator SABB, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator SETZLER were ordered printed in the Journal.

TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 2023

Senator SCOTT spoke on the amendment.

Remarks by Senator SCOTT

Mr. PRESIDENT, members of the Senate, I can't tell you how much this project means to the northeast and Blythewood which is part of Senate District 19. Let me say that we didn't just wake up one day and all the pieces came together. For the last thirty-five years I've represented that total community. Let me tell you a little bit about that community which makes all these pieces fall in place. You heard a lot about the K-12 education in which we have an abundance of high schools in that area -- Richland Northeast, Eau Claire, Columbia High, Keenan, Spring Valley, Westwood, Ridgeview, Dutch Fork and others that make up the other locations in Richland County. So, we do have that infrastructure. We need to make sure that the training force is actually there. But outside just the K-12 training force, let me also say we represent several colleges just in District 19 -- Columbia College, Lutheran Seminary, Columbia International, South University -- I'm going to stop at Midlands Tech because Midlands Tech this time is doing something under the leadership of Dr. Ron Rhames that probably never has been done before in the State. This new training facility is not built at Midlands Tech. It's actually built on the Tech site. But you see, there are two other additional technical schools that are going to also be impacted by Scout coming to South Carolina -- that's Orangeburg Regional Tech, led by Dr. Walter Tobin and also Denmark Tech, lead by Dr. Willie Todd.

How important is this? I have shared with you over and over again the twenty-two counties who have lost population. Our challenge will be how many of those counties that lost population -- also counties in the surrounding areas -- those counties that are going to be affected by this plant. Let me just first back up a little bit. Richland County -- that area has a 2.9% unemployment rate. I share with you lots of times what the income levels were like in that area. Salaries in that area are $50,000 to $200,000 approximately, 21,000 individuals who already have the income this factory will probably allow. Hospitals and services -- you can't grow these companies and organizations without having better health care. Probably the only location with three hospitals -- three of the largest hospitals in that area -- Prisma, Lexington and MUSC. Also, we have Fairfield Electric and Dominion. So, we are highly efficient in terms of meeting those challenges. We also talked about the railway system coming that's going to help us to get the freight out and be able to get it where it needs to be. It's also surrounded by US 21, US 321, I-77 into I-20, I-26, Hwy 555 and of course Monticello Road -- all these roads lead to somewhere -- let me tell you a little bit about where they lead to. They lead to approximately fifteen counties that sit in the region. I'm talking about the Central Midlands Region. I want to talk about the region itself -- that region which also includes Aiken County, which is about fifty miles away. Barnwell County which has been struggling, which is about sixty-two miles away, Calhoun County is about thirty-one miles away, Chester County is forty-five miles away, Clarendon County is fifty-three miles and Fairfield County is right at the back door which was hit by a major utility closure real hard. Kershaw County is forty miles away, Lancaster County is forty-six miles away, Lee County is forty-three miles away, Lexington County, and you've heard a lot from Senator SETZLER, as well Newberry County is thirty-eight miles away. You've heard from Senator HUTTO, which is about thirty-nine miles away. Saluda County is forty-five miles away. Sumter County is forty miles away and Union County is fifty-six miles away. All of these counties will be affected by this plant. And what we're hoping is that we get a lot of people who come into the region but also we're hoping these folks are able to go back into their homes, continue to develop their homes, because this makes a difference in terms of whether or not they continue to create a local tax base and continue to do some of the things that need to get done.

We have a ton of automobile dealers which will also be affected by the growth of this company coming in from BMW, Jim Hudson, Buick of the Midlands, Toyota, Nissan, Volkswagen and Honda. We have what a major corporation would look for high income, educated community and high income housing. This plant is dropped right in the middle of these middle-income communities, not just one, but several communities. We are looking forward to what this corporation is going to do for the Midlands. We think it's a powerful tool -- it's not a perfect tool -- but we think it's a powerful tool that could help fix a lot of the surrounding counties.

So, I hope you don't just look at this project as a Midlands project. This is a regional project that expands even beyond the region to help a lot of communities that are in dire straits, especially in terms of losing population. We also are hoping that this company will bring the spin-off of the smaller manufacturing company -- parts companies and others will come -- not necessarily just located in Richland County, but also located in some of these other surrounding counties. As you put that infrastructure together, working in conjunction with the seven HBCUs and what they're doing with the SCIII Institute and making sure that these pieces all come together to help these small surrounding counties.

TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 2023

On motion of Senator SABB, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator SCOTT were ordered printed in the Journal.

Senator MARTIN spoke on the amendment.

Remarks by Senator MARTIN

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. Members of the Senate I am here today not to begrudge anybody. First, I want to thank Mark Hendrix with the Department of Commerce who is always available to answer my questions. I may not always like the answer and he may not always like the question, but he does a great job and provides what I need. I also want to thank the Senate Finance staff who always answer my questions and provide the details I need.

However, I am here today to talk about the constituent input I have received. I heard it mentioned earlier from Senator KIMBRELL who filed a Bill dealing with ESG. Volkswagen is currently the poster child for ESG. They just paid thirty billion dollars to settle the diesel emission fraud scandal and they are now neck-deep in, "corporate responsibility". A member of VW sustainability council wrote last December that, "Embracing a fundamental shift to clean e-mobilities technology was the best option for both restoring the brand and complying with tightened emission regulations across the world. The best option going forward was for VW to change its position with regulators and NGOS, (non-governmental organizations) in all key markets and become an advocate for ambitious standards that reduce pollution and drive e-mobility, rather than fighting with policy makers and regulators. During the Trump administration, VW put its support behind California's ambitious greenhouse gas (GHG) standards -- despite the legal threats made by the White House. Even more recently, VW took a firm stance against the legal challenges by conservative states in support of President Biden's greenhouse car policies." So, if anybody thinks or wonders will VW or Scout exert political influence in South Carolina, the answer is yes. They will exert political influence in South Carolina. They are already doing it.

My argument lies in these three things: let's talk about the money. Roughly three hundred fifty thousand dollars per job. That is too much, period. The current House budget appropriates $3,915,798,570 in general funds Section 1 for education. That equates to $76,630 for every teacher in South Carolina, Senator FANNING. That number is high, because your Governor likes to include other people when they make the ratios. It appropriates $86,608,761 to the State Law Enforcement

Division (SLED) or $138,796 per SLED employee. It appropriates $162,901,482 to the Department of Public Safety (DPS), $133,307 per DPS employee, and $546,314,013 to the Department of Corrections or $93,450 per employee. So, our law enforcement and correctional officers in this State are not even worth half as much, and our teacher's not worth one-fourth as much, Senator FANNING, as Volkswagen employees. Now, 1.3 billion dollars will not be spent on critical one-time needs at our existing agencies.

On January seventeenth, we were told that we would have $1,944,305,019 in non-recurring surplus. Now under this, Volkswagen gets $1.3 billion dollars, or sixty-eight percent of that. So, for those of you watching at home or maybe listening in the audience, $1.3 billion dollars, that is $1,300 million dollars -- is what that number comes out to be. The Department of Corrections asked for one hundred forty-four million dollars. Now, the best they are going to get is forty-six million. The Department of Public Safety asked for thirteen million dollars for school resource officers' equipment, Senator SETZLER. Now, they are only going to get four million. Anybody remember the Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) on the news and all their issues we were going to try to fix? DJJ requested $84.5 million in our one-time money. Now, they are only going to get twenty-seven million dollars. State Law Enforcement Division asked for nine million dollars. They are only going to get three million dollars. And this only reflects the finance budget subcommittee that I chair. I have no idea what our schools are losing. I don't know what our local governments are losing. I have no idea how it will affect the expansion of broadband for our rural areas, or the paving of our roads, or the funding of rural hospitals. Seventy thousand dollars is what it takes to run one mile of broadband in a rural area. How much of $1,300 million would I need just to get southern Spartanburg County and Union County broadband? They would probably like to have a little bit of that. I cannot fathom all this money going away when we have so many needs.

The third thing, and then I will take questions, the third thing is China. China dominates the position in downstream supply chains for all the metal that goes into the batteries. China only mines thirteen percent of the world's lithium, but it controls forty-four percent of the global lithium chemical production. One of my colleagues from Spartanburg currently sponsors a Bill to greatly limit South Carolina land ownership by Chinese firms, and he was recently quoted, "If a targeted tax incentive went before the Senate right now for a company coming from China, I don't think it would pass." Well, this company is not coming from China, but nearly all of its ability to do business is coming from China. Our Majority Leader currently sponsors a Bill that, "No corporation controlled by a foreign adversary may acquire any interest in real property within the limits of this State." I understand what this Bill does and defines as "control," but I think we agree that China is going to have a lot of control here. The Financial Times of London recently reports that, "VW relies on the country for at least half of its annual net profits. The precise number is not disclosed. A VW car, or one made by its subsidiaries, is sold in China every 9.5 seconds in 2021. Over the years, VW has come to be 'viewed as the synonym for German business community' in that country." The Financial Times also noted last December, "Lithuania angered Beijing by recognizing a de facto Taiwanese Consulate. Then, German auto suppliers, Continental and Hella, suddenly found products made at their Lithuanian sites were being held up at Chinese ports." China controls VW and it will end up controlling this plant. That is what I am concerned about. I am concerned about the money that is not going to our agencies. Some people will say, well, it is going to bring "x" number of billion dollars if all these jobs come, and that may be true, and I hope it is true. The problem is, regardless of whether this comes or another one comes, and I wish it to be successful if it does come, but our agencies, our corrections, and our law enforcement desperately need this money. I do not want to see it given away because it is currently in our bank account when we can be using it for them. I will yield for questions now, Mr. PRESIDENT.

Remarks by Senator HARPOOTLIAN

A few years ago, I developed a reputation of questioning and opposing certain big projects that were developed by the Department of Commerce. You all remember the word "Panthers," I suppose. Since then, I have sued the Department of Commerce on their application -- how they applied the Freedom of Information Act information and litigated that for a year or so. It was on appeal when Secretary Lightsey took over, and he and I resolved that case by them being more transparent. He has furnished literally thousands of pages of past deals for me to look at for the specific cost benefit analysis. And I have got to tell you, these are deals before the Lightsey administration, and many of them raise huge questions. So, when this deal was initially announced, I had some skepticism and immediately asked Secretary Lightsey for a meeting to review my primary concern, the claw-back provision. Senator MICHAEL JOHNSON and I were granted a meeting. Secretary Lightsey brought his staff and lawyers, and we reviewed that claw-back provision. And I can tell you as someone who was a skeptic, as someone who was opposed to other economic development projects, that this claw-back provision is the belt and suspenders -- a billion dollars we get back if they abandon this project, and we end up with a site. Most of this money is going into the development of a site and we get the site, too. Volkswagen AG has guaranteed, if they own less than 50%, they have to come up with somebody else to guarantee the project. Senator JOHNSON and I reviewed it in great detail and again, we believe it could not be any better.

I want to thank and give credit to Senator PEELER for driving a hard bargain. My understanding is this is not where you started, this is where you ended up. A number of folks that participated in that from this Body were on Senate Finance. The PRESIDENT of the Senate also participated. I also want to commend -- and I never thought I would say this -- Governor McMaster for his involvement in this process. Of course, Harry Lightsey has gone out of his way to make the details available to anybody that could impact that decision. In terms of the scope of it -- I am from Richland County -- our number one industry in Richland County is government. That is the biggest employer we have; state, local, federal, fort, and that is not diversified enough. This would be the first major manufacturing plant we have had in this area ever. So, Chairman PEELER, I want to thank you on behalf of the people of Richland County and those who worked with you to make this a great deal. I believe it's going to be transformative. I am voting for it. It is not anything like what we have seen in the past. This administration and Secretary Lightsey have done a tremendous job of getting you the tools to get that done. So, I encourage all of you to vote for this. I mean, some of you have philosophical problems with picking winners and losers, but I tell you who is going to be the winner on this -- South Carolina, Richland County and the Midlands.

The Senate assembled at 10:00 A.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Amos 7:7

Amos the prophet reported: "This is what he showed me: The Lord was standing by a wall that had been built true to plumb, with a plumb line in his hand."

Let us pray: O Lord, there is not a one of us that doesn't wrestle now and then with the issue of whether we ourselves or the project we've devoted a great deal of time and energy to actually does measure up. Are we being honest in our evaluation? Do our efforts genuinely come across as being right and true? Certainly it is Your plumb line, Lord, which can reveal whether our efforts are all that they ought to be. And that is why we pray today, O God, that You will guide and bless each of these Senators. Grant that together they will continue to build an ever greater and more prosperous South Carolina, bringing sound and true benefits to all of our citizens. In Your loving name we pray, dear Lord. Amen.

Remarks by Senator GROOMS

Members of the Senate, I rise today to share with you a report that was just placed on the desk of every member of the Senate. The report has now been publicly released and it is no easy task to stand here to give you a summary of this report. This is a report of the constitutional subcommittee of the Senate Finance Committee. The subcommittee members are Senator McELVEEN, Senator GOLDFINCH, Senator FANNING, and Senator YOUNG.

On February 9th, Comptroller General Richard Eckstrom appeared before the Finance Committee's constitutional subcommittee for his annual budget hearing. At the meeting General Eckstrom mentioned, almost in passing that his office has determined that there was a $3.5 billion misstatement in the state surplus fund. That afternoon, Chair of the Finance Committee, Chairman PEELER, directed the constitutional subcommittee to do a deep dive into the Comptroller General's admission. While there are some things the Comptroller was never able to fully understand, there is much we do now know. We know the next best step. We know what needs to be done. And in a moment, I'll ask you to help ensure that the right thing is done. But first some background. The Comptroller General compiles the annual comprehensive financial report. That's this document right here. According to the Comptroller General, this annual comprehensive financial report, or the ACFR provides financial information about the statement's operations during the year and describes its financial position at the end of the year. The Comptroller further assured us that this report, and I quote, "Management, that is the Comptroller, fully assumes full responsibility for the completeness and reliability of the information contained in this report." Based on a comprehensive framework of internal controls, that was established for this purpose. The last ACFR for this year ending June 30th, 2022, is over 300 pages. The above quotes and report are given under his hand and signed Richard Eckstrom, C.P.A., Comptroller General unfortunately despite this assertion, the subcommittee finds that the internal controls use in the compiling of ACFR are not comprehensive, and the ACFR is neither complete nor reliable. The Comptroller overstated South Carolina's cash and investments by over $3.5 billion. But for the record, let us correct that. The erroneous figure is actually in excess of $4 billion. That's because we later learned the Comptroller overstated overall fund balances by $3.5 billion, he understated fund balances at the DOT by $500 million, and it seems that someone thought that $3.5 billion seemed less problematic than $4 billion. Anyway, this morning we learned that the Comptroller never even told the DOT about the DOT understatement.

At its most basic level, the problem is the Comptroller was double counting funds. While most state agencies use the South Carolina automated enterprise system, known as SCEIS, one-time accounting commissions are known as lump sum agencies that use other accounting systems. These are appropriated agencies, but lump sum agencies have their own accounting systems and are audited separately. An example would be Clemson University, the State Ports Authority, Santee Cooper -- not included as part of the SCEIS system, but what they do at the end of close of their year -- they have audited financial statements. Those audited financial statements are then transmitted to the Comptroller General at the Comptroller General's request. He sends out an information packet that they must fill out with all sorts of information to help the Comptroller compile the annual comprehensive financial statement. These non-SCEIS agencies, it appears, that the Comptroller had been double counting cash, that is -- we would appropriate, let's say, $100 million to Clemson. Clemson would get the $100 million, deposit it, they may spend $50 million of it, in their budget. At the end of the year, their financial statement would show $50 million in cash. The Comptroller General would report $100 million as their cash. If he had done the same thing to the University of South Carolina -- we sent them $100 million -- let's say they spent $50 million, their financial statement shows $50 million remaining in cash, but the Comptroller General would combine those two showing that there were $200 million left in cash. The ACFR has been incorrect every year for the past ten years with an incorrect cash balance growing every year. There has been attempt to reconcile this. The last attempt was in 2017 with $1.3 billion adjustment to the state finances. The explanation then was that we were moving away from an old accounting system called STARS and we were moving into the new accounting system called SCEIS. The two accounting systems ran in tandem for a period of five years to make sure that one was right with the other. But once we got fully on SCEIS, there was a large cash balance that no one could explain. So, the Comptroller General charged it off as a one-time expense due to a conversion error. The problem is, it continued and continued and continued until the problem was so big that it could no longer be ignored. For years the Comptroller knew that that was a cash problem. He knew that something was wrong. He, in testimony before the subcommittee, called this the long-standing riddle. Although later in testimony, he tells us that he first knew about the problem -- and I believe what he meant to say was he knew exactly what the problem was. He knew there was a cash problem but didn't know exactly what it was until October. He hired someone from the Treasurer's Office, and I believe he told us in testimony that she was hired specifically to try to find the problem. And she did. After two years working there, she discovered what was deemed a mapping error or an accounting error in the way the accounts worked. So, when Clemson would get $100 million, lump sum appropriation from the State of South Carolina, there should have been a corresponding decrease of $100 million. Monies came into the State and monies went to the college. $100 million came in. $100 million went out. The account should have zeroed out. At the end of the year, after Clemson spent $50 million, their financial statement would have said they had $50 million in cash. The Comptroller should have then taken that $50 million, from Clemson, and the other cash balances in the other non-SCEIS agencies and added them all together, to come up with a cash position. He did not do that. He double counted money. Monies came in and were never accounted for when it went back out which overstated our state's cash position by over $4 billion.

Now, why is that a problem? Well, in the history of accounting errors, this is probably one of the largest, if not, the largest accounting error. A lot of people depend on the accuracy of this report. Namely, the rating agencies in New York that grade our bonds. Our AAA Credit Rating enables us to enjoy the lowest possible interest payments on monies that we borrow. Lots of monies -- a lot of bonding -- a lot of bonds have been issued. A lot of bond counsels are very interested in what happens to the value of their bonds. It just so happened in 2022 when the books were closed, instead of having $10.5 billion, the rating agencies were notified we only had $7 billion in cash -- total cash among the State of South Carolina. That would have sent alarms, except for the fact that so much money came into the State that same year. In your business you know there are two statements that you look at to judge your financial health or to judge the finances of your business. The State is sort of the same way. There is what's called the balance sheet. And then there is your profit and loss or your income statement. Profit and loss statement is sort of like what we do here when we do the annual appropriations. We estimate what revenues are coming into the State, then there are expenses, or budgeted items. We believe that there will be $10 billion coming into the State, so we will base our budget on $10 billion -- we appropriate $10 billion. We estimate ten comes in, we appropriate ten. If it all works out the same, if the numbers come in, as projected, ten will come in and ten will go out. And the amount that we had in the bank at the beginning of the year and the ending of the year will remain the same. That would be an asset. Your cash is an asset. That's what appears on the balance sheet. The balance sheet for the State is what's in this report. The balance sheet said that we had $10.5 billion in cash. When, in fact, we only had $7 billion. But last year, if you remember, there were a lot of appropriations from the federal government that flowed through the State of South Carolina. Yesterday we sent over to the House of Representatives $1.2 billion of those monies that we had carried over. There were other revenues that came into the State. So, in a year, where we tell the New York rating agencies that we underestimated cash -- that we only had $7 billion in cash -- we still ended the year with $10 billion. That is, we had $3.5 billion, almost the same amount as the misstatement, sitting in bank accounts. So as far as they're concerned, they're looking at the beginning of the year, that was corrected, and the end of the year -- as it actually happened -- to be about the same amount -- $10.5 billion. No monies have been taken. No monies have been stolen. We're not missing any monies. We just had our chief financial officer misstate our cash position. We were tasked with finding out what happened. Will this occur again? We brought in the Comptroller General, placed him under oath -- and as some of the subcommittee members -- I asked if they would please give me one or two words to describe the testimony of Comptroller General Eckstrom -- his testimony under oath. And in their own words, here is how they described it -- confusing, bizarre, concealed, nonchalant, cavalier, evasive, and incoherent. We find him incapable of answering the questions we asked with any confidence of certainty. I want to thank the subcommittee members for their work. No one went in this with any preconceived notions. We gave the Comptroller the benefit of the doubt. We asked questions in a different way. We repeated the questions. We asked for clarifications. We joined with in-person hearings, and we watched and rewatched tapes. One member had legal pads filled with notes, but the bewildering testimony continued on and on and on. Not until relatively late in our investigation did we get some straight answers.

In one of the meetings the Comptroller turned to a staffer, a person who ultimately figured it all out, she told us about the duplicated reporting. She was also the one who found the solution and has made the correction that has been noted. The single greatest relief, the most welcoming testimony, was from that staffer who told us that after she figured it out, she was able to reconcile the state's books to 49 cents. On the other hand, among the most, and frankly cringe-worthy testimony was related to whether the Comptroller would have hired an attorney. He was point blank asked, "Have you hired an attorney?" The committee had unequivocal evidence that an attorney himself had been hired. The attorney had sent that information to the Senate Finance Committee to inform us that he had been retained by Comptroller General Eckstrom. He flatly denied hiring an attorney. You have a portion of that testimony also on your desks.

The Comptroller's job is well defined. Several statutes outline his role as the state's chief accountant. He himself says, on his website, that he is the chief financial watchdog. Further, per proviso 96.2 of the 2014 Appropriations Act, the Comptroller General is given full power and authority to issue accounting policy directives to state agencies in order to comply with generally accepted accounting principles. Additionally, the Comptroller is given full authority to conduct surveys, acquire consulting services, and to implement new procedures required to implement full changes required by the generally accepted accounting principles. This proviso has been in the appropriations act each fiscal year since 2014 and can be found in the most recent appropriations act as proviso 97.2. The Comptroller General is the person where the buck stops when it comes to reporting the state's finances and reporting them accurately. We had testimony from the State Treasurer, we had testimony from the state's auditor. We had testimony from Marsha Adams with the Department of Administration. Every one of them let us know that the problem lies with the Comptroller General's office. The Comptroller General let us all know under oath that the problem was not him. The problem was everybody else. The problem was with the Comptroller's office. The problem was with the auditor's office. The problem was everywhere but his office, even though he is the one charged with executing and producing documents such as this that not only we rely on, but others rely on.

Therefore, in view of the above, it is the collective opinion of the subcommittee that certain actions take place. Number one, that the Comptroller General, Richard Eckstrom has repeatedly demonstrated his inability to perform statutory duties of the office of which he was elected. We also believe that the Comptroller should be relieved of the duties of his office. We believe that the General Assembly should begin proceedings to remove the Comptroller from office pursuant to Title 15, Section 3 of the Constitution of South Carolina for willful neglect of duty or other reasonable care -- which shall not be sufficient grounds of impeachment. The House has introduced Articles of Impeachment. I don't believe criminal activity occurred. I believe there was willful neglect of duty. I think we demonstrated that. This is a very comprehensive, 80-page report, every finding is footnoted, and the testimony is footnoted. We also believe the responsibility of the Office of Comptroller General be given to other offices of the State. We believe that the Senate Finance Committee should recommend which offices of the State should receive those responsibilities. And we believe that the General Assembly should advance an amendment to the Constitution of the State of South Carolina to remove the Comptroller as an elected official. With that, Mr. PRESIDENT, I would be happy to answer any questions.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

Senator FANNING: Senator do you know I thank you for your leadership on this? Did you know that I also thank the Chairman of Senate Finance, who the second you shared with him what happened, focused like a laser beam on finding out what the problem was, who to hold accountable and what steps to take to make sure this never happens again. Would you believe that that's what we've done?

Senator GROOMS: Yes, I believe we have done that.

Senator FANNING: And before I move to the next one, could you speak to our unbelievable staff that worked countless hours, emailing us at 2:00 in the morning on a weekend?

Senator GROOMS: I would like to recognize, Jessa Wiginton, if you can stand. She has worked night and day and she has work weekends correlating all the testimony and other documents that have been provided to the committee. She has done well and beyond the call of duty, and I thank her, and the subcommittee thanks her.

Senator FANNING: Do you think the Body knows that this is her first time in this new role, first time inheriting a Senate Finance Committee and on top of our committee meetings having to do this on top of -- we all appreciate her, did you know?

Senator GROOMS: I do know that.

Senator FANNING: Yes.

Senator GROOMS: I do know that.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

Senator FANNING: And did you know that when I say we got emails from her on a Saturday night or Sunday morning at 2:00 in the morning, did you know that that is the truth?

Senator GROOMS: Yes, I do know.

Senator FANNING: And was this vote unanimous in subcommittee?

Senator GROOMS: This was the unanimous vote of the subcommittee.

Senator FANNING: Did you know that I appreciate the work of you making sure this is a bipartisan look, not a witch hunt, but defining the facts, as they were in the case, in the testimony. Is it true that we started without swearing in, and that after some confusing thoughts, we then moved quickly to swearing in, is that correct?

Senator GROOMS: We normally don't swear in witnesses, and after our first budget hearing, when the Comptroller made the admission of a $3.5 billion error, and then was unable to answer questions, was unable to give us the right timelines, we carried over his testimony. And then in subsequent meetings, we had him and any other witness placed under oath. And during that meeting, I do want the Body to know and hear this, that at the first meeting when he talked about an error -- when did he know about it? What did he do about it? He told us, "I knew about it in October, and I informed the Governor and legislative leadership in October." And then when we asked, well, who did you speak to in legislative leadership? Who specifically did you speak to? He could not give us a name. And he said, "Well, it may have been in November." We find out now, that he had conversations with Senate Finance Committee staff but they didn't occur until January of this year. It is amazing the misinformation that we received. The Comptroller was either unable or unwilling to answer basic questions related to his job, how this occurred, and how he operates his office.

Senator FANNING: So, would it be true that not only did he not take responsibility in the situation that happened -- is that we were getting confusing information on things that really weren't even a criminal act. We were just -- isn't it true, just trying to find basic things -- what happened, when it happened, who he talked to.

Senator GROOMS: Although it is without question that it is the responsibility of the Comptroller, only the Comptroller can create a code within the new SCEIS system. I say new -- it has been around now for a while -- only the Comptroller can, even though he tried to deflect blame on the mapping and coding issues elsewhere. There are a number of things that only the Comptroller can do. And he told our committee that he does not except responsibility for the problem, but he accepts responsibility for the solution. One thing, and you'll also see this in our report, and we heard this under testimony, under sworn testimony from the Treasurer -- we suspected as much. But sometimes shortcuts occur. Staff sometimes at the Comptroller's office feel pressure to produce documents, when they say, and we have seen these in internal emails also included in our report, that sometimes there have been some shortcuts. We need more time to do this, but there is a short timeline. We need to produce this now, but we need more time to make sure it is accurate. It seems that the Comptroller was more interested in personal vanity in receiving awards than he was in the accuracy of his reporting.

Senator FANNING: Could you describe in the thick packets we received, asking for a timeline what you found -- on one page in the middle of all of that -- we were worried about transparency and openness, and accountability, and when we didn't get it from testimony -- did you find a certain certificate included in a packet?

Senator GROOMS: There is a certain certificate included in our comprehensive report, that we've laid on everybody's desk. It appears on page 79 of the 80-page report. It was also included in our state's annual comprehensive financial report. The Comptroller General thought everyone should know that he does excellent work. So much so, that he included his -- I kid you not -- his certificate of achievement in excellence in financial reporting. The award was more important than the accuracy of the report.

Senator FANNING: Speak a little bit about the timeline. I don't want to belabor this, but I think the timeline is so important. We didn't know until early February and the Governor's office didn't know until December. But do you remember that in 2017, he was warned that the books were off then by I believe it was $1.3 billion, and did he contact any of us in 2017 to let us know that the error was beginning to accumulate?

Senator FANNING: And so, is it true, he waited until we think maybe a staffer brought it to him, and then he knew in October, I believe we were told, and then took it to the Governor's office to share in November? One of the most enlightening points, did you know, was when we were worried about that bond rating. You mentioned earlier that one of the reasons, this is critical, people would say if the money is not missing why is it important? Did you know that we believe that if your job is to be the state's auditor, you being accurate at auditing is important. But did he not share in testimony, and the Treasurer's office I believe shared in testimony, that he talked to the bonding agencies at the New York Stock Exchange in October of last year about would this impact their bond rating, which means they knew before we knew. Is that not correct?

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

Senator GROOMS: He contacted the three ratings agencies. Normally the person who has contact with the rating agencies to report on the state's finances is the State Treasurer. The State Treasurer has an ongoing relationship with the bonding agencies, with the rating agencies -- not the Comptroller. But the Comptroller felt the need to pick up the phone and give them a call to say, listen you all, there has been a mistake but don't worry, it is all good. And then he told us that the bonding rate -- the bonding agencies seem to be okay with it. That they didn't seem to -- that they thanked him for giving them a call.

Senator FANNING: It is what he told us at the meeting.

Senator GROOMS: And we have internal communications that Moody's Analytics had serious questions and concerns related to the misstatement, despite General Eckstrom's testimony to the contrary.

Senator FANNING: And did you know while that's scary, what was even more scary, is that he shared with folks on the New York Stock Exchange information before he shared anything with the Finance Chairman, the Governor, and the Treasurer himself. Isn't that scary?

Senator GROOMS: The information was first shared with those outside of the State before it was shared with those inside of the State.

Senator FANNING: And speak to the sense of urgency-- because your report, that you issued today, on behalf of the committee that was passed unanimously, talks about going forward with what we should feel safe in doing, and why we need to make changes. We've already stated that he took no responsibility for what happened in the past but is ready to take responsibility in the future. What sense of urgency did the committee hear from him that would make us feel good about making sure this problem wouldn't happen again? Was there a sense of urgency in his responses?

Senator GROOMS: The committee requested information. The letter is in your packet in the report. There was a response to some of the questions, so we did receive some information, but most of what we requested has still not been forwarded to the Senate Finance Committee staff. So, there are still questions that we had posed and documents that we requested that we have not yet received.

Senator FANNING: That's why I feel so good about the hard work you put us through on the committee -- working us to death. Holding people accountable is one thing but fixing it so it doesn't happen again is even more important -- speaking to the integrity of faith that we might have with the general taxpayers, would you not agree?

Senator GROOMS: I certainly would agree with that. And if you remember, also, under testimony, the Comptroller tried to blame the state's internal auditor and the external auditor -- Remy Osmore with CliftonLarsonAllen. CliftonLarsenAllen -- the State contracts with them for auditing services -- and the State Auditor, George Kennedy. They both testified under oath, noting that they had reported in each of the last ten years to the Comptroller General material weaknesses within the Comptroller General's office. Citing weak internal controls in their audits of the office, that there is a lack of appropriate and robust quality controls in the annual comprehensive financial report. And they repeatedly noted that there were a lack of assurances, and there were inadequate reviews of documents necessary to ensure that this report is accurate and consistent. Every year except for 2018, for the past ten years, the state's auditor issued reports to the Comptroller General's office citing deficiencies in their work. They've even testified had there been more staff, they would probably have caught this a lot earlier. When the Comptroller General took office there were seventy employees. Today there are now twenty-six. And every year on his web page, he likes to speak about how much money he's been able to save the taxpayers -- how he's able to do more with less. I submit, that he does less with less. And that his work has possibly endangered the AAA Credit Rating of the State. The only saving grace was the amount of new revenues we had coming into the State that year and how we had shepherded them. And how the ending balance of the State was still close to the $10.5 billion as was the erroneous beginning balance of $10.5 billion, which had to be restated. So, during the ratio analysis, and the other tests that the rating agencies do, we still had cash reserves, sufficient probably, to maintain our AAA Credit Rating, but that is still yet to be determined. The rating agencies could possibly give us a downgrade. I don't know that they will. Probably not, because our cash revenues are high -- we budget conservatively -- and the state's economy seems to be doing well. So, all those things factor in. But if there had been a downgrade or if there is a downgrade, the million, the tens of millions or the hundreds of millions of dollars in bonds that are outstanding would be less than what they would be otherwise. If you buy a bond for a thousand dollars, and all sudden the bond's only worth $900. The value of that bond decreased because of the credit worthiness of the one who issued the bond -- you would be upset.

Senator FANNING: Yes.

Senator GROOMS: Bond council would then probably file a lawsuit because their value had decreased. They lost money because of the actions of someone else. So, it is important to maintain our AAA Credit Rating to receive the lowest possible interest on the bonds we issue. But it is also important that we have accurate financing so that through dereliction of duty we don't end up having a loss of our AAA Credit Rating such that we open ourselves up to liability from bond council of the various bond issued.

Senator FANNING: You mentioned just a couple of questions. $3.5 billion is the figure we have learned, you mentioned it earlier -- it is actually $4 billion. We just got blessed, is it not correct, that one of the $500 million errors subtracted from the larger, is that correct?

Senator GROOMS: Not only is that correct, if you look in our comprehensive report of the subcommittee, on page 45, you'll even see a draft of a $4.4 billion restatement that the staff and the Comptroller discussed. We found this in email documents -- that they almost put this draft into the comprehensive financial report. Instead of showing a $3.5 billion misstatement, here is an actual draft of a $4.4 billion restatement. After discussing it, they thought it would look better if we sent the rating agencies a $3.5 billion restatement.

Senator FANNING: Last question. It's important, and a lot of people will focus today on the removal of office portion. But did you know that the majority of citizens don't know what the Comptroller General does when we vote for them on a ballot? And that another recommendation the committee is giving is that this become an appointed position -- that might be the only way to make sure that we hire a professional we can hold accountable and do what other states have done. Is that not also important?

Senator GROOMS: That's important. And this is serious business we're talking about -- undoing an election. But we've heard sworn testimony. And this sworn testimony is available online for anyone to listen to. We have over six and a half hours of testimony, I believe, from the Comptroller General alone. Anyone who watches only ten minutes of his testimony would begin to have questions about his abilities. You listen to some of the answers, and you'll begin to have questions about his ability to discharge the duties of his office. You listen to all of his testimony and there will be no doubt in anyone's mind that he does not have the ability to discharge the duties of the office to which he was elected.

PRESIDENT ALEXANDER: Senator Campsen, for what purpose do you rise?

Senator CAMPSSEN: Would the Senator yield?

PRESIDENT ALEXANDER: Time has expired. Senator?

Senator GROOMS: Unanimous consent to give the Senator ten more minutes.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

PRESIDENT ALEXANDER: Is there objection to ten minutes? Hearing none, so ordered. Senator from Charleston.

Senator CAMPSSEN: Senator, there are two ways to remove a public official from office under our State Constitution. Is that correct?

Senator GROOMS: That's correct.

Senator CAMPSSEN: And the House has chosen the procedure which everyone is familiar with, generally speaking, that's impeachment. And impeachment is under Article 15, Section 1 of our Constitution. But you're recommending another process. What is the difference between impeachment and the process you are recommending, which also is in Article 15, Section 3?

Senator GROOMS: Yes, Article 15, Section 3 of the Constitution allows for a provision, where a two-third vote of both bodies can remove an elected official for willful neglect of duty or other reasonable cause which shall not be sufficient grounds of impeachment.

Senator CAMPSSEN: So, this provides for removal on grounds that don't have to rise to the level of impeachment. Is that correct?

Senator GROOMS: That's correct.

Senator CAMPSSEN: To impeach an official in South Carolina it must be serious crimes, according to Section 1, Article 15 -- Section 1, serious crimes, or serious misconduct. But in Section 3, this other removal process, the standard is willful neglect of duty. A lower standard doesn't have to be a crime just a neglect of duty or other reasonable cause. And so, this is a lower standard for removal than impeachment requires. Is that right, Senator?

Senator GROOMS: It is a lower standard, but this is a well documented report we placed on everybody's desk. I think there is more than ample evidence that we have more than ample testimony to meet the threshold of removal.

Senator CAMPSSEN: And the threshold is willful neglect or other reasonable cause and reasonable is in the mind of the General Assembly, right? Because we're the ones who vote on whether we remove or not.

Senator GROOMS: One of the most egregious things that the Comptroller has done was ignore the warnings that were issued annually for the last ten years that there could be a serious misstatement in the state's financial document if internal controls are not changed. They documented internal weaknesses. And the Comptroller under sworn testimony last week said he was surprised to learn that the auditors had issues with his internal controls -- when it is documented, and the documents are also included in pages 61 through 66 of our report that is laid on everyone's desk -- of the repeated warnings that something bad could happen if you don't change your controls. And what the Comptroller did, instead of beefing up his controls -- other staff was still let go and not replaced -- going from seventy employees down to I believe it is twenty-six now, or maybe twenty-three.

Senator CAMPSSEN: So, Senator, the House proposed the impeachment route.

Senator GROOMS: Not only imposed the impeachment route in the annual appropriations act just voted on by the House but they reduced the salary by a vote of 107 to 6 of the Comptroller General to a dollar a year.

Senator CAMPSSEN: And impeachment involves impeachment by the House by a two-thirds vote, and then a trial in the Senate. Is that correct that the House members would actually have a trial before us in the Senate? Then the Senate would have to vote two-thirds vote to impeach and remove him from office?

Senator GROOMS: That's how that would work. That's how the impeachment would work. The Comptroller, as I've said earlier, and in the report, was completely unable to answer basic questions. He was just not able to. No matter what you asked him, he couldn't do it. You ask him how something happened -- he couldn't explain it.

Senator CAMPSSEN: But one reason that we're proposing to proceed under Section 3 of Article 15, instead of Section 1, which is impeachment, is that may not necessarily rise to the level of a serious crime, which is what is required for impeachment under Article 1 of Section 15.

Senator GROOMS: I would like to quote editorial writer Cindi Ross Scoppe. She opined about this in Sunday's Post and Courier. She writes, I quote, "I'm not sure that would produce a criminal conviction because a jury listening to Mr. Eckstrom's testimony likely would conclude that he is too disconnected from reality to perjure himself."

Senator CAMPSSEN: I'm not going to comment any further on that, Senator.

Senator GROOMS: That he was too disconnected from reality to perjure himself. That's probably an accurate statement. He looked straight at us and lied when asked a direct question, but he's clearly disconnected from reality.

Senator CAMPSSEN: But proceeding under Section 3, Article 15 the standard for removal is willful neglect of duty. Do you think what you found through your hearings constitutes willful neglect of duty? It went on for multiple years, with knowledge, that has to be willful neglect of duty, does it not, Senator?

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

Senator GROOMS: Without a doubt. Willful neglect of duty.

Senator CAMPSSEN: So therefore, it is more prudent for us to proceed under Section 3 of Article 15, which is not impeachment, but removal for willful neglect or reasonable cause.

Senator GROOMS: Or reasonable cause, correct.

Senator CAMPSSEN: So that's a lower bar to clear than impeachment, and therefore, you have a better chance of that succeeding versus the impeachment route.

Senator GROOMS: Anyone who looks at the testimony, reads the report, and reads the footnotes would come to the same conclusion.

Senator CAMPSSEN: Senator did you know I did a little research into this -- the history?

Senator GROOMS: As the author of the constitutional amendment, Senate 95 -- as the author of the constitutional amendment to remove the Comptroller General as an elected officer under Constitution -- that's you. You offered that amendment.

Senator CAMPSSEN: I authored that amendment.

Senator GROOMS: Also, I am recommending that we move forward with your constitutional amendment.

Senator GROOMS: That's good. It would be an appointed position not an elected position.

Senator GROOMS: Just an elected position.

Senator CAMPSSEN: A bit of history, you know that I have a weakness, I want to look at the history of the constitutional provisions. I looked at this because it drew my interest, because there is no provision like this in the Federal Constitution. It is only impeachment. Impeachment is the only way to remove a federal officer. But we have impeachment plus removal by vote of two-thirds of the House and two-thirds of the Senate for willful neglect of duty. And so, I did little research to determine why did we have this in our State Constitution? And some other states have it, but the Federal Constitution does not. And what I found is it was adopted in 1868, right after the Andrew Johnson impeachment effort. And the states were looking at the Andrew Johnson impeachment proceedings that went on and on and on. And he was impeached for the violation of the Tenure in Office Act, which is an act that protected federal officers from being removed by the President. But his impeachment went from February 24th to May 26th. There was a trial that lasted longer than the trial that Senator HARPOOTLIAN was in down in Colleton County a couple of weeks ago, how long was that?

Senator GROOMS: That was a long trial.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

Senator CAMPSER: That was a long trial, but this one went from February 24th to May 26th. And so, the states saw that -- they saw that process and concluded we need something impeachment like. We need some other way to remove officers for willful neglect of duty other than impeachment. And so, these provisions were adopted in 1968. We had a constitutional convention. We talked about a convention of states on the Federal Constitution. We had many constitutional conventions and I'm looking at the proceedings of the South Carolina constitutional convention, January 11, 1968, the year this amendment was adopted. My last point I'm making but it's very -- I don't know if ironic is the term to use -- but certainly it indicates that this process that we're choosing is appropriate and relevant for the situation before us. And I'm quoting from that constitutional convention in 1968 -- and this is Mr. F. J. Moses, Jr., 1968 -- by referring to Section 4 of the article, which is Section 3 that we currently have in our Constitution, the non-impeachment process. By referring to Section 4, it will be seen that the Governor may for any willful neglect of duty remove any executive or judicial officer on the address of two-thirds of each House of the General Assembly -- on the address means upon the vote of two-thirds, and reasons given. The Governor must remove, doesn't have the choice, must remove. But this is what is really ironic. If we place a man in the Office of Treasurer or Comptroller General, incapable or unworthy of the confidence of the people, what is easier than to adopt the core suggested by the Constitution in that provision. Now, that's from 1968. That's not from yesterday. In 1968 the framers of that constitutional provision that we're implicating, that you recommend that we implicate and I agree with you, actually used the Comptroller General or the Treasurer as being the type of office that would be used to remove, because those offices -- one reason, is those offices were for four years then, and the Governor's office was only two. And so, the Governor, you could kind of withstand a bad governor for couple of years -- my time is up. You can withstand a bad governor for two years but not a bad Comptroller General or Treasurer for four years.

Senator GROOMS: Senator I did not know that.

PRESIDENT ALEXANDER: The time has expired. Senator from Sumter, for what purpose do you rise?

Senator McELVEEN: I would ask unanimous consent to give the Senator from Berkeley about five more minutes.

PRESIDENT ALEXANDER: Is there objection to five more minutes, Senator from Berkeley? Hearing none, so ordered. Senator from Sumter

Senator McELVEEN: I ask if the Senator would yield for few questions.

Senator GROOMS: Yes.

Senator McELVEEN: I would ask you to forgive me, first of all. I came in the Chamber toward the end of your introductory remarks. I had to meet with a group of high school students from my district, but I want to go back and touch on a few things. And the first thing I want to say, as a member of the subcommittee, I certainly take no pleasure in what we're doing right now.

Senator GROOMS: No.

Senator McELVEEN: I took no pleasure in what we had to do in the last few weeks, and I don't think, from my perspective, anybody on our subcommittee took pleasure in that.

Senator GROOMS: No, the members of the subcommittee were outstanding, every member of the subcommittee went into this with great care and great thought. Everyone participated and it was our unanimous conclusion with this report.

Senator McELVEEN: Did you know Senator one thing I'm glad about, I think this is the most recent thing to underscore the role we have as legislators on oversight. Right? Part of our duty is oversight. And that's the reason why you convened our finance subcommittee to hear from some of our agency folks every year in the first place. Right?

Senator GROOMS: That's correct. Just as the internal auditor pointed out annually of the material weakness, the deficiencies, within the Comptroller General's office, we're now pointing out the deficiencies to the General Assembly in that office. He didn't act. It is time for the General Assembly to act. Operating not knowing is one thing. We now know that there are issues in that office that will go unresolved until we correct the problem.

Senator McELVEEN: And Senator, while you're up there did you know I want to thank you number one for your leadership in dealing with this issue -- in a quick, efficient, and professional manner. That's the first thing. Thank you for your leadership. When the Senate got this, when we became aware of this, we acted quickly. Did you know I want to also thank the Chairman of Finance. You recall he came to us to our subcommittee and told us very directly, get to the bottom of this. Do your job. Do the oversight. And I want to also thank him for giving us the staff to do that. And I heard Senator FANNING say it once, the staff just did an amazing job on this -- putting these meetings together, getting folks in to testify and working on our report. I would also second your plea to this Body to read that report from our subcommittee. It is thorough. It is well written. I want to thank all of our staff members for their hard work on this because it has been quick. It has been a lot of work, a lot of weekend work, so I just don't think most members will understand or appreciate how much they really had put into this over a short period of time.

Senator GROOMS: I appreciate that, those remarks, Senator. And there is one thing that I want to make sure the Body also knows that we were also tasked with to make sure it didn't happen again -- make sure the problem is corrected. We're reasonably sure the problem has been corrected, but we're not experts. And we have asked the state's internal auditor if he would review the correction that Ms. Kip has made within the office. We believe that she has now actually corrected the problem and it has to do with the way you reconcile accounts. She has reconciled the accounts, things that have happened before, things the internal auditor has recommended occur for years. She has now done those things. So, to test the accuracy of the numbers within the system, they actually have to test, they actually have to perform some accounting tests within the system, to see if everything would then balance. And they estimate that that would take maybe up to a month. And so, we don't have assurances yet from the state's auditor that the problem has been corrected. We will report those findings once we receive them. But we're relatively sure the problem at this point has been corrected. But an issue is that the Comptroller's testimony is not reliable. It could not be counted on. If there are other problems that crop up, we have no assurances that they'll be dealt with. And we must have assurances with our budgeting numbers. When the Senate Finance Committee and the Ways and Means Committee receive information saying this much money is in this account, we base our decisions on that. We based our decision, yesterday, on what was it, $1.2 billion? We based that decision on the fact that someone we trusted told us that it was $1.2 billion in that account. We have to have reliance on our numbers. The people of the State need to have confidence in their government. The people of the State need to know that the finances of this State are in order and we have competent people that have professional credentials that can carry those out.

Senator McELVEEN: Senator, you know, I do have as a member of the committee several more questions I would like to ask you during this discussion, but I see the chairman stood up, so I'd like to yield my time to him but may have a few more questions after he gets finished. Go ahead. All right. So going back to just couple of things I want to make sure we talk about for a second here. Would you agree with me that this is my 11th year here? And the last time something like this came up before this Body, that I can recall, probably my first year here -- we had issues with the Department of Social Services. At some point in time this Body had drafted basically a Resolution, called for a vote of no confidence, which was laid on the desk and before we could even consider it there was a resignation and we kind of moved on. Do you recall that?

Senator GROOMS: Yes, I do.

Senator McELVEEN: That's the last time I can remember something of this magnitude since I've been here at least -- happening in, you know, a constitutional office or agency. That's the last thing I can remember that was even close to this. But going back to the issue at hand, Senator, one thing you touched on that caught my attention -- you talked about the staffing. You talked about the fact that every year, you know, this office and this Comptroller comes before your subcommittee and tells us the need, right?

Senator GROOMS: Yes.

Senator McELVEEN: And do you remember a few years ago, we had an issue, not the same but similar, with the Department of Motor Vehicles, where several stakeholders came to us and said a mistake was being made where we were not capturing commercial motor vehicle user fees like we should have to the tune of however many million dollars, I don't quite remember.

Senator GROOMS: Yes, it was over tens of millions annually.

Senator McELVEEN: So Senator, I'm sure you would agree with me, that nobody in this Body is for glut in government -- for having bloated bureaucracy -- we're not here for that. We don't look to do that. But back then, did you know, my comment was if the DMV would have come to us and said we have a new system, we just need FTE to deal with this one issue, to capture these revenues that should have been captured. That's money well spent, right?

Senator GROOMS: It is money well spent. When an agency director comes before a subcommittee and says I made a five and a half billion dollar blunder, but don't worry, I have all the staff I need. I don't need anybody else. And then we see in internal emails he really doesn't. We hear from the testimony of others, he really doesn't. When we hear that shortcuts are being made, we've now been warned.

PRESIDENT ALEXANDER: Senator the additional five minutes has expired.

Senator McELVEEN: Unanimous consent request for five more minutes.

PRESIDENT ALEXANDER: Is there objection to additional five minutes? Hearing no objection, so ordered.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

Senator McELVEEN: So, Senator, I mean, certainly wasting government over spending should concern all of us. But those times where under funding brings bigger picture issues and end up costing taxpayers' money, that should be a legal concern, right? Especially in our oversight role. Is that correct?

Senator GROOMS: Particularly in the oversight role.

Senator McELVEEN: So, Senator, you've covered most of the things already that really concern me about this, but here is one thing I want to go back to, I'm sorry -- I repeated this several times throughout the subcommittee and committee process. But do you recall me saying, you know, I'm not an accountant, I'm not a C.P.A. but, the question was asked several times during subcommittee, is when did you find out about this issue? And the response was: the issue or the amount? And response to that is you may recall, let's start with the issue itself. And I follow that up with, you know, if I'm an accountant and I'm sitting in my office, and somebody sits down in there and says there is a $3.5 billion mistake. I'm pretty sure that's ten figures, I don't have to count that high usually, but that's a day I'm going to remember, like the day I got married, my birthdate, or the birth of my first child. Would you agree?

Senator GROOMS: I would absolutely agree. Accountants are particular people. The numbers have to balance, or it drives them nuts at night. And I like the example, that David Owens used, he said accountants are the people who can't stand for the check engine light to be on in their car. They see it every day and it bothers them. Everything needs to balance. But we've had a Comptroller General who signed his name on a comprehensive annual financial report knowing that there was something wrong with it. He didn't know exactly what was wrong with it, but we now know he believed there was something wrong with the reports that he was signing his name to as being accurate.

Senator McELVEEN: Do you share the same recollection as me? My comment to him was, if I find a mistake in my professional office, I'm going to start with the timeline, right. When did I find out about this? What was the damage? What did I do to correct it? And my recollection, Senator, is that the first day of testimony, the dates that we were given were very different than the report that was given to us or the actual written timeline given to us the following week. Is that your recollection as well?

Senator GROOMS: There were multiple different timelines when things occurred. And the final timelines in this report came after his office was able to sit down, review document to document when meetings occurred, and then they were put in a chronological timeline. But you are absolutely right. It is like there is the problem. There is the long-standing riddle. It's been solved. Hallelujah, it's been around a while. We know there has been a problem. The long-standing riddle has been solved. The $4 billion question has been solved. Yes, I would absolutely remember that day.

Senator McELVEEN: Senator that's a different issue. Because, you know, with this particular situation, I felt like as a member of the subcommittee that we were approached with the kind of, mentality look what I fixed not look what I broke, right?

Senator GROOMS: By his testimony -- his own words -- I do not take responsibility for the problem even though statutory, constitutionally testimony from other agencies squarely tell us it was his problem and it occurred within his office. Let's forget that I do not take responsibility for the problem -- I take responsibility for finding the solution. Give me another reward.

Senator McELVEEN: What I'm trying to get at here, Senator, is my recollection is when we got actually handed that written timeline the first thing that I saw on there was October of 2022. Is that correct?

Senator GROOMS: Yes.

Senator McELVEEN: When asked the previous week when this problem came to light, I was told, and the answer that I heard, and maybe I'm hard of hearing sometimes, maybe I have selective hearing sometimes, I heard early summer of last year when this problem came up. All right, and I asked a question on that. Does that mean May? I mean was early summer two weeks ago when it was seventy-five degrees here. I don't think it means October. And so, I'm just calling those inconsistencies to the attention of this Body because here is what concerns me. What if that was known before -- Senator CAMPSSEN just talked about -- this is an elected official we're dealing with here. You have to be very careful about how we approach this. But I'm also talking about the voters here. Because if this was known, when filing closed in March of last year, is that fair to the voters? If this was known and not made public before a June primary last year, is that fair to the voters? We absolutely know by everyone's account this was known before the general election. But it wasn't made clear to the public. Is that right?

Senator GROOMS: That's correct.

Senator McELVEEN: So, we talk about things like transparency in this Body, in this State House. Would you agree that's hardly transparent, would you not?

Senator GROOMS: That's not transparent. And the last thing to ask you about, because I think most of this has already been covered but you know, you recall this, because you were intimately involved, when we had the discussion and debate about stability with Santee Cooper a few years ago, right?

Senator GROOMS: Yes.

Senator McELVEEN: I heard this to no end during that debate and I wanted to know if you heard it also, the question was asked over and over again, could this affect our AAA Credit Rating? You remember that?

Senator GROOMS: Yes.

Senator McELVEEN: But did you also hear the same thing that I heard, you know the good news here as you've already alluded here, there is no money gone, right, just overstatement of our cash position. Same as if you had a business loan. They're going to come to you and ask what are your assets, what's your liability and what's your worth, right. And you and I both know what happens if you misrepresent that. Right?

Senator GROOMS: That's right, you could go to jail for that. If it was your C.P.A. that made an error this size, they would be gone by now. If this were a private business, if this were a publicly traded company, if this were any other thing other than state government, the chief financial officer who compiled these statements would have been fired.

Senator McELVEEN: But you know, this, like we talked about earlier, you mentioned earlier, I believe, and I hope that our state's economy and our cash are strong enough. We certainly don't want to affect our credit rating, but the threat is when you overstate your cash position by $3.5 billion, correct?

Senator GROOMS: Absolutely correct.

Senator McELVEEN: What bothers me, did you know this and maybe you'll agree, just the cavalier attitude about this. It doesn't really matter because our State doesn't operate on credit. Our State balances our budget every year.

Senator GROOMS: That was one of the troubling aspects when he first appeared before us. How are you doing? Done a great job. There's a little error, don't worry about it. Budget is fine. Don't need any help. Could you please repeat that little error thing again?

Senator McELVEEN: I heard error, I just didn't hear a lot about accountability within that office during the time that we spent taking testimony. I know others have questions, so I appreciate your leadership on this again Senator GROOMS. Thank you for answering my questions.

Senator GROOMS: I didn't mean to take up this much time with the members, but this was a serious issue.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

Senator PEELER: Senator Grooms, I appreciate your work, the work of you and your subcommittee -- did I hear you correctly, this is a unanimous report from the subcommittee?

Senator GROOMS: That's correct, three republicans, two democrats.

Senator PEELER: Thank you so very much. I appreciate your work -- you and the subcommittee and the staff. I think the report is fair, thorough, and complete. I watched some of the testimony during y'all's meetings and you're right. It was embarrassing to say the least. If you were the Comptroller General, and you had performed this blunder, and you came before the subcommittee, I think the Comptroller General should do the right thing. If it were you, what would you do?

Senator GROOMS: The honorable thing to do would be to resign.

Senator PEELER: Has he indicated any thought of doing that?

Senator GROOMS: He hasn't been asked. Reporters have asked me that question of what I believe, and I've asked to withhold any comment until we complete our report and published it. The report is now complete. It has been published. I'm asking the Comptroller General to resign. I believe that would be the honorable thing to do. I believe the votes are sufficient in the House and Senate to actually remove him from office. And I hope that he would help the General Assembly avoid us having to go through that. Thank you very much.

On motion of Senator CAMPSSEN, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator GROOMS were ordered printed in the Journal.

Remarks by Senator HARPOOTLIAN

I am one who scours the newspaper every morning. I actually have a paper; I am one of those old-time folks that like to hold the paper when I read it. I find that I see things that I do not see when I read the news on my telephone. I read with interest this morning that in the House of Representatives a Bill was introduced this week that would provide the death penalty for women who get an abortion. Now as you know, I am a proponent of the death penalty, but I think it should be used sparingly. I read the Bill and wondered how one would come to such a decision. By the way, the Bill had twenty-one sponsors and in one day it is down to sixteen, so support is quickly eroding for this proposition. But it said to me, maybe I should go look at this. So, I did a little research and found that in Afghanistan, where the Taliban rule, the maximum penalty for an abortion is seven years. In Iran, where the Ayatollah rules, the maximum penalty for an abortion is two years. As a matter of fact, the only sentence of death I could find for an abortion was in 1944, the Vichy government, the Nazi government in France, passed a law-making abortion punishable by death. And a woman was actually put to death by the guillotine in 1944. This Google thing is just wonderful, is it not? In scouring the records, I found that was the only instance. So, I said to myself, what is the goal? Is the goal to be tougher than the Taliban? Really? Really? So, I began looking at more about this Bill and we are getting national press on it. I know that helps Senator PEELER recruit industry to come to South Carolina, the only State in the country with the death penalty, or proposed death penalty for abortion. Obviously, I am being a little bit facetious here.

I understand it is that other Body across the hall, and we know they pass Bills, and we pass laws. I get all of that. But it seems to me, that there is something going on over there. I watched the budget process this week -- I would call it juvenile if not for the fact that there are twenty-one votes over there to do all kind of wacky things, including this. So, I wanted to bring it to your attention -- I looked at the list of sponsors, those that are still sponsors, and found a number of them are in your districts -- none in mine, thank God, but in a number of your districts. And I want to share with you their names. The next time you run into them you may suggest that perhaps they are on the wrong track, that they are not heading in the right direction and that they perhaps need to refocus their efforts. There is water, there is sewer, there are developments, investment, there are taxes -- there are all kind of things we need to deal with -- this is not one of them. Sponsors of this Bill are Representative Robert J. "Rob" Harris, District 36-Spartanburg, Representative James Mikell "Mike" Burns, District 17-Greenville, Representative William M. "Bill" Chumley, District 35-Greenville and Spartanburg, Representative Jordan S. Pace, District 117-Berkeley, Representative Roger Nutt, District 34-Spartanburg, Representative Thomas Beach, District 10-Anderson, Greenville, and Pickens, Representative Stewart Jones, District 14-Laurens, Representative Joseph S. "Joe" White, District 40-Lexington and Newberry, Representative Steven Wayne Long, District 37-Spartanburg, Representative David O'Neal, District 66-York, Representative Josiah Magnuson, District 38-Spartanburg, Representative Donald Ryan McCabe, Jr., District 96-Lexington, Representative Ashley Trantham, District 28-Greenville, Representative John Gregory "Jay" Kilmartin, District 85-Lexington, Representative Brandon Guffey, District 48-

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

York, and Representative April Cromer, District 6-Anderson. These are the folks in your districts espousing this position. Whether you are pro-choice or pro-life, the death penalty, really? Really? If you talk to some of the responsible folks, mostly Republicans, in the House, they will tell you these folks are not interested in governing; they are interested in terrorism. Maybe that is why they are tougher than the Taliban on abortion. And by the way, both in Iran and Afghanistan, there are exceptions to save the mother's life or for fetal abnormalities. So, I point out, even where Sharia Law is in effect, it is not as tough as what these Representatives want.

On motion of Senator MATTHEWS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator HARPOOTLIAN were ordered printed in the Journal.

If the eligible student leaves or withdraws from the school for any reason before the end of the semester or school year and does not re-enroll within thirty days, then the school shall return a prorated amount of the scholarship to the scholarship funding organization based on the number of days the eligible student was enrolled in the school during the semester or school year within sixty days of the student's departure.

(B) Before the issuance of a check, a parent shall certify that the eligible student has not received a scholarship from any other scholarship-granting organizations in the current academic year.

(D)(1) The tax credits authorized for an eligible student qualified and defined under Section 12-6-3850(5)(a) [General Child], (b) [Disadvantaged Child], and (c) [Exceptional Needs Child] may not exceed cumulatively a total of fifteen million dollars in each qualifying category, each calendar year.

(2) The tax credits authorized for an eligible student qualified and defined under Section 12-6-3850 (5)(d) [Home School Child] may not exceed cumulatively a total of ten million dollars each calendar year.

However before October first of each tax year, no taxpayer may claim more than fifty percent of the allotment for any of the tax credits allowed in this section. After October first, a taxpayer that has claimed the maximum allotment may reapply to claim additional credits. For purposes of determining priority, the subsequent application must be placed in order with all other applications received.

(4) The tax credits authorized pursuant to this section remain the same unless an increased or decreased limit is authorized in the annual general appropriations act.

(E) The department shall establish an application process to determine the amount of credit available to be claimed. The receipt of the application by the department shall determine priority for the credit.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

(1) The tax credit must be claimed on the return for the tax year that the contribution is made.

(2) A taxpayer may not claim more than one hundred percent of his total tax liability for the tax year in contributions toward the tax credits authorized by this section. This credit is not refundable. If the credit exceeds the taxpayer's tax liability for the taxable year, the excess amount may be carried forward for credit against the next ten succeeding taxable years.

(3) If a taxpayer deducts the amount of the contribution on the taxpayer's federal return and claims the credit allowed by this section, then the taxpayer shall add back the amount of the deduction for purposes of South Carolina income or bank taxes.

(F) The department shall prescribe the form and manner of proof required to obtain the credits authorized by this article. Also the department shall develop a method of informing taxpayers and scholarship-funding organizations if the credit limit is met at any time during the year.

(1) A corporation or entity entitled to a credit under this section may not convey, assign, or transfer the credit authorized by this section to another entity unless all assets of the entity are conveyed, assigned, or transferred in the same transaction.

(2) Notwithstanding the maximum credit limits set forth in this article, if one of the eligible student-qualifying categories listed in subsection (D) reaches its limits but another eligible student-qualifying category has not reached its limit by October first of each tax year, then the department may transfer the unused credits to the eligible student qualifying category that has reached its limit. However, the credit only may be transferred and may not cumulatively allow more than the authorized annual cumulative total provided in this section. In considering a credit transfer under this item, those eligible student qualifying categories listed in subsection 12-6-3850(5)(b) [Disadvantaged Child], (c) [Exceptional Needs Child], (d) [Home School Child], and (a) [General Child] must have priority order when transferring credits.

Section 12-6-3875. (A) By September first of each year, the Treasurer shall publish on its website a list of all qualifying nonprofit scholarship-funding organizations for the succeeding calendar year, to include their names, addresses, telephone numbers, and, if available, website addresses and applicable audits.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

(B) By January fifteenth of each year, the Treasurer shall report to the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and the Governor:

(5) a copy of a compilation, review, or audit of each scholarship-funding organization conducted by a certified public accounting firm as provided to the Treasurer by each scholarship-funding organization in their application to participate in the program;

(6) the criteria and eligibility requirements for scholarship awards of each scholarship-funding organization as provided to the Treasurer by each scholarship-funding organization in their application to participate in the program; and

(7) any report required by this section may not specifically include the name, amount, or any other personally identifiable information of scholarship recipients.

Section 12-6-3880. (A)(1) The Treasurer and the department have authority to examine and audit the nonprofit scholarship-funding organizations, including determining whether the nonprofit scholarship-funding organization is being operated in a manner consistent with the requirements for an IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization or is in compliance with any other provision of this section.

(2)(a) If an audit by the Treasurer or department produces evidence that a nonprofit scholarship-funding organization is not being operated in a manner consistent with the requirements for operating an IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization or is not in compliance with any other substantial provision of this section, the Treasurer or the department immediately may revoke the organization's participation in the program and shall notify the organization in writing of the revocation.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

(b) Actual notice of revocation may be provided to the organization by personal delivery to the organization, by certified return receipt mail to the last known address of the organization, or by other means reasonably designed to provide actual notice to the organization.

(c) Any donations made following the date the actual notice of revocation are received by the organization do not qualify for the credit and the donated funds must be returned to the donor by the organization.

(d)(i) Within thirty days after the day on which the organization is provided actual notice of the revocation, the organization may request a contested hearing before the Administrative Law Court. Within seven days after a request for a contested case hearing is received by the Administrative Law Court, an administrative law judge shall hold the contested case hearing and determine whether the revocation was reasonable under the circumstances. The Treasurer or the department has the burden of proof of showing that the revocation was reasonable under the circumstances. The revocation is reasonable if the Treasurer or the department has substantial credible evidence that the organization is not being operated in a manner consistent with the requirements for operating an IRC Section 501(c)(3) organization or is not in compliance with other substantial provisions of this article. If the organization does not request a contested case hearing within thirty days of the immediate revocation, the revocation is permanent.

(ii) If the administrative law judge determines that the immediate revocation was reasonable, the administrative law judge shall remand the case to the Treasurer or the department to issue a Treasurer or department determination for permanent revocation within the time period determined by the judge. The organization may appeal this Treasurer or department determination in accordance with Section 12-60-460. At the contested case hearing on the Treasurer or department determination, the parties may raise new issues and arguments in addition to those issues and arguments previously presented at the immediate revocation hearing.

(iii) If the administrative law judge determines that immediate revocation is not reasonable, the revocation must be lifted, and the organization may resume accepting donations and award scholarships. The Treasurer or department may still issue a Treasurer or department determination in accordance with Section 12-60-450(E)(2).

(e) If at any time during the process, the Treasurer and department believes the organization is in compliance, the Treasurer may reinstate the organization.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

(f) Following the permanent revocation of a nonprofit scholarship-funding organization, the Treasurer has the authority to oversee the transfer of donated funds of the revoked organization to other nonprofit scholarship-funding organizations.

(g) A scholarship-funding organization may transfer funds to another scholarship-funding organization if the organization ceases to exist. The funds that are transferred by one scholarship funding organization to another only may be considered by one organization when calculating its administrative expenses. The scholarship-funding organizations transferring and receiving the funds shall notify the Treasurer in writing within three days of the transfer. The notification may be made via electronic methodology.

SECTION 2. A. Section 12-6-3790 of the S.C. Code is repealed.

B. This SECTION takes effect upon the full implementation of this act as provided in SECTION 4.

SECTION 3. If any section, subsection, paragraph, subparagraph, sentence, clause, phrase, or word of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional or invalid, such holding shall not affect the constitutionality or validity of the remaining portions of this act, the General Assembly hereby declaring that it would have passed this act, and each and every section, subsection, paragraph, subparagraph, sentence, clause, phrase, and word thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, paragraphs, subparagraphs, sentences, clauses, phrases, or words hereof may be declared to be unconstitutional, invalid, or otherwise ineffective.

SECTION 4. This act takes effect upon approval by the Governor, provided that upon approval of this act by the Governor, the Treasurer shall begin undertaking and executing responsibilities incidental to the implementation of this act so that the provisions of this act may be fully implemented at the beginning of the 2024-2025 School Year.

A scholarship funding organization may reimburse a parent directly for expenditures actually paid for qualifying expenses or pay vendors directly for qualifying expenses at the direction of the parent and on behalf of the home school child.

(2) the taxpayer does not designate a specific child or school as the beneficiary of the contribution.

(B)(1) Scholarships may be awarded by a scholarship funding organization to an eligible student qualifying and defined under Section 12-6-3850(5)(a)[Disadvantaged Child] for a school year in an amount not exceeding the actual state-allocated revenue for each pupil as calculated by the Revenue and Fiscal Affairs Office and required to be published by the annual appropriations act or the total amount of qualifying expenses, whichever is less.

However before October first of each tax year, no taxpayer may claim more than fifty percent of the allotment for any of the tax credits allowed in this section. After October first, a taxpayer that has claimed the maximum allotment may reapply to claim additional credits. For purposes of determining priority, the subsequent application must be placed in order with all other applications received.

(4) The tax credits authorized pursuant to this section remain the same unless an increased or decreased limit is authorized in the annual general appropriations act.

(E) The department shall establish an application process to determine the amount of credit available to be claimed. The receipt of the application by the department shall determine priority for the credit.

If the credit exceeds the taxpayer's tax liability for the taxable year, the excess amount may be carried forward for credit against the next ten succeeding taxable years.

(3) If a taxpayer deducts the amount of the contribution on the taxpayer's federal return and claims the credit allowed by this section, then the taxpayer shall add back the amount of the deduction for purposes of South Carolina income or bank taxes.

(F) The department shall prescribe the form and manner of proof required to obtain the credits authorized by this article. Also the department shall develop a method of informing taxpayers and scholarship-funding organizations if the credit limit is met at any time during the year.

(1) A corporation or entity entitled to a credit under this section may not convey, assign, or transfer the credit authorized by this section to another entity unless all assets of the entity are conveyed, assigned, or transferred in the same transaction.

(2) Notwithstanding the maximum credit limits set forth in this article, if one of the eligible student-qualifying categories listed in subsection (D) reaches its limits but another eligible student-qualifying category has not reached its limit by October first of each tax year, then the department may transfer the unused credits to the eligible student qualifying category that has reached its limit. However, the credit only may be transferred and may not cumulatively allow more than the authorized annual cumulative total provided in this section. In considering a credit transfer under this item, those eligible student qualifying categories listed in subsection 12-6-3850(5)(a) [Disadvantaged Child], and (b) [Home School Child], must have priority order when transferring credits.

REPORT RECEIVED

Subcommittee Report and Recommendations

The Constitutional Subcommittee of the Senate Finance Committee convened on four occasions to investigate the FY2022 Annual Comprehensive Financial Report (ACFR) $3.5 billion restatement: February 9, 2023, February 16, 2023, February 23, 2023, and March 7,

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

2023. The subcommittee consists of Chairman LAWRENCE K. “LARRY” GROOMS, Senator J. THOMAS McELVEEN III, Senator MIKE FANNING, Senator STEPHEN L. GOLDFINCH, and Senator TOM YOUNG, Jr.

February 9, 2023

Comptroller General Richard Eckstrom appeared before the Subcommittee to present Fiscal Year 2023-2024 budget requests for his office. After stating he had no requests, he notified the subcommittee of the ACFR restatement. He stated that the ACFR overstated the amount of cash the State had in its General Fund for the past 10 years, attributing it to a “mapping error” in the state’s conversion to the South Carolina Enterprise Information System (SCEIS) beginning in 2007. However, subcommittee members found that his timeline of events leading to the restatement was unclear, and he could not adequately and succinctly explain exactly what happened. Therefore, the subcommittee carried over his testimony.

The subcommittee called General Eckstrom back for questioning under oath. Members found that he was still incapable of coherently articulating the reason for the $3.5 billion restatement, despite knowing the subcommittee wanted a succinct explanation and having a week to prepare, and that he either would not, or categorically, could not answer very direct and specific questions. Only when he called for aid from his staff were questions more clearly answered.

General Eckstrom’s staff reported that the restatement stems from a mistake in how state agencies with Audited Financial Statements (AFS) were classified in SCEIS, causing the ACFR to omit transfers of funds out from these agencies. The reported restatement is a result of the Office of the Comptroller General’s failure to incorporate a recurring solution to a $1.3 billion conversion adjustment that occurred in 2017 when SCEIS became fully implemented. The Office of the Comptroller General believed the error that required the 2017 adjustment had been corrected, but because of a lack of oversight, the overstatement of general funds grew to a purported $3.5 billion in 2022.

February 23, 2023

The subcommittee heard from the Office of the State Treasurer (STO), the Department of Administration (DOA), the Office of the State Auditor (OSA), and CliftonLarsonAllen LLP (CLA), an independent accounting firm contracted by the State to aid in audits. Testimony under oath from Treasurer Curtis Loftis and DOA Director Marcia Adams confirmed that the preparation, compilation, completion, and accuracy of the state’s

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

ACFR is solely the responsibility of the Comptroller General. Remi Omisore, Principal Auditor of CliftonLarsonAllen LLP testified under oath that a restatement in the amount of $3.5 billion is uncommon, and likely connected to a staffing shortage in the Office of the Comptroller General. The State Auditor, George Kennedy, reported under oath that the internal controls in the Office of the Comptroller General were insufficient to detect errors. Both Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Omisore noted that weakness in internal controls was a recurring concern in their audits of the office over the last 10 years. The State Auditor informed the Comptroller General of these concerns in 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2019, 2020, 2021, and 2022.

March 7, 2023

The subcommittee requested that General Eckstrom appear before the subcommittee to respond under oath to the testimony provided on February 23rd. After having almost two weeks to prepare clear testimony and rebuttal, subcommittee members found that he continued to testify circuitously and avoided answering questions directly, continued to rely upon his staff for explanations, and deflected blame on to other offices and officers of the State. He testified that the OSA is responsible for both the accuracy of the ACFR and fund reconciliation, contrary not only to prior testimony from the STO, DOA, and OSA, but also to his own testimony on February 9th and 16th. He testified that he was “surprised” that the auditors felt his “internal controls were consistently weak,” despite being informed of those weaknesses over the vast majority of the last ten years in the form of Internal Controls Reports, which also contained his responses to those weaknesses. He later testified that the 2007 DOA “SCEIS team” was responsible for the original misclassification of AFS agencies, even though DOA Director Adams unequivocally testified that only General Eckstrom’s office had access to account classification. When asked if there were any other offices of the State better suited to prepare the ACFR, and General Eckstrom responded no.

Among other notably troubling testimony was when General Eckstrom was directly asked whether he had hired a lawyer. He was evasive and explicitly denied having done so despite clear evidence in the possession of the subcommittee. The subcommittee read to General Eckstrom an email from an attorney dated that same day, notifying Senate staff that General Eckstrom had hired him. When given an opportunity to clarify, General Eckstrom insisted that the attorney was hired only for communication assistance.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

In a written response to General Eckstrom's testimony from March 7th, State Auditor George Kennedy and Remi Omisore of CliftonLarsonAllen LLP stated that cash reconciliations are the duty of the CGO to provide a control in the compilation of the ACFR. They also noted that performing the duties of the Comptroller General would inhibit their capacity to be objective and independent in their audits. They also reported not having the system access necessary to perform cash reconciliations.

The auditors agreed in part that the CGO doesn't have a responsibility for reconciling cash. However, they stated that General Eckstrom could have specified the two types of cash reconciliations necessary for the successful compilation of the ACFR: reconciliation to the banks and reconciliation to the ACFR itself. Reconciliations to the banks are managed by the STO, and reconciliations to the ACFR are managed by the CGO. However, a reconciliation to the ACFR is achieved through collaboration between the CGO and STO.

The State Auditor also supplied the subcommittee with Internal Control Reports dating from 2012 to 2022. "Reconciliation of cash and cash equivalents" was noted as a "material weakness" in auditing the CGO in 2013, 2014, 2015, 2017, and 2022. In 2012 it was reported as a "significant deficiency." In auditing the STO, "reconciliation of cash and cash equivalents" was reported as a "material weakness" in 2013 and 2015, and as a "significant deficiency" in 2017. "Reconciliations of cash and cash equivalents" wasn't reported as a deficiency or a weakness in audits of the STO once SCEIS was fully implemented in 2017.

The STO submitted a written response to General Eckstrom's testimony regarding reconciliations of cash on March 7th. The STO indicated that it is not aware of requests from the CGO to perform reconciliations differently. They also affirmed that "reconciliation of cash and cash equivalents" was reported as deficient by the SAO in 2013 and between 2015 and 2017, but that it was related to the legacy conversion from STARS to SCEIS and hasn't been featured in Internal Control Reports since then.

Information Requests

During the investigation, the subcommittee sent letters to General Eckstrom requesting correspondence surrounding the $3.5 billion restatement. The responses provided by General Eckstrom were either incomplete or not related to the request at all.

In response to the letter sent on February 17th, 2023, requesting correspondence related to the restatement itself, he replied by furnishing emails dated between October 2022 and January 2023. Based on prior testimony from General Eckstrom, it was the belief of the subcommittee that there was additional correspondence prior to October 2022 and after January 2023. Subsequently, an additional letter was sent requesting correspondence before October 2022 and until February 2023 on February 24th. To date, General Eckstrom has not responded to that request.

On March 9th, the subcommittee sent General Eckstrom a letter requesting all correspondence to the STO or any other agency showing that the CGO communicated its needs and expectations as to closing packages and reconciliations necessary to prepare an accurate ACFR. Further, the subcommittee asked for any correspondence from the CGO to the STO indicating that the STO's reconciliation methods and packages were inadequate or insufficient for the CGO to successfully compile the ACFR. On March 13th, General Eckstrom responded that he was "unable to locate" any pertinent correspondence dating back ten years and the information he provided was unrelated to the subcommittee's request.

Also in his March 13th response, the CGO provided a 2014 email between General Eckstrom and Mr. Rich Gilbert, the state's Interim auditor at that time. In the email Mr. Gilbert cites proviso 96.2, in which the General Assembly directs the Comptroller General "as the State Accounting Officer, to maintain a Statewide Accounting and Reporting System that will result in proper authorization and control of agency expenditures... and in the preparation and issuance of the official financial reports for the State of South Carolina. [T]he Comptroller General is given full power and authority to issue accounting policy directives to state agencies in order to comply with GAAP. The Comptroller General is also given full authority to conduct surveys, acquire consulting services, and implement new procedures required to implement fully changes required by GAAP". This proviso has been in place since FY2004.

Recommendations

Given the findings of this investigation, the subcommittee makes the following recommendations:

Whereas, the Comptroller General of the State is statutorily charged with implementing appropriate accounting procedures to consolidate accounts, in connection with lump-sum agencies, as necessary for proper accounting and for financial reporting in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles; for establishing rules and regulations for the uniform reimbursement, remittance, and transfers of funds to the general fund of the State as required by law; and for the oversight, operation, and implementation of The South Carolina Enterprise Information System Oversight Committee; and,

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

Whereas, the Comptroller General provides a detailed report of the state's spending in the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report, which is used by investors and rating agencies to judge the financial health of the State and is certified by the Comptroller General's signature as true and accurate; and,

Whereas, it is undisputed that Comptroller General Eckstrom, over the span of ten years, overstated the general fund of this State by a purported three billion five hundred thirty million and no/100ths ($3,530,000,000.00) dollars in previous Annual Comprehensive Financial Reports; and,

Whereas, in Note 15 of the FY2022 Annual Comprehensive Financial Report, released in December 2022, General Eckstrom provided a restatement explaining the three billion five hundred thirty million and no/100ths ($3,530,000,000.00) dollars overstatement, describing it to be a result of a "mapping error," having origins in the state's conversion to the South Carolina Enterprise Information System; and,

Whereas, General Eckstrom addressed the restatement on January 17th, 2023, before the Constitutional Subcommittee of the House Ways & Means Committee; and,

Whereas, General Eckstrom addressed the restatement on February 9th, 2023, during a budget hearing of the Constitutional Subcommittee of the Senate Finance Committee testifying that he notified rating agencies of the overstatement; that the rating agencies are only concerned with numbers "ten times bigger"; that he described the issue of the restatement as "troubling times," but denied needing neither additional staff nor funding from the State when asked directly; and,

Whereas, on the same afternoon, Senate Finance Committee Chairman Harvey Peeler charged the Constitutional Subcommittee with investigating the restatement further; and,

Whereas, the Constitutional Subcommittee reconvened on February 16, 2023, to again hear from General Eckstrom, whose sworn testimony that day was described by subcommittee members as "confusing", "obfuscated", "bizarre", "concealed", "nonchalant", "cavalier", "evasive", and "incoherent"; that subcommittee members found him incapable of answering any questions posited with confidence of certainty; that General Eckstrom did not take responsibility for a decade-long error wholly under his statutory purview; that at the request of the subcommittee, General Eckstrom provided a timeline of events leading to the restatement which contradicted his verbal testimony that he “knew of a problem” Summer 2022; that General Eckstrom demonstrated conclusively he knew of the issue at least as early as October 2022, but did not inform appropriate state leaders until December 2022; that the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee was not directly informed of the restatement prior to the February 9th budget hearing; that the subcommittee determined General Eckstrom to be “detached from the severity” of the restatement, and “deflecting blame” onto other offices and officers of the State; and,

Whereas, on February 17, 2023, the subcommittee sent General Eckstrom a letter requesting correspondence related to the Fiscal Year 2022 Annual Comprehensive Financial Report and the three billion five hundred thirty million and no/100ths ($3,530,000,000.00) dollars restatement; that the Office of the Comptroller General replied to that request on February 17, 2023, and furnished related emails dated between October 2022 and January 2023; and,

Whereas, in email correspondence submitted to the subcommittee, staff of the Office of the Comptroller General reported that deadlines to complete the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report impeded the capacity to properly perform an analysis of the document; that there was confusion over the dollar amount to report in the restatement; that there was a five hundred five million and no/100ths dollars ($505,000,000.00) “cash issue” for the South Carolina Department of Transportation, which was not mentioned in Note 15 of the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report, nor presented as testimony until March 7; that General Eckstrom referred to the restatement error as a “long standing riddle”; that there was discussion between General Eckstrom and staff regarding disclosing the restatement to the Electronic Municipal Market Access division of the Municipal Securities Rulemaking Board; and that Moody’s Analytics had serious questions and concerns related to the restatement, despite General Eckstrom’s testimony to the contrary.

Whereas, it was the belief of the subcommittee based on testimony provided on February 9, 2023, and February 16, 2023, that there was correspondence in addition to what was provided by the Office of the Comptroller General on February 17th, 2023; that on February 24, 2023, the subcommittee sent a letter to General Eckstrom requesting further correspondence dated before October 2022 and until February 2023 correlating with the Fiscal Year 2022 Annual Comprehensive Financial Report and the three billion five hundred thirty million and no/100ths

($3,530,000,000.00) dollars restatement, and that General Eckstrom has yet as of the date of this report to respond to this request; and,

Whereas, the Constitutional Subcommittee reconvened on February 23, 2023, to hear testimony from the Office of the State Treasurer, the Department of Administration, the Office of the State Auditor, and CliftonLarsonAllen, LLP; and,

Whereas, on February 23, 2023, State Treasurer Curtis Loftis testified under oath that the preparation and responsibilities of the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report lies entirely within the Office of the Comptroller General; that the office imposed tight, artificial deadlines in compiling the report in pursuit of unjustified accolades from professional associations; that the Office of the State Treasurer provides to the Office of the Comptroller General information in the form of closing packages for report compilation, and that the Office of the Comptroller General is responsible for specifying what information it needs in those packages; and,

Whereas, on February 23, 2023, Director Marcia Adams of the Department of Administration testified under oath that the restatement error is a result of misclassifying Audited Financial Statement agencies within the South Carolina Enterprise Information System; that this misclassification caused an exclusion of these agencies' transactions in the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report; that the Office of the Comptroller General is responsible for the proper classification of agencies within the South Carolina Enterprise Information System; that the Office of the Comptroller General notified the Department of Administration on December 5, 2022, of the error, and further requested the formation of a multi-agency working group between the Office of the Comptroller General, the Office of the State Treasurer, and staff of the South Carolina Enterprise Information System; that on January 6th, 2023, the Office of the Comptroller General identified a solution to prevent future restatements, which included properly reclassifying accounts in the South Carolina Enterprise Information System, as well as performing routine cash reconciliations; and,

Whereas, on February 23, 2023, State Auditor George Kennedy and Remi Omisore of CliftonLarsonAllen LLP testified under oath jointly, noting the disclosure of material weaknesses in their audits of the Office of the Comptroller General over the past ten years, citing weak internal controls as thematic; that, in their audits of the office, the lack of an appropriately robust quality control process in Annual Comprehensive Financial Report compilation was repeatedly noted, and that the lack of quality assurances processes inhibits the ability of the office to adequately review the document for accuracy and consistency; that there has been a recurring need to perform reconciliations of the state's pooled cash and investment so as to provide an appropriate control in supporting the allocation of cash and investments presented in the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report; and,

Whereas, on February 23, 2023, State Auditor George Kennedy also testified that had the Office of the Comptroller General regularly performed cash reconciliations, and had more staff members to ensure proper financial reporting, the error would have likely been prevented; and,

Whereas, on March 7, 2023, the Constitutional Subcommittee reconvened to provide General Eckstrom an opportunity to respond to testimony provided under oath from February 23rd, 2023; and,

Whereas, on March 7, 2023, General Eckstrom's testimony under oath was perceived as oblique by subcommittee members, and he continued to be incapable of answering questions directly; that General Eckstrom testified that the Office of the State Auditor and CliftonLarsonAllen LLP shared responsibility for the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report, which contradicted prior testimony from the Office of the State Treasurer, the Department of Administration, the Office of the State Auditor, and CliftonLarsonAllen LLP, who all affirmed that the responsibility of the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report belongs exclusively to the Comptroller General; that General Eckstrom continued to deny responsibility for the original account misclassifications in the South Carolina Enterprise Information System, which not only contradicts prior testimony heard from the State Treasurer's Office and the Department of Administration, but also his agency's website that affirms his responsibility as "chief fiscal watchdog" to "properly" classify accounts and their transactions; and,

Whereas, on March 7, 2023, General Eckstrom testified under oath that he was "surprised" that the State Auditor testified that his office had "weak internal controls" over the course of ten years, when in fact he had been informed annually of those weaknesses in the form of "Independent Auditors' Reports", and provided written responses acknowledging and addressing each of them to the Office of the State Auditor and CliftonLarsonAllen LLP; that the Office of State Treasurer was responsible for reconciling funds to the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report even though the State Treasurer previously testified having neither the authority nor the ability to do so; that General Eckstrom testified that he was responsible for subjecting his staff to strict deadlines, and speculated the error would have been intercepted sooner had he allotted them more time; that General Eckstrom, only when asked directly by subcommittee members, testified that there was a separate error in reporting the amount of funds for the South Carolina Department of Transportation, and that this separate error “netted out” the restatement amount to three billion five hundred thirty million and no/100ths ($3,530,000,000.00) dollars;

Whereas, the subcommittee members described the testimony General Eckstrom provided under oath on March 7, 2023, as “confusing”, “unreliable”, “inaccurate”, “deceptive”, and “opaque” testimony under oath on March 7, 2023; that General Eckstrom admitted the restatement amount exceeded three billion five hundred thirty million and no/100ths ($3,530,000,000.00) dollars, inconsistent with not only the amount reported in the Fiscal Year 2022 Annual Comprehensive Financial Report, but also his own testimony on February 9th and February 16th; that General Eckstrom absolutely denied having hired a lawyer, and when confronted with documentary proof of having done so, he testified under oath that it was for “communication” purposes only; and,

Whereas, on March 9, 2023, State Auditor George Kennedy provided the subcommittee a written response to the testimony of General Eckstrom on March 7, stating that cash reconciliations are the duty of the Office of the Comptroller General to provide a control in the compilation of the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report; that the duties General Eckstrom stated were the responsibilities of the Office of the State Auditor were instead the responsibilities of the Office of the Comptroller General; that performing the duties of the Office of the Comptroller General would inhibit the auditors’ capacity to be objective and independent in their audits; that they do not have the system access necessary in the South Carolina Enterprise Information System; and,

Whereas, State Auditor George Kennedy stated in his written response on March 9, 2023, to the testimony General Eckstrom provided under oath on March 7, 2023, that the Office of the State Treasurer manages cash reconciliations to the bank and the Office of the Comptroller General manages cash reconciliations to the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report itself; that both types of reconciliations are necessary for the successful compilation of an accurate Annual Comprehensive Financial Report and that a full reconciliation is only achieved through collaboration between the Office of the Comptroller General and the Office of the State Treasurer; and,

Whereas, on March 13, 2023, the Office of the State Treasurer submitted a written response to the testimony General Eckstrom provided under oath on March 7, 2023, indicating that the Office of the

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

State Treasurer was not aware of any requests from the Office of the Comptroller General to perform reconciliations differently; that reconciliations of cash and cash equivalents on behalf of the Office of the State Treasurer were found to be material weaknesses in 2013 and 2015, and as a significant deficiency in 2017, but that the material weaknesses and the significant deficiency was related to the transition from the legacy accounting system to the South Carolina Enterprise Information System, and was not found as a deficiency in audits after 2017 when the South Carolina Enterprise Information System was fully implemented; and,

Whereas, on March 9, 2023, in view of the testimony General Eckstrom provided the subcommittee that the State Treasurer was responsible for reconciling funds to the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report, the subcommittee sent a letter to General Eckstrom requesting that he supply correspondence with the Office of the State Treasurer or any other agency of the State delineating their needs and expectations concerning necessary closing packages and reconciliations to prepare an accurate Annual Comprehensive Financial Report; that he also provide correspondence that communicated the manner in which the Office of the State Treasurer reconciled cash was insufficient or inadequate for the Office of the Comptroller General to successfully compile the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report; and,

Whereas, on March 13, 2023, General Eckstrom provided a written response to the March 9 request of the subcommittee, stating that he was “unable to locate” any associated correspondence dating back ten years; that the subcommittee found the information General Eckstrom provided was either unrelated to the actual request, or was information previously received in the form of testimony; and,

Whereas, General Eckstrom supplied the subcommittee in his written response on March 13, 2023, with an email from 2014 between himself and Mr. Rich Gilbert, South Carolina Interim State Auditor for that year; and,

Whereas, in the 2014 email Mr. Gilbert cited proviso 96.2 of the Fiscal Year 2014 Appropriations Act, in which the General Assembly directs the Comptroller General “as the State Accounting Officer, to maintain a Statewide Accounting and Reporting System that will result in proper authorization and control of agency expenditure and in the preparation and issuance of the official financial reports for the State of South Carolina”; and,

Whereas, per Proviso 96.2 of the Fiscal Year 2014 Appropriations Act, “The Comptroller General is given full power and authority to issue accounting policy directives to state agencies in order to comply with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles; that “the Comptroller General is also given full authority to conduct surveys, acquire consulting services, and implement new procedures required to implement fully changes required by Generally Accepted Accounting Principles”; and,

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 2023

Whereas, Proviso 96.2 has been placed in the Appropriations Act each fiscal year since 2014, and can be found in the most recent Appropriations Act as Proviso 97.2.

Therefore, in view of the above, it is the collective opinion of the subcommittee that:

1. Comptroller General Richard Eckstrom has repeatedly demonstrated his inability to perform statutory duties of the office to which he was elected;
2. That Comptroller General Richard Eckstrom should be relieved of his duties of his office;
3. That the General Assembly begin proceedings to remove Comptroller General Richard Eckstrom from office “for willful neglect of duty or other reasonable cause, which shall not be sufficient ground of impeachment” pursuant to Title XV Section 3 of the Constitution of the State of South Carolina;
4. That the responsibilities of the Office of the Comptroller General be transferred to other appropriate offices of the State;
5. That the Senate Finance Committee recommend which offices of the State receive those responsibilities;
6. That the General Assembly advance an amendment to the Constitution of the State of South Carolina, to remove the Comptroller General as an elected office.

Join me as we bow in prayer: We do give You thanks, O God, for the wisdom possessed by each one of these leaders. May every Senator serving the people of our State continue to use his or her insight and dedication in ways that bring genuine blessings to the people each is called to serve. And as always, Lord, we ask that You embrace in Your care our women and men in uniform, keeping them safe and strong wherever they happen to serve. And ultimately, O God, may each and every one of us never doubt that it is always Your very real blessings in and of themselves which are truly "as measureless as the sand on the seashore." As always, we pray all this in Your holy and blessed name, O Lord. Amen.

Remarks by Senator KIMPSON

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. I just got back from the White House, just kidding. In all seriousness, I was traveling in New York City on law firm business. I want you to know that this is not my farewell speech but I certainly want my colleagues to know about developments which occurred last Friday. The Honorable Joseph R. Biden, President of this Country, nominated me to the Advisory Committee for Trade, Policy, and Negotiations. And I'm sure you're saying, "What do you know about trade policy?" And I would respond, "Not much." But I am the Senator of what I've always respectfully referred to as the epicenter of the ports -- the seventh largest port in the world, second largest on the east coast. Senate District 42 also has a multinational operation -- Boeing.

THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 2023

This is not a full-time job. This is a committee appointment. There will be regular meetings -- and I did not take this matter lightly -- there were many factors that went into my decision to accept this appointment. I have two small children -- Marleigh and Marlon -- these children have great names. I have a robust international law practice -- I have lead class actions representing millions of people around the country. Balancing my responsibilities -- first to my family, then to my full-time employment -- I needed to make some decisions so that someone could have a single-minded focus on the district. I'll come back at a later time to make my farewell speech, but I wanted to speak to the members of this Body because there have been a number of you who have congratulated me and expressed interest in knowing more about my appointment. Mr. PRESIDENT, I look forward to continuing to engage and fight for the downtrodden, those considered to be the backwash of systemic exploitation and oppression, and those who make this country great. You have a fighter in me, and I'll keep fighting until I leave.

On motion of Senator SETZLER, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator KIMPSON were ordered printed in the Journal.

Amend the bill, as and if amended, by striking SECTION 1 and inserting:

SECTION X. Section 16-11-740 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 16-11-740. (A) For purposes of this section only, "electric utility system" means all plants, facilities, assets, and equipment owned, leased, or operated for the generation, transmission, distribution, or storage of electricity, regardless of generation source, and all natural gas facilities, including natural gas pipeline infrastructure.

(b) if the amount of the damage or loss is ten thousand dollars or more but less than twenty-five thousand dollars, must be fined in the discretion of the court or imprisoned not more than fifteen years, or both;

(c) if the amount of the damage or loss is twenty-five thousand dollars or more, must be fined in the discretion of the court or imprisoned not more than twenty years, or both; or

THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 2023

(d) if the destruction or damage results in the death or bodily injury of a person, or an imminent danger to the life, health, or safety of a person, must be fined in the discretion of the court or imprisoned for not more than twenty-five years, or both.

The Senate assembled at 12:00 Noon, the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Isaiah 43:19a

Isaiah tells us that the Lord declares: “See, I am doing a new thing! Now it springs up; do you not perceive it?”

Please, bow with me in prayer: O most glorious Lord, there is hardly any way possible for us not to find ourselves bowled over by the rich and wondrous blessings You bestow. Your glorious gifts are without equal; Your care and Your creation itself remind us just how great is Your love. And so we pray today, dear God, that each leader in this Senate will strive to do everything that he or she can to help all of our citizens to share in the riches You bestow. Moreover, may that same desire to do what is right and just for our people be the motive for each and every one of our other elected officials as they also serve here in our State or anywhere else across this country. In every way as “new things” unfold, may You gain the glory, O Lord. In Your loving name we pray. Amen.

The PRESIDENT called for Petitions, Memorials, Presentments of Grand Juries and such like papers.

Section 40-1-77.(A) The purpose of this section is to expand economic opportunities and build a skilled workforce according to industry standards by allowing a worker to earn a paycheck while he fulfills applicable licensing requirements.

(B) For purposes of this section:

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 2023

(1) “Apprenticeship” means a United States Department of Labor-approved and registered apprenticeship or an industry recognized apprenticeship for an occupation or profession licensed by a South Carolina regulatory board or commission under the South Carolina Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation, as approved by the applicable licensing board.

(2) “Board” means a board, commission, or panel under the South Carolina Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation that regulates a profession or occupation and issues a license to an individual. (C) A board shall issue an initial license pursuant to this section to an applicant, if the applicant:

(D) If a board denies a license to an applicant under this section, then the board shall:

(1) provide the applicant with a denial in writing; and

(2) explain the reason for the denial in the written decision, such as whether the licensing entity determined that the applicant’s apprenticeship program does not correspond to the profession or occupation or level of license for which the applicant applied.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 2023

(E) A license issued pursuant to this section is subject to the same provisions of law governing a license for the occupation or profession.

(F) A board shall not require an applicant pursuant to this section to complete an apprenticeship for a greater duration of time than that which is required pursuant to federal law.

(G) A board may require an applicant pursuant to this section to successfully pass an examination only if the board imposes the same examination requirement on other license applicants. A board shall not require an applicant pursuant to this section to receive a higher score on an examination than the score required of other license applicants.

Amend the bill, as and if amended, by striking all after the enacting words and inserting:

SECTION 1. Section 56-1-395 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-1-395. (A) The Department of Motor Vehicles shall establish a driver's license reinstatement fee payment program. A person who is a South Carolina resident, is eighteen years of age or older, and has had his driver's license suspended may apply to the Department of Motor Vehicles to obtain a license valid for no more than ~~six~~ twelve months to allow time for payment of reinstatement fees. If the person has served all of his suspensions, has met all other conditions for reinstatement, and owes ~~three~~ two hundred dollars or more of South Carolina reinstatement fees only for suspensions that are listed in subsection (E), the Department of Motor Vehicles may issue a ~~six-month~~ twelve-month license upon payment of a ~~thirty-five~~ forty dollar administrative fee and payment of ~~fifteen~~ ten percent of the reinstatement fees owed. Of the forty-dollar administrative fee, the department may retain five dollars to cover the cost of operating the program. The remainder must be credited to the State Highway Fund established in Section 57-11-20.

(B) During the period of the ~~six-month~~ twelve-month license, the person must make periodic payments of the reinstatement fees owed. Monies paid shall be applied to suspensions in chronological order, with the oldest fees being paid first. The department may provide the person with a fee schedule that shows how much the person may pay every month to satisfy the fees that he owes in a timely manner. The department may allow a person to make payments towards the payment program online. However, the first and final payments must be paid in person at one of the department's branch offices.

(C) When all fees are paid, and the department records demonstrate that the person has no other suspensions, the person is eligible to renew his regular driver's license.

(D) If all fees are not paid by the end of the ~~six-month~~ twelve-month period, existing suspensions shall be reactivated.

(E) This subsection applies only to a person whose driver's license has been suspended pursuant to Sections 34-11-70, ~~56-1-120~~, 56-1-170, 56-1-185, 56-1-240, 56-1-270, 56-1-290, 56-1-460(A)(1), ~~56-2-2740~~, 56-9-351, 56-9-354, 56-9-357, 56-9-430, 56-9-490, 56-9-610, 56-9-620, 56-10-225, 56-10-240, ~~56-10-270~~, 56-10-520, 56-10-530, and 56-25-20.

(F) No person may participate in the payment program more than one time in any ~~three-year~~ two-year period. Once a person has participated in the payment program for a suspension, the person cannot enter into another payment program for the same suspension. If the person receives another payment program-qualifying suspension pursuant to subsection (E) while already enrolled in the payment program, the person cannot add the new suspension to the existing payment program. If a person who is currently participating in a payment plan commits a subsequent infraction for which his license is suspended for some period of time, then he may no longer participate in the payment plan for the prior offense.

~~—(G) The payment program administrative fee of thirty five dollars must be placed by the Comptroller General into the State Highway Fund as established by Section 57-11-20, to be distributed as provided in Section 11-43-167.~~

SECTION 2. Section 56-1-396(F) of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

(F) Qualifying suspensions include, and are limited to, suspensions pursuant to Sections ~~34-11-70, 56-1-120, 56-1-170, 56-1-185, 56-1-240, 56-1-270, 56-1-290, 56-1-460(A)(1), 56-2-2740, 56-9-351, 56-9-354, 56-9-357, 56-9-430, 56-9-490, 56-9-610, 56-9-620, 56-10-225, 56-10-240, 56-10-270, and 56-10-520, 56-10-530, and 56-25-20.~~ Qualifying suspensions do not include suspensions pursuant to Section 56-5-2990 or 56-5-2945, and do not include suspensions pursuant to Section 56-1-460, if the person drives a motor vehicle when the person's license has been suspended or revoked pursuant to Section 56-5-2990 or 56-5-2945.

SECTION 3. Section 56-10-240(A) and (B) of the S.C. Code are amended to read:

owner immediately shall obtain insurance on the vehicle or ~~within five days after the effective date of cancellation or expiration of his liability insurance policy~~ surrender the motor vehicle license plate and registration certificate issued for the motor vehicle.

(B) The Department of Motor Vehicles, ~~in its discretion, may authorize insurers to utilize alternative methods of providing notice of cancellation, refusal to renew, new policies written, and renewals to the department.~~ The department may not reissue a registration certificate and license plate for that vehicle until satisfactory evidence has been filed by the owner or by the insurer who gave the cancellation or refusal to renew notice to the department that the vehicle is insured. Upon receiving information to the effect that a policy is canceled or otherwise terminated on a motor vehicle registered in South Carolina, the department shall suspend the owner's driving privileges, license plate, and registration certificate and shall initiate action as required within fifteen days of the notice of cancellation to pick up the license plate and registration certificate. A person who has had his driving privileges, vehicle license plate, and registration certificate suspended by the department, but who at the time of suspension possesses liability insurance coverage sufficient to meet the financial responsibility requirements as set forth in this chapter, has the right to appeal provide documents showing that the vehicle was actually insured during the suspension period ~~the suspension immediately to the Director of the Department of Insurance department.~~ If the ~~Director of the Department of Insurance department~~ determines that the person has sufficient liability insurance coverage, ~~he shall notify the department and~~ the suspension is voided immediately. The department shall give notice by first class mail of the cancellation or suspension of driving and registration privileges to the vehicle owner at his last known address.

SECTION 4. Section 56-10-245 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-10-245. Whenever a person furnishes proof of liability insurance, or surrenders or has his registration or license tags confiscated for failure to produce proof of insurance, after the Department of Motor Vehicles receives notice of the lapse or termination of the required liability insurance, the department shall compare the effective date of the lapse or termination with the date of the proof of insurance or the date of the confiscation or surrender. If the department determines there was a lapse in the required coverage, the department shall assess, in addition to other fines or penalties imposed by the law, a per diem fine in the amount of five dollars. The fine provided for in this section and the two hundred dollar reinstatement fee pursuant to Section 56-10-240 ~~of the 1976 Code~~ must not be assessed if the person furnishes proof, as documented by his sworn statement, that the motor vehicle upon which the coverage has lapsed or been terminated has not been operated upon the roads, streets, or highways of this State during the lapse or termination, and the lapse or termination is due to military service or illness as documented by a signed physician's statement. The total amount of the fine provided for in this section may not exceed two hundred dollars per vehicle for a first offense. Revenue generated by the fine imposed pursuant to this section must be placed by the Comptroller General into the State Highway Fund as established by Section 57-11-20, to be distributed as provided in Section 11-43-167.

SECTION 5. Article 5, Chapter 10, Title 56 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

~~registering an uninsured motor vehicle. The director shall prescribe the exact format of this notice by regulation and shall adjust the amount of this fee annually as part of the order by the director of the Department of Insurance adjusting the uninsured motorist fee in relation to the average rate level increases for private passenger automobile insurance coverages by insurers in this State. Every person applying for registration of a motor vehicle and declaring it to be an insured motor vehicle, under the penalties set forth in Section 56-10-520, shall execute and furnish to the director his certificate that the motor vehicle is an insured motor vehicle as defined by the laws of this State, or that the director has issued to its owner, in accordance with Section 56-9-60, a certificate of self insurance applicable to the vehicle sought to be registered. The director, or his designee, may require any registered owner of a motor vehicle declared to be insured or any applicant for registration of a motor vehicle to be an insured to submit a certificate of insurance on a form prescribed by the director. The director must forward the certificate of insurance or bond to the insurance company or surety company, whichever is applicable, for verification as to whether the policy or bond named in the certificate is currently in force. At that time, and not later than thirty days following receipt of the certificate of insurance, the insurance company or surety company must cause to be filed with the director a written notice if the policy or bond was not applicable as to the named insured. The director must prescribe the manner in which the written notice must be made. The refusal or neglect of any owner within thirty days to submit the certificate of insurance when required by the director or his designee or the notification by the insurance company or surety company that the policy or bond named in the certificate of insurance is not in effect, must require the director to suspend any driver's license and all registration certificates and license plates issued to the owner of the motor vehicle until the person:~~

~~—(2) furnishes proof of financial responsibility for the future in the manner prescribed in Section 56-10-10, et seq. of this chapter. An order of suspension required by this section is not effective until the director has offered the person an opportunity for a contested case hearing before the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings to show cause why the order should not be enforced. Notice of the opportunity for hearing must be included in the order of suspension. When three years have elapsed from~~

~~the effective date of the suspension required in this section, the director may relieve the person of the requirement of furnishing proof of future financial responsibility. If the director determines that the fee applicable to the registration of an uninsured motor vehicle has been paid on the vehicle in question on or before the date that the insurance certificate was requested, no suspension action must be taken. The director shall suspend the driver's license and all registration certificates and license plates of any person on receiving a record of his conviction of a violation of any provisions of Section 56-10-520, but the director shall dispense with the suspension when the person is convicted for a violation of Section 56-10-520 and the Department of Motor Vehicle's records show conclusively that the motor vehicle was insured or that the fee applicable to the registration of an uninsured motor vehicle has been paid by the owner before the date and time of the alleged offense. soon as he receives them, or by the end of the expiration period of the temporary license plate, whichever occurs first, unless the provisions of Section 56-3-213 apply. A person who operates an item in violation of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, must be fined not more than one hundred dollars. This subsection does not apply to vehicles used solely for corporate research and development or trailers and semi trailers that have temporary license plates for the sole purpose of being moved from the manufacturer to the dealer's or purchaser's place of business.

(F) The owner of a foreign vehicle being moved into this State from a state in which the vehicle is properly licensed and registered has forty-five days to properly license and register the vehicle in South Carolina, unless his foreign registration is expired, in which case he must license and register the vehicle immediately.

(G) Nothing in this section may be construed to displace or effect the responsibility of a person to obtain insurance before operating a vehicle.

SECTION 11. Article 3, Chapter 3, Title 56 of the S.C. Code is amended by adding:

Section 56-3-213. (A) The department may issue solely to South Carolina residents, as proven by showing their driver's license or identification card issued by the department, special permits to operate any item otherwise required to be registered under this title when the item does not display the required license plate or registration card. In the case of a newly acquired vehicle, the department may issue a special permit pursuant to this section only when it has reason to believe that a person has made all attempts to appropriately register the item within the forty-five days of acquiring the vehicle. The department retains the authority to issue special permits at other times when extenuating circumstances exist. Special permits issued pursuant to this section must be valid for no more than forty-five days and must be affixed to the rear of the item in an unobscured and secure manner to operate. The department is the only entity authorized to provide a special permit pursuant to this section. There is no fee for special permits issued pursuant to this section.

(B) The provisions of this section do not apply to items registered in a foreign jurisdiction or used for corporate research and development.

SECTION 12. Section 56-3-2340(A) of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

~~license plates directly from the dealership. A dealership shall apply to the department upon forms approved and provided by the department. The department may request information necessary to ensure the integrity of the current licensing system. The department may allow or refuse a dealership the right to issue motor vehicle registrations or license plates based upon criteria established by the department. If a dealership previously is denied the privilege to issue registrations and license plates, upon meeting the established criteria, the dealership may be allowed to issue registrations or license plates. If in the opinion of the department a bond is necessary to ensure the payment of fees associated with the registering and licensing of a vehicle, the department may require a bond not to exceed the estimated value of new license plates and validation stickers held by the dealership or the department's designated agent. Unless disallowed by the department, any dealership that begins a transaction through a third-party vendor pursuant to Section 56-3-210(C)(2) that provides a service connection between issuing entities and the department must complete the entire transaction, including titling and registering the vehicle in the same manner. Unless extenuating circumstances apply, at the department's discretion, dealers may not obtain certificates of title, temporary motor vehicle registrations, or temporary license plates from the department's branch offices. A dealership must make attempts to apply to the department electronically, including utilizing digital scans of forms approved and provided by the department.~~

SECTION 13. Article 3, Chapter 3, Title 56 of the S.C. Code is amended by adding:

Section 56-3-214. (A) The department shall implement a quality assurance program to ensure the integrity of the electronic registration and titling program. Pursuant to this section, the quality assurance entity shall perform quality assurance reviews of data and submitted forms through the electronic vehicle registration system. The department shall develop program standards and specifications for quality assurance. Quality assurance entities must agree to the program terms, conditions, standards, specifications, and bond requirement in order to participate.

(B)(1) A quality assurance entity must be a statewide motor vehicle dealer association in which at least thirty percent and no fewer than two hundred members are licensed South Carolina motor vehicle dealers.

(2) If the quality assurance entity does not meet reasonable accuracy standards, the department may solicit for and select a different quality assurance provider without regard to this subsection and in accordance with the State Consolidated Procurement Code.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 2023

(3) If a statewide motor vehicle dealer association in which at least thirty percent and no fewer than two hundred members are licensed South Carolina motor vehicle dealers does not respond to a solicitation to be a quality assurance entity, then this subsection does not apply.

(C) The quality assurance entity shall review all required documents for all transactions for all applications of title and registration submitted by dealers in accordance with department standards.

(D) The quality assurance entity shall charge a fee of ten dollars per vehicle sold by the dealer. The ten-dollar fee is an official fee and may be charged to the consumer by the dealership. The fee shall be a standalone line item on a dealer invoice or bill of sale and is not calculated as part of the purchase price of the vehicle.

(E) The department may allow or refuse a dealership the right to issue temporary motor vehicle registrations or temporary license plates through the electronic registration and titling program should the accuracy rate of its documentation fall below ninety-five percent as determined through the quality assurance entity and reported to the Department of Motor Vehicles on a monthly basis or upon request by the department.

(F) If a dealership previously is denied the privilege to issue registrations and temporary license plates, upon meeting the established criteria, the dealership may be allowed to issue registrations or license plates again.

(G) The quality assurance entity shall carry a bond to ensure departmental standards and the protection of personally identifiable information remains intact. The bond amount shall be determined by the department.

(H) The department is authorized to collect a transaction fee from the quality assurance entity that transmits or retrieves data from the department pursuant to this section. The fee must not exceed five dollars for each transaction. Two dollars and fifty cents of each fee collected pursuant to this subsection These fees must be credited to the State Highway Fund as established by Section 57-11-20, to be distributed as provided in Section 11-43-167. The other two dollars and fifty cents of each fee collected pursuant to this subsection shall be retained by the Department of Motor Vehicles and earmarked in an account for the sole purpose of technology modernization. Fees in the account may be carried forward from fiscal year to fiscal year.

SECTION 15. Section 56-14-30 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-14-30. (A) Before engaging in business as a recreational vehicle dealer in this State, a person first must ~~make application~~ apply to the Department of Motor Vehicles for a license. Each license issued expires on the last day of the month ~~twelve-thirty-six~~ months from the date of issue, the "licensing period", and must be displayed prominently at the established place of business. The fee for the license is one hundred fifty dollars. The license applies to only one place of business of the applicant and is not transferable to another person or place of business.

(B)(1) During the dealer license application process, the department shall provide all information that would be needed in an audit or a review by its agents. Upon issuing a license, the department shall be reasonable in its requests to inspect or copy a dealer's records. If a complaint has been filed against a dealer, the department must present that complaint to the dealer in writing and allow the dealer the opportunity to cure before proceeding with punitive or enforcement action. Complaints arising from alleged violations of:

(a) Section 56-37-30(B) must be cured by the dealer within sixty days of being notified of the complaint;

(b) Section 56-37-30(D) must be cured by the dealer within forty-five days of being notified of the complaint; or

(c) Section 56-37-30(D) must be cured by the dealer within thirty days of being notified of the complaint.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 2023

(2) If the department determines that the same dealer has received a similar type of complaint within twelve months of a previous complaint, the department may proceed with an enforcement action against that dealer without regard to the time period provided in this subsection.

~~(B)~~(C) A licensed South Carolina recreational vehicle dealer may exhibit and sell recreational vehicles, as defined by Section 56-14-10, at fairs, recreational or sports shows, vacation shows, and other similar events or shows upon obtaining a temporary dealer's license in the manner required by this section. No other exhibitions may be allowed, except as may be permitted by this section. Any recreational vehicle displayed must be owned by the dealer holding the temporary license. Before exhibiting and selling recreational vehicles at temporary locations, the dealer shall first ~~make application~~ apply to the department for a license. To be eligible for a temporary license, a dealer shall hold a valid recreational vehicle dealer's license issued pursuant to this chapter. Every temporary dealer's license issued is valid for a period not to exceed ten consecutive days and must be prominently displayed at the temporary place of business. No dealer may purchase more than six temporary licenses ~~in any one licensing period every twelve months~~. The fee for each temporary license issued is twenty dollars. A temporary license applies to only one dealer operating in a temporary location and is not transferable to any other dealer or location.

~~(C)~~(D) The provisions of this section may not be construed as allowing the sale of any type of motor vehicles other than recreational vehicles at authorized temporary locations.

~~(D)~~(E) A person who fails to secure either a temporary or a permanent license as required in this chapter and sells a recreational vehicle is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, must be fined:

(1) not less than ~~fifty~~ one hundred dollars or more than ~~two~~ five hundred dollars or imprisoned for not more than thirty days for the first offense;

(2) ~~not less than two~~ five hundred dollars or more than ~~one thousand~~ three hundred dollars or imprisoned for not more than ~~six months~~ thirty days, or both, for the second offense; and

(3) not less than ~~one~~ two thousand dollars or more than ten thousand dollars or imprisoned for not more than two years, or both, for the third or any subsequent offense.

~~(E)~~(F) For purposes of this section, ~~the~~ each unauthorized sale of each a recreational vehicle where the dealer has not applied for and received a license from the department appropriate for that sale constitutes a separate offense. Nothing in this chapter may be construed to prohibit any law enforcement agency from enforcing the provisions relating to non-licensed dealers within the law enforcement agency's jurisdiction. The Department of Motor Vehicles shall enforce the provisions contained in this section. The ticketing agency shall retain fifty percent of all fines collected pursuant to this section.

SECTION 16. Section 56-14-40 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-14-40. (A) Before a license as a recreational vehicle dealer is issued, an applicant shall file an application with the department and provide information the department may require including, but not limited to, the name and addresses of individuals who own or control ten percent or more of the interest in the business.

(B)(1) Each applicant shall furnish a surety bond in the penal amount of ~~thirty~~ fifty thousand dollars on a form prescribed by the department.

~~(2) A new bond or a proper continuation certificate must be delivered provided to the department annually every twelve months during the license period before a dealer's license may be renewed. The dealer or surety, or the dealer's or surety's designee, must notify the department of any bond name or address changes during the licensing period. Notice must be provided within thirty days of a change. Proof of the bond and the proper continuation of the bond may be provided to the Department of Motor Vehicles on the same database used for vehicle insurance pursuant to Article 7, Chapter 10, Title 56.~~

~~(3) A dealer's license expires immediately upon expiration or termination of a dealer's bond, or a decrease of a dealer's bond below fifty thousand dollars.~~

~~(4) The bond must be given to the department and executed by the applicant, as principal, and by a corporate surety company authorized to do business in this State, as surety.~~

~~(5) The bond must be conditioned upon the applicant or licensee complying with the statutes applicable to the license and as indemnification for loss or damage suffered by an owner of a recreational vehicle, or his legal representative, by reason of fraud practiced or fraudulent representation made in connection with the sale or transfer of a recreational vehicle by a licensed recreational vehicle dealer or the dealer's agent acting for the dealer, or within the scope of employment of the agent or loss or damage suffered by reason of the violation by the dealer or his agent of any provisions of this chapter.~~

(6)(a) In instances of taxes or fees owed to the State that pertain solely to the process of buying, selling, titling, or registering vehicles by a recreational vehicle dealer, the department may maintain a cause of action against the dealer's surety bond and may recover damages if the owed taxes and fees are not paid in full within the time period prescribed by law. The department shall distribute the collected taxes and fees to the appropriate entity as prescribed by law.

(b) In the event of concurrent claims for the same vehicle from the owner and the State, the owner's claim prevails.

(c) This subsection does not apply to monies a recreational vehicle dealer has attempted to refund to a customer due to an error made by the dealer when the dealer can demonstrate that he has made a bona fide, good faith effort by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or by private delivery service acceptable to the Internal Revenue Service to ensure the customer's refund was delivered. For purpose of this subsection, the dealer should make a bona fide, good faith effort to refund the monies due to the customer within sixty days of the date of sale.

(7) An owner or his legal representative who suffers the loss or damage has a right of action against the dealer and against the dealer's surety upon the bond and may recover damages as provided in this chapter. However, regardless of the number of years a bond remains in effect, the aggregate liability of the surety for claims is limited to ~~thirty~~ fifty thousand dollars on each bond and to the amount of the actual loss incurred.

(8) The surety may terminate its liability under the bond by giving the department thirty days' written notice of its intent to cancel the bond. The cancellation does not affect liability incurred or accrued before the cancellation.

(C) If, during a license ~~year~~ period, there is a change in the information a dealer gave the department in obtaining or retaining a license, the licensee must report the change to the department within thirty days on a form prescribed by the department.

(D) If a licensee ceases to be a recreational vehicle dealer, he shall notify the department within ten days and return any license and all dealer license plates.

(E) In the event of a licensee's death, the personal representative of the deceased licensee may, with the consent of the probate court and upon an application to the department, continue the operation of the business covered by the license for the remainder of the licensing period, but no longer than eighteen months after the licensee's death. At the conclusion of the license period or eighteen months after the licensee's death, the personal representative must take all actions to apply for a recreational vehicle dealer license under his name and meet all requirements for a licensed recreational vehicle dealer in order to continue operating the business.

SECTION 17. Section 56-14-50 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-14-50. No recreational vehicle dealer may be issued or allowed to maintain a recreational vehicle dealer's license unless:

(1) The dealer maintains a bona fide place of business for selling or exchanging recreational vehicles, which must be the principal business conducted from the location. A bona fide place of business includes a permanent, enclosed building, not excluding a permanently installed mobile home containing at least ninety-six square feet of floor space, occupied by the owner or operator and easily accessible by the public, at which a permanent business of bartering, trading, or selling recreational vehicles or displaying vehicles for bartering, trading, or selling is conducted, wherein the public may contact the owner or operator at all reasonable times and in which must be kept and maintained the books, records, and files required by this chapter.

(2) The business must display a permanent sign identifying the business with letters at least six inches in height, clearly readable from the nearest major avenue of traffic.

(3) The business must have a reasonable area or lot to properly display recreational vehicles.

(4) A recreational vehicle dealer may use his license to conduct business on property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business. The property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business is deemed to be contiguous even if there exists a single intervening landmark such as a road or a railroad track. The property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business must display the same permanent sign as the bona fide established place of business pursuant to item (2). The property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business need not include a permanent, enclosed building or structure, but all records for business conducted on the property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business must be maintained at the bona fide established place of business. Any sales transactions pursuant to this section must take place at the location of the bona fide established place of business. Dealers applying for a license pursuant to this item must provide on the dealer license application the street address of the property adjacent to or the property within sight of his bona fide place of business and affirm that the dealer has met any local requirements to lawfully conduct business at that location.

SECTION 18. Section 56-14-70 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

~~Section 56-14-70. A license may be denied, suspended, or revoked if the applicant or licensee or an agent of the applicant or licensee is determined by the department to have:~~

- ~~—(f) been found by a court of competent jurisdiction to have violated any federal or state law regarding the disconnecting, resetting, altering, or other unlawful tampering with a vehicle odometer, including the provisions of 49 U.S.C. 32701-32711 (Title 49, Subtitle VI, Part C, Chapter 327);~~
- ~~—(g) refused or failed to comply with the department's reasonable requests to inspect or copy the records, books, and files of the dealer or failed to maintain records of each vehicle transaction as required by this chapter or by state and federal law pertaining to odometer records; or~~
- ~~—(h) given, loaned, or sold a vehicle dealer license plate to any person or otherwise to have allowed the use of any dealer license plate in any way not authorized by Section 56-3-2320. Any dealer license plate issued to a dealer pursuant to Section 56-3-2320 which is determined by the department to be improperly displayed on any vehicle or in the possession of any unauthorized person is prima facie evidence of a violation of this section by the dealer to whom the license plate was originally issued.~~

~~—The department shall notify the licensee or applicant in writing at the mailing address provided in his application of its intention to deny, suspend, or revoke his license at least twenty days in advance and shall inform the licensee of his right to request a contested case hearing with the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings in accordance with the rules of procedure for the Administrative Law Court and pursuant to the Administrative Procedures Act of this State. ~~—Upon a denial, suspension, or revocation of a license, the licensee shall immediately return to the department the license and all dealer license plates. The department may deny, suspend, or revoke an application or licensee for any reason prescribed in Section 56-15-350.~~

SECTION 19. Section 56-15-310 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-15-310. (A)(1) Before engaging in business as a dealer or wholesaler in this State, a person first must ~~make application~~ apply to the Department of Motor Vehicles for a license. Each license issued expires ~~twelve-thirty-six~~ months from the month of issue, ~~the~~ (licensing period), and must be displayed prominently at the established place of business. The fee for the license is one hundred fifty dollars. The license applies to only one place of business of the applicant and is not transferable to another person or place of business ~~except that a licensed dealer may exhibit and sell motor homes, as defined by Section 56-15-10, at fairs, recreational or sports shows, vacation shows, and other similar events or shows upon obtaining a temporary dealer's license in the manner required by this section. No other exhibitions may be allowed, except as may be permitted by this section. Before exhibiting and selling motor homes at temporary locations as permitted above, the dealer shall first make application to the department for a license. To be eligible for a temporary license, a dealer shall hold a valid dealer's license issued pursuant to this chapter. Every temporary dealer's license issued is valid for a period not to exceed ten consecutive days and must be prominently displayed at the temporary place of business. No dealer may purchase more than six temporary licenses in any one licensing period. The fee for each temporary license issued is twenty dollars. A temporary license applies to only one dealer operating in a temporary location and is not transferable to any other dealer or location.~~

(2) During the dealer license application process, the department shall provide any information that would be needed in an audit or a review by its agents. Upon issuing a license, the department shall be reasonable in its requests to inspect or copy a dealer's records. If a complaint has been filed against a dealer, the department must present that complaint to the dealer in writing and allow the dealer the opportunity to cure before proceeding with punitive or enforcement action. Complaints arising from alleged violations of:

(a) Section 56-37-30(B) must be cured by the dealer within sixty days of being notified of the complaint;

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 2023

(b) Section 56-37-30(C) must be cured by the dealer within forty-five days of being notified of the complaint; or

(c) Section 56-37-30(D) must be cured by the dealer within thirty days of being notified of the complaint.

(3) If the department determines that the same dealer has received a similar type of complaint within twelve months of a previous complaint, the department may proceed with an enforcement action without regard to the time periods provided in this subsection.

~~— Any person failing to secure a temporary license as required by this section is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, must be punished in the same manner as he would be punished for failure to secure his regular dealer's license.~~

~~— The provisions of this section may not be construed as allowing the sale of any type of motor vehicles other than motor homes at authorized temporary locations.~~

(B) A person who fails to secure either a temporary or a permanent license as required in this chapter and facilitates an unauthorized sale of a motor vehicle in violation of this chapter is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, must be fined:

(3) not less than ~~one~~ two thousand dollars or more than ten thousand dollars or imprisoned for not more than two years, or both, for the third or any subsequent offense.

For purposes of this section, the sale of each motor vehicle constitutes a separate offense. For purposes of this section, each instance of an unauthorized sale of a motor vehicle where the dealer has not applied for and received a license from the department appropriate to that sale is conclusively deemed to be a separate and distinct offense. Nothing in this chapter may be construed to prohibit any law enforcement agency from enforcing the provisions relating to non-licensed dealers within the law enforcement agency's jurisdiction. The ticketing entity shall retain fifty percent of any fines collected under this section.

SECTION 20. Section 56-15-320 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

(3) A dealer's license expires immediately upon expiration, termination, or a decrease of a dealer's bond below fifty thousand dollars.

(4) The bond must be given to the department and executed by the applicant, as principal, and by a corporate surety company authorized to do business in this State, as surety.

(5) The bond must be conditioned upon the applicant or licensee complying with the statutes applicable to the license and as indemnification for loss or damage suffered by an owner of a motor vehicle, or his legal representative, by reason of fraud practiced or fraudulent representation made in connection with the sale or transfer of a motor vehicle by a licensed dealer or wholesaler or the dealer's or wholesaler's agent acting for the dealer or wholesaler or within the scope of employment of the agent or loss or damage suffered by reason of the violation by the dealer or wholesaler or his agent of this chapter.

(6) In instances of taxes or fees owed to the State that pertain to the process of buying, selling, titling, or registering vehicles by the dealer, the department has a right of action against the dealer's surety bond and may recover damages if those taxes and fees are not paid in full within the time period prescribed by law. The department shall distribute the taxes and fees to the appropriate entity as prescribed in state law.

(a) In the event of concurrent claims for the same vehicle from the owner and the State, the owner's claim prevails.

(7) An owner or his legal representative who suffers the loss or damage has a right of action against the dealer or wholesaler and against the dealer's or wholesaler's surety upon the bond and may recover damages as provided in this chapter. However, regardless of the number of years a bond remains in effect, the aggregate liability of the surety for claims is limited to ~~thirty~~ fifty thousand dollars on each bond and to the amount of the actual loss incurred. The surety may terminate its liability under the bond by giving the department thirty days' written notice of its intent to cancel the bond. The cancellation does not affect liability incurred or accrued before the cancellation.

(C) If, during a license ~~year~~ period, there is a change in the information a dealer or wholesaler gave the department in obtaining or retaining a license under this section, the licensee shall report the change to the department within thirty days after the change occurs on the form the department requires.

(D) If a licensee ceases being a dealer or wholesaler, within ten days of that time, he shall notify the department of this fact and return to the department a license issued pursuant to this chapter and all current dealer license plates issued to the dealer or wholesaler.

(E) In the event of the licensee's death, the personal representative of the deceased licensee may, with the explicit consent of the probate court and upon an application to the department, continue the operation of the business covered by the license for the remainder of the licensing period, but no longer than eighteen months after the licensee's death. At the conclusion of the licensing period or eighteen months after the death, the personal representative must take all actions to apply for a vehicle dealer license under his or her own name and meet all requirements for a licensed vehicle dealer in order to continue operating the business.

The department may turn any records of sanctions over to the law enforcement entity with jurisdiction over the licensed location of the dealership for criminal prosecution.

Section 56-37-40. (A) There is created a Dealer Sanction Review Board that consists of the executive director of the department or his designee, a department employee with expertise in dealer licensing regardless of dealer license type, two non-franchise automobile dealers, and three franchise automobile dealers. All dealers serving on the board must have been in business no less than ten years and be in good standing with the department. The department is responsible for ensuring the board is seated at the beginning of each fiscal year. Unless the board decides otherwise or a board member no longer qualifies to remain on the board, individuals on the board serve for three fiscal years and may serve a maximum of nine consecutive years. The department in conjunction with the board should take efforts to ensure that dealers represent all regions of the State and the sizes of dealerships owned. The two statewide dealer associations shall choose their members. The chairperson shall be elected and rotated between dealer members serving on the board.

(B) Dealers licensed pursuant to this title may contest sanctions provided for in this article by written request to the department no later than thirty days after receiving formal notice of the sanctions being levied.

(1) All notices of sanctions are deemed received no later than thirty days after mailing by the department.

(2) No later than sixty days after receiving the written request from the dealer, the board must determine if the sanctions and corresponding points must be posted to the dealer's record as maintained by the department.

(3) No contested sanctions and corresponding points may be posted until the board has made a determination.

(4) The board's decision is considered final unless a dealer files a protest in administrative law court within twenty days of being provided written notice.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 2023

(5) The board may decide to decrease the number of points levied for a sanction, but the board may not increase the number of points levied for a sanction beyond those specified in this article.

(C) If a dealer licensed under this title does not contest sanctions within the time period prescribed in subsection (B), the assessed points are effective will be posted to the dealer's record maintained by the department.

Section 56-37-50. In computing the total number of points levied against any dealer after a particular violation, those accrued as a result of violations during the twelve-month period including and immediately preceding the last violation must be counted at their full value. Those accrued from twelve to twenty-four months preceding the last violation must be counted at one-half their established value, and those resulting from violations which occurred more than twenty-four months prior to the last violation must not be counted.

Section 56-37-60. (A) Any dealer who has accumulated points under the provisions of this article must have the number of points reduced by four upon proving to the satisfaction of the Department of Motor Vehicles that the dealer has completed a voluntary course related to the proper licensing of dealers in this State. Before an entity may administer the course, and every three years thereafter, the department must approve the course. Entities offering this course must provide documentation, to the satisfaction of the department, regarding the training provided during the course. The department is not obligated to offer this course on its own.

(B) No dealer's points may be reduced more than one-time in a three-year period by completing a course related to the proper licensing of a dealer in this State.

Section 56-37-70. (A) The department must suspend the license of any dealer for seven days upon the accumulation of twelve points or if the dealer has misused any department computer system or third-party computer system that contains department data, including allowing another dealer location other than the one licensed by the department access to the system.

(B) The department must suspend the license of any dealer for thirty days upon the second accumulation of twelve points within a three-year period from the end-date of the prior suspension.

(C) The department must suspend the license of any dealer for three years upon the third accumulation of twelve points within a three-year period. Dealers may not re-apply for any kind of dealer license for three years after the last issued points. Should the provisions of this subsection apply, then the department may deny applications for any type of dealer license when the applicant is a member of the immediate family of the suspended dealer. The department shall notify the licensee or applicant by certified mail at the mailing address provided in his application of its intention to suspend his license at least thirty days in advance and shall provide the licensee an opportunity for a contested case hearing before the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings pursuant to its rules of procedure and the Administrative Procedures Act of this State. A licensee desiring a contested case hearing must request the hearing in writing within thirty days of receiving notice of the proposed suspension of his dealer's or wholesaler's license. Should the dealer not request a contested case hearing from the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings within thirty days of receiving notice of the proposed suspension, then the suspension of the dealer license must go into effect. If the dealer requests a contested case hearing from the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings within thirty days of receiving notice of the proposed suspension, then the dealer may continue to operate until the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings makes a final ruling in the contested case. Upon the suspension of a license, the licensee shall immediately return to the department the license and all dealer license plates.

Section 56-37-80. (A) The Department of Motor Vehicles must immediately revoke the license of any dealer issued pursuant to this title upon:

(1) a conviction involving theft or possessions of a stolen vehicle, involvement with a chop shop, or a violation of law involving tampering with, altering, or removing vehicle identification numbers or markings; or

(2) a conviction in administrative, civil, or criminal court of a dealer violation of state or federal law regarding the disconnecting, resetting, altering, or otherwise unlawful tampering with a motor vehicle's odometer.

(B) Upon the revocation of a license, the licensee, or his designee, shall immediately return to the department the license and all dealer license plates. The department must revoke the dealer license plates if the plates are not returned to the department.

(C) The department may deny any application for dealer licenses for ten years after notification of the conviction if the applicant is a member of the immediate family as a dealer whose license has been revoked. At the conclusion of the ten-year period, a dealer whose license has been revoked may apply to the Dealer Sanctions Review Board to be relicensed. However, upon review of the board, a dealer whose license has been revoked may continue to be denied a dealer license of any type.

SECTION 24. Section 56-16-140 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-16-140. (A)(1) Before engaging in business as a motorcycle dealer or motorcycle wholesaler in this State, every person must first ~~make application~~ apply to the Department of Motor Vehicles for a license. Every license issued expires ~~twelve~~ thirty-six months from the date of issue and must be prominently displayed at the established place of business. The fee for the license is ~~fifty-one hundred fifty~~ fifty dollars. The license applies to only one place of business of the applicant and is not transferable to any other person or place of business, except as provided in item (2).

(2)(a) A licensed dealer may exhibit motorcycles and their related products at fairs, recreational or sports shows, vacation shows, and other similar events or shows upon obtaining a dealer's exhibition license. Before exhibiting motorcycles and their related products as provided in this item, the dealer shall first apply to the department for an exhibition license. The applicant shall provide the department with the name, location, and dates of the particular exhibition for which he is seeking an exhibition license.

(b) A dealer must hold a valid dealer's license pursuant to this section to be issued an exhibition license. Exhibition licenses are valid for a period not to exceed ten consecutive days, must be prominently displayed at the exhibition site, apply to only the licensee, and may not be transferred to another dealer or exhibition location. A dealer may not purchase more than six exhibition licenses ~~in any licensing period~~ every twelve months.

(B)(1) During the dealer license application process, the department shall provide all information that would be needed in an audit or a review by its agents. Upon issuing a license, the department shall be reasonable in its requests to inspect or copy a dealer's records. If a complaint has been filed against a dealer, the department must present that complaint to the dealer in writing and allow the dealer the opportunity to cure before proceeding with punitive or enforcement action. Complaints arising from alleged violations of:

(a) Section 56-37-30(B) must be cured by the dealer within sixty days of being notified of the complaint;

(b) Section 56-37-30(D) must be cured by the dealer within forty-five days of being notified of the complaint; or

(c) Section 56-37-30(D) must be cured by the dealer within thirty days of being notified of the complaint.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 2023

(2) If the department determines that the same dealer has received a similar type of complaint within twelve months of a previous complaint, the department may proceed with an enforcement action against that dealer without regard to the time period provided in this subsection.

~~(B)(C)~~ A person who fails to secure a license as required in this chapter has facilitated an unauthorized sale of a motorcycle and is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, must be fined:

(1) not less than ~~fifty~~ one hundred dollars nor more than ~~two~~ five hundred dollars or imprisoned for not more than thirty days for the first offense;

(2) ~~not less than two~~ five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned for not more than ~~six months~~ thirty days, or both, for the second offense; and

(3) not less than one thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars or imprisoned for not more than two years, or both, for the third or any subsequent offense.

(D) For purposes of this subsection, the sale of each motorcycle constitutes a separate offense. For purposes of this section, each instance of an unauthorized sale of a motorcycle where the dealer has not applied for and received a license from the department appropriate to the sale is conclusively deemed to be a separate and distinct offense. This provision does not apply to instances where a rightfully licensed retail dealer, pursuant to Chapter 15 of this title, accepts a motorcycle on trade to then sell at his retail location. Nothing in this chapter may be construed to prohibit any law enforcement agency from enforcing the provisions relating to non-licensed dealers within the law enforcement agency's jurisdiction. The ticketing entity shall retain fifty percent of any fines collected under this section.

SECTION 25. Section 56-16-150 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-16-150. ~~(A)~~ (A) Before any license as a motorcycle "wholesaler" or "dealer" is issued to an applicant, he must file an application with the Department of Motor Vehicles and furnish the information the department may require, including, but not limited to, information adequately identifying by name and address any individual who owns or controls ten percent or more of the interest in the business. The policy of this section is full disclosure.

~~(2)(B)(1)~~ Each applicant for licensure as a motorcycle dealer or wholesaler must furnish a surety bond in the penal amount of ~~fifteen~~ twenty-five thousand dollars on a form to be prescribed by the director of the department.

(2) A new bond or a proper continuation certificate must be provided to the department every twelve months during the license period. The dealer or surety, or his designee must alert the department of any bond name or address changes during the license period within thirty days of the change. Proof of the bond and the proper continuation of it may be provided to the Department of Motor Vehicles using the same database as vehicle insurance pursuant to Article 7, Chapter 10, of Title 56.

(3) A dealer's license expires immediately upon expiration, termination, or a decrease of a dealer's bond below twenty-five thousand dollars.

(4) The bond must be given to the department and executed by the applicant, as principal, and by a corporate surety company authorized to do business in this State, as surety. The bond must be conditioned upon the applicant or licensee complying with the provisions of the statutes applicable to the license and as indemnification for any loss or damage suffered by an owner of a motorcycle, or his legal representative, by reason of any fraud practiced or fraudulent representation made in connection with the sale or transfer of a motorcycle by a licensed dealer or wholesaler or the dealer's or wholesaler's agent acting for the dealer or wholesaler or within the scope of employment of the agent or any loss or damage suffered by reason of the violation by the dealer or wholesaler or his agent, of any of the provisions of this chapter.

(5) In instances of taxes or fees owed to the State that pertain solely to the process of buying, selling, titling, or registering motorcycles by a motorcycle dealer, the department has a right of action against the dealer's surety bond and may recover damages if those taxes and fees are not paid within the time period prescribed by law. The department shall distribute the taxes and fees to the appropriate entity as prescribed in state law.

(a) In the event of concurrent claims for the same vehicle from the owner and the State, the owner's claim prevails.

(b) This subsection does not apply to monies the motorcycle dealer has attempted to refund to a customer due to an error made by the dealer when the dealer can demonstrate that he has made an attempt by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or by private delivery service which is acceptable to the Internal Revenue Service to ensure the customer's refund was delivered. For the purposes of this subsection, the dealer should make a bona fide, good faith attempt to refund money due to the customer within sixty days of the date of sale.

(6) An owner or his legal representative who suffers the loss or damage has a right of action against the dealer or wholesaler and against the dealer's or wholesaler's surety upon the bond and may recover damages as provided in this chapter. A new bond or a proper continuation certificate must be delivered to the department annually before the license is renewed. However, regardless of the number of years a bond remains in effect, the aggregate liability of the surety for any and all claims is limited to fifteen thousand dollars on each bond and to the amount of the actual loss incurred.

(7) The surety has the right to terminate its liability under the bond by giving the department thirty days' written notice of its intent to cancel the bond. The cancellation does not affect any liability incurred or accrued prior to the cancellation.

~~(3)(C)~~ If, during any license year, there is any change in the information that a dealer or wholesaler gave the department in obtaining or retaining a license under this section, the licensee shall report the change to the department within thirty days after the change occurs on the form the department requires.

~~(4)(D)~~ In the event a licensee ceases being a dealer or wholesaler, he shall, within ten days thereafter, notify the department of this fact and return to the department any license issued pursuant to this chapter and all current dealer license plates issued to the dealer or wholesaler.

(E) In the event of the licensee's death, the personal representative of the deceased licensee may, with the consent of the probate court and upon an application to the department, continue the operation of the business covered by the license for the remainder of the licensing period, but no longer than eighteen months after the licensee's death. At the conclusion of the licensing period or eighteen months after the death, the personal representative must take all actions to apply for a recreational vehicle dealer license under his or her own name and meet all requirements for a licensed recreational vehicle dealer in order to continue operating the business.

SECTION 26. Section 56-16-160 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-16-160. No dealer may be issued or allowed to maintain a motorcycle dealer's license unless:

(1) The dealer maintains a bona fide established place of business for conducting the business of selling or exchanging motorcycles which must be the principal business conducted from the fixed location. The sale of motorcycles or motor driven cycles need not be the principal business conducted from the fixed location. A bona fide established place of business for any motorcycle dealer includes a permanent, enclosed building or structure, not excluding a permanently installed mobile home containing at least ninety-six square feet of floor space, actually occupied by the applicant and easily accessible by the public, at which a permanent business of bartering, trading, or selling of motorcycles or displaying vehicles for bartering, trading, or selling is carried on, wherein the public may contact the owner or operator at all reasonable times and in which must be kept and maintained the books, records, and files required by this chapter. A bona fide established place of business does not mean a residence, tent, temporary stand, or other temporary quarters.

(2) The dealer's place of business must display a permanent sign with letters at least six inches in height, clearly readable from the nearest major avenue of traffic. The sign must clearly identify the licensed business.

(3) The dealer's place of business must have a reasonable area or lot to properly display motorcycles.

(4) A motorcycle dealer may use his license to conduct business on property adjacent to or within site of his bona fide established place of business. The property adjacent to or property within sight of his bona fide established place of business is deemed to be contiguous to his bona fide established place of business even if there exists a single intervening landmark such as a road or a railroad track. The property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business must display the same permanent sign as the bona fide established place of business pursuant to item (2). The adjacent property or the property within sight of his bona fide established place of business need not include a permanent, enclosed building or structure, but all records for business conducted on the adjacent property must be maintained at the bona fide established place of business pursuant to this section. Any sales transactions pursuant to this section must take place at the location of the bona fide established place of business. Dealers applying for a license under this item must declare to the department on the dealer license application the street address of the adjacent property or property within sight of his bona fide established place of business and affirm that the dealer has met any local requirements to lawfully conduct business at that location.

SECTION 27. Section 56-16-180 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Bill.

The Committee on Judiciary proposed the following amendment (SJ-112.BM0005S), which was adopted:

Amend the bill, as and if amended, SECTION 1, by striking Section 34-11-90(f) and inserting:

(f) notwithstanding another provision of law, if a defendant receives multiple convictions within a three-year period of time in magistrates court for a violation of this section, the defendant may, after ten years from the date of the last conviction, apply or cause someone acting on his behalf to apply, to the court for an order expunging the records of arrest and the multiple convictions. This provision does not apply to any crime classified as a felony. If the defendant receives no other convictions during the ten-year period following the last conviction under this section and full restitution has been made on all checks that are the subject of the convictions, the court must issue an order expunging the records. No person may take advantage of the rights permitted by this subsection more than once. Neither the application for nor successful expungement of a qualifying applicant's record as authorized by subsection (e) precludes application for and expungement of a qualifying applicant's record under this subsection. After the expungement, the South Carolina Law Enforcement Division is required to keep a nonpublic record of the offense and the date of its expungement to ensure that no person takes advantage of the rights permitted by this subsection more than once. This nonpublic record is not subject to release under Section 34-11-95, the Freedom of Information Act, or any other provision of law except to those authorized law or court officials who need this information in order to prevent the rights afforded by this subsection from being taken advantage of more than once.

~~Indicates Matter Stricken~~

Indicates New Matter

The Senate assembled at 1:00 P.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Ezekiel 37:1

Ezekiel the prophet tells us: “The hand of the Lord came upon me, and he brought me out by the spirit of the Lord and set me down in the middle of a valley; and it was full of bones.”

Let us pray: Gracious God, we are so very conscious of the limits that surround us. For no matter how we might struggle to get things done on our own, we sooner or later realize there’s just so much we alone can often do during this troubled and unsettled period we’re living in. That is why we turn to You, O Lord, trusting in Your promises of a hope-filled future. Therefore, as You did in the past, we ask that You once again breathe afresh on these leaders, granting each of them the zeal and the determination to bring about good results for all of our people, not just for some. And may each Senator truly find himself or herself renewed by Your grace. In Your wondrous name we pray, dear Lord. Amen.

March 20, 2023

The Honorable Thomas C. Alexander
President of the Senate
State House, Second Floor
Columbia, South Carolina 29201

Dear Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

I am hereby vetoing and returning without my approval R-5, S. 478, which seeks to amend Act No. 549 of 1973 so as to reduce the number of members of the Board of Directors of the Broadway Water and Sewerage District of Anderson County ("District") from nine to seven. Although I appreciate the well-intentioned effort to address this local matter, because the manner in which S. 478 attempts to do so ultimately conflicts with the Constitution, I am compelled to veto the Bill.

Like several of my predecessors, I have been clear and consistent since the beginning of my administration that I will veto unconstitutional local or special legislation. The South Carolina Constitution expressly prohibits the General Assembly from enacting legislation "for a specific county" and "where a general law can be made applicable." S.C. Const. Art VIII, Section 7; S.C. Const. art. III, Section 34(1X). In the context of special purpose districts, the South Carolina Supreme Court has established that "a special purpose district limited to one county violates home rule." Cnty. of Florence v. W. Florence Fire Dist., 422 S.C. 316, 322, 811 S.E.2d 770, 774 (2018). Although the ratification of Article VIII, Section 7 "did not dissolve pre-home rule special purpose districts," the provision's prohibition of single-county laws "does apply to legislation enacted post-home rule that concerns a special purpose district created prior to the rule." Id. (citation omitted); see also Spartanburg Sanitary Sewer Dist. v. City of Spartanburg, 283 S.C. 67, 80, 321 S.E.2d 258, 265 (1984) ("Article VIII, Section 7 is not only applicable to special legislation creating a special purpose district, but also to special legislation dealing with special purpose districts created prior to the ratification of Article VIII or the amendment of prior special legislation." (citation omitted)).

Here, S. 478 indicates that the district established by Act No. 549 of 1973 shortly before the ratification of Article VIII, Section 7 is located entirely within Anderson County. See generally Op. Att'y Gen., 1990 WL 599181, at *1 (S.C.A.G. Apr. 23, 1990) ("A review of [Act No. 709 of 1990] and also Section 2 of Act No. 549 of 1973 reveals that apparently the entire district is located within Anderson County.") As a result, "the General Assembly can modify legislation regarding special purpose districts only through the enactment of general law." Spartanburg Sanitary Sewer Dist., 283 S.C. at 81, 321 S.E.2d at 266; cf. S.C. Code Ann. Section 6-11- 335 (establishing a process to add members to the governing body of a special purpose district). Accordingly, while I do not doubt that this Bill is intended to address an important local concern, I must veto S. 478 because the measure amounts to unconstitutional local, or special, legislation.

For the foregoing reasons, I am respectfully vetoing R-5, S. 478 and returning the same without my signature.

Yours very truly,
Henry McMaster

VETO OVERRIDDEN

The veto of the Governor was taken up for immediate consideration.

Senator GAMBRELL moved that the veto of the Governor be overridden.

The question was put, "Shall the Act become law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?"

The Senate assembled at 11:00 A.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Proverbs 19:4

In the Book of Proverbs we are told that: "Wealth brings many friends, but the poor are left friendless."

Join me as we bow in prayer: O loving Lord, we fully realize the blessings that are ours. Compared to those in many other places around the globe, we are a richly blessed people; we know that. For Your gifts to us are humbling; they touch our lives in so very many meaningful ways. Yet even as we affirm this in our prayer today, we know that not every South Carolinian shares in the blessings a good number of us take for granted. Sadly, far too many of our fellow citizens have very little. So that is why today, Lord, we ask You to embrace in Your care the needy around us: the poor, the forgotten, the disadvantaged. May this Senate, Lord -- may each of us -- care for all of our sisters and brothers in ways that are genuinely meaningful and loving, doing so in Your wondrous name. Amen.

Expression of Personal Interest

Senator DAVIS rose for an Expression of Personal Interest.

Remarks by Senator DAVIS

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. Thank you, members. It's the first time this session I've risen on a Point of Personal Interest. This is going to be the first time this session that you've heard me talk about the Compassionate Care Act. The empowerment of doctors on a very limited circumstance to authorize patient use of cannabis -- subject to continual physician oversight, subject to being dispensed by pharmacists, limited to conditions, for only which there is empirical evidence that there is medicinal benefit that cannabis can provide to a patient who is suffering. I am going to speak about it today because we are approaching the crossover deadline. I had honestly thought, based on my discussion with my colleagues in this Senate, that we were going to get this Bill over to the House this year -- where it was last year -- after passing twenty-eight to sixteen and then being ruled on the last day or week of session as being out of order because it had a revenue raising component to it -- because it had a sales tax imposed to help cover the cost of the program -- first time ever they have ever done that. The Clerk, Ken Moffitt, Sara Parrish, and everybody had reviewed the Bill with me and said this is not a revenue raising Bill. This raises revenue ancillary to a primary purpose of the Bill that is other than revenue raising. Don't worry about it! But it got ruled out of order. It got punked by the House over there and got our wings clipped. Back then, everyone was so angry, that we were going to try to take it up and put it on another Bill, but it got ruled out of order of not being germane. So that couldn't happen. That's okay. We're going to have it this year.

I'm going to give you the state of where we are right now with this Bill. The federal government has given, if possible, even more of a green light regarding letting states do this. The IRS has issued regs. Congress every year puts in the budget saying -- medical marijuana states are not to be challenged. The Treasury Department has issued regs to banks allowing them to take proceeds from medical cannabis sales. The Attorney General has told the U.S. attorneys to stand down and not enforce federal laws against any state that has authorized medical use of cannabis. The federal courts consistently, time and time again, have said this is an appropriate space for states to act. Yet, we still have those that say the supremacy clause and the oath they take to the U.S. Constitution prevents them from voting for this Bill. That is ridiculous, wrong and false.

The second thing I will say is this -- in addition to all those green lights that the federal government is now giving us, other states are now adopting this. North Carolina is about to become the 39th state -- their Senate passed it. Our Bill, this Bill, we debated for three weeks last year after eight years' worth of subcommittee testimony -- is more restrictive. What do I mean by that? It's restrictive, Senator HUTTO, regarding the conditions that can be treated by it. It's not wide open. It is very narrowly circumscribed where there is empirical data saying there is a medical relationship between taking it and a benefit. It's not anecdotal. It doesn't allow smoking. It requires a doctor on the front end to have an incredible amount of due diligence to say they have explored every other alternative before they have authorized cannabis for one of these limited purposes. We worked on the floor to have pharmacists involved in the process. We are one of the few states that has pharmacists involved. So, we have medical professionals at the front end and the back end.

This is the most conservative Bill and yet, we can't take it up for debate. Some of the reasons that I have heard recently as to why we can't take it up for debate is that this work product, Senator VERDIN, is not worthy of this Senate because it has not been vetted -- eight years of hearings! Over a dozen subcommittee hearings of testimony, three weeks of Senate debate with amendments adopted and this Bill isn't ready for this Senate to debate? Because it hasn't been vetted -- that is embarrassing. I'm sorry I didn't stand up for you, Chairman of Medical Affairs, when you were criticized for polling it out of committee. A Bill we have already approved out of committee and subjected you to the criticism from some of our colleagues that you did this Senate a disservice by sending up a work product that wasn't worthy of the Senate. Okay? There are people suffering! I sent to you -- a lot of you -- a text from someone you all know and love about what she is going through right now with her mother who is dying of pancreatic cancer -- who was in so much pain from chemotherapy, she had to be taken to the emergency room last night. She had to be put on opioids which knocked her out completely. When we know that cannabis can be a therapeutic substitute for that and increases the quality of life. This is embarrassing that we can't do this! It's embarrassing to me! It really is.

Now, I can go through all the aspects of this Bill that make it conservative, but I think after three weeks' worth of debate -- robust debate, debate in which I took up every reasonable amendment that was offered and incorporated -- I don't need to repeat that to you all. You know throughout this process there is a physician on the front end, a pharmacist on the back end, and there are regulations all throughout. You can't smoke it. You can't have it in certain forms. You can't appeal to children. You must have independent labs. Every single state law that has passed this -- I have borrowed from the best provisions to make this a Bill we can be proud of. A Bill that, I would say, is beyond precedent for having been vetted and yet we have people in this Chamber that say it hasn't been vetted! That is a lie! It's a lie and it's not compassionate! It's wrong! I've got to listen to phone calls from people asking me what the hell has happened! I waited my turn. I haven't talked about this. We took up CON repel. We took up school choice. We took up China and now we are going to take up Preemption. We took up other things. I waited my turn because it was understood that we were going to take this up because it passed twenty-eight to sixteen last year. A majority of the Republican Caucus passed it last year and the House clipped our wings on it and embarrassed our staff. I had to come back here, Senator HUTTO, and explain to Sarah Parrish and Ken Moffitt about how the advice they gave this Chamber had been overruled by Tommy Pope who was presiding over in the House. Okay? They were embarrassed. They gave good advice and this Senate -- if you recall, this Senate was ready to take action and try to put it on another Bill. We were going to do it until somebody objected to it for not being germane -- which the PRESIDENT gave the right ruling -- no complaint about that.

So, I apologize to the Chairman of Medical Affairs for the criticism that you got on this. I really am. I should have stood up for you. The reason it didn't get taken up in material part is because misrepresentations were being made to members regarding what the House would do with this Bill if it got sent over there. Information was relayed to members in the Senate that it doesn't matter if we take it up this year. The House isn't going to take it up so why do the heavy lifting? The House IS going to take it up! I've been working with Speaker Smith for the last year on getting this taken up. If any of those Senators wanted that as a reason, not to set this up for Special Order, they could have come to me and looked me in the face and said this is what we are hearing, and I would have set things straight. Senator HUTTO, they didn't bother to do that. They embarrassed me on the floor of this Senate when the Majority Leader stood up during the Motion Period and made a motion for Special Order. The opponents of this Bill screamed, "No", so it got to a roll call. Then when it went to roll call seven or eight individuals, who I had worked with last year, adopted their amendments last year, answered their questions last year -- they voted for this Bill last year, they went ahead and flipped and voted it down.

In the fifteen years I have been in this Senate, I have never experienced that, never -- never have! And it is not something I would ever do to another member. I would never do that! In fact, what I do is on subcommittees that I chair and I'm the floor leader, even if I don't like that Bill, I take it on as something I'm going to get passed. I'm going to get it passed, even if I had reservations. Genetic counseling -- I've got reservations regarding whether it needs to be licensed. But I respect the will of my colleagues. It's in my subcommittee and I'm going to come to this well and get this thing passed because that is what an honorable member does. I have not been treated honorably. The people of South Carolina have not been treated honorably. We are behaving in a way that is driven by fear, misimpressions and misinformation. We're going to be the 50th state to authorize this and in the meantime, we have people who are taking opioids for things they could have relieved by using medical cannabis. We have individuals with neurological disorders, people with Crohn's Disease, people with real maladies for which there is empirical peer review science saying this can help and we are telling doctors, "No!" I don't have an answer for all the people calling me saying, "Why couldn't you get this done?" I failed -- I failed!

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 2023

You know what? I am tempted to just take my name off the Bill and let somebody else be the primary sponsor. Maybe somebody else can get it done when I can't -- obviously after nine years. You know what the definition of insanity is? It's doing the same thing over and over again with the same result. Maybe I'm not the person to lead this thing and someone else needs to lead this. I'm happy to yield because it is far more important that this get done and doctors be allowed to do what doctors think is in the patients' best interests than me getting any credit for it. We had this debate regarding COVID and regarding Ivermectin, and in things doctors felt were in the patients' best interest. A lot of people rose and said, "Who are we to second guess these doctors?" If these doctors think this is in the patient's best interest, politicians do not belong there. When it served their political interest to say that they did or when it is in something like this, they don't. That is just wrong! Now I realize that this Bill is probably dead for another year. Thank y'all, thank y'all -- probably dead for another year. I weighed whether to say anything about it, just play an inside game, build up capital, and help people with Bills, be a good faith broker or subcommittee chairmanship -- do the job. That is not working for me anymore. It is not working anymore so I'm going to try a different approach.

Remarks by Senator VERDIN

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT and members of the Senate. Senator DAVIS, as I spent my time here, you're not replaceable. The service that you bring to us in our little point in time is immeasurable. As it relates to the Medical Affairs Committee, your service is incalculable. We all come here with certain abilities and certain skill sets and yours are -- I can't think of superlatives to describe your service to us -- your service to South Carolina. And as it relates to all these hard issues that we are dealing with in Medical Affairs -- the reason I come to you so much is because I don't have others in the committee coming and begging for this work. And I'm sure there are other committees that have the same regard for your work product. I do want to just acknowledge the fact that we have polled Bills. We have polled a lot of hard Bills -- we polled a lot of nine to eight votes out of this committee. And as it's been represented to the members of the committee on the poll, those substantive changes, a lot of language changes, but I'm going to confess there were only two members of the committee that actually saw the work and analysis of the staff -- others that may have looked at it very briefly there on the floor as the poll sheet was going around. But for the work of the drafting and the work of coming to the conclusion that we needed the poll -- it was just you and Senator CASH. There may have been a member on the committee that asked for material relating to the Bill and it was provided to them on a side-by-side basis. That document is available to anyone now. We're all sensitive about what we put out here because our time is valuable. But it was that valuable time in trying to cooperate with the consensus on both sides of this aisle to try to put some work product together for the consideration of the Senate knowing there was much more hard work coming down the pike. And there still is. Probably all are aware that Gressette 105 was occupied by an incredibly painful debate this morning for a couple hours, painful regardless of your perspective -- pro or con -- for the Bills. For those of you working on that -- thank you, I appreciate you.

But Senator, whether it is further committee work on that subject or it remains here, whatever the will of this Body is, I'm committed to you. I've done a lot of things differently here in the last year that I hope will be of service to you. As you well know, I'm like Senator MASSEY, Senator RICE and Senator GARRETT -- I like to sleep in my own bed at night, but I've only slept in my own bed twice this year on session days because I want to be of better service to you. So, whatever needs to be done in regard to the Senate's obligation, I'm committed to it. I just want to say -- I hope I'm not running out of time -- but I do want to take a minute or two to discuss this very subject of compassionate care. I don't think there are any of us -- and there's different membership now -- but I don't think there's anyone here when this subject was first introduced to us who was more diametrically opposed to the concept than I -- maybe someone, some equally and some that are still. Now my perspective might not have been driven by the same interest groups or stakeholders. I'll say my ear was not as attuned to law enforcement as some others, but I certainly wasn't neglectful of it. My ear was attuned, primarily, to medicine. And I'm conservative by nature, and I'm not wanting to get ahead of medical science and research but the overarching issue of compassion, as related to the inculcation of our faith, started me down the path of reconsidering my position; and then giving heed and attention to discern as best I can the medical science. And that's how I've come to the position of following your leadership and trying to be of assistance.

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 2023

And I don't like to even contemplate the crass political environment -- who's interested in what seats. I love serving here. I'm more hopeful of my service here than I've been in a while. So, for me, on a subject like this, based on the votes we've taken, in God's providence, it may just be that I have more opportunities to demonstrate for my constituents, who are still coming to my understanding. But that process is taking place with our electorate just as it has for many of us in here. So, as I've hit a stage in life with children, grandchildren and business, it's more and more borne upon me that we are not weathervanes. The day and age we're living in -- if I can be proud of anything -- and I hate to even use the word "pride" but I tell you I'm not on a phone calling a political consultant every time a hard vote comes down through here. I've never done it. And I would encourage all of us to do it less. Thank you for the opportunity to come behind my colleague and hopefully bring some clarification and the opportunity to lay out before you my commitment to build consensus and build better quality of life for all of the people that we represent, our family, our friends and our neighbors.

Remarks by Senator MATTHEWS

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. I didn't expect that I would come up to speak on this issue, so I am going to try to keep this as quick as possible. I was surprised the other day when this Senate took up the issue of whether or not we would place the Compassionate Care Act in its appropriate spot so we could deliberate and consider it. Senator DAVIS is correct -- every other special order or rules position vote has gone along the lines of placing what the majority has requested into that spot. So, I was surprised that a number -- even my own colleagues -- mistook that vote. Not a vote for it being placed in its proper place -- the question was not, "Do you agree with the Bill?" because no one had looked at the Bill. The question was whether or not the Senate should have given it its proper place. The question is not whether or not you agree with the Compassionate Care Act. The question was whether or not this Senator, who had worked nine hard years on this issue, deserved to have it brought before this Body. Should he have been given his opportunity just as you would have wanted if this had been your issue? I don't understand how so many of us didn't understand. The question isn't do you agree with him. The question is, do we owe our comrades in this Body the right to deliberate on their Bill?

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 2023

When one of the Senators said something about meritocracy, I looked it up. It is defined as a government governed by the merits of what your particular skills are. There is no one more meritorious to argue this issue because of all the work Senator DAVIS has done on this Compassionate Care Act. When I got here in 2015, he was here with the pictures. He was here with the families. We were allowed to talk to people, to find out what was important. He was doing this outside of committee meetings. One of the first committees I was assigned to be on was the subcommittee for the Compassionate Care Act. I'm going to tell you something, I've been on a lot of subcommittees, but this subcommittee was one of substance. It was not a subcommittee where you sit in a room and listen and then go on about your business. Senator DAVIS had a subcommittee where he gave us assignments. I have never been on a subcommittee that required so much work. He gave us an assignment and respected us enough to carry it out. He expected at the next committee meeting that we would have a response. He knew that I -- and this is where we get to the meritocracy issue -- did a lot of criminal defense and civil defense work. So, what did he do? He placed me in charge of the subcommittee dealing with SLED. Now, I have a lot of experience and respect for SLED as well as my police departments and sheriff's departments. I met with the Sheriff's Association. I met with the city police officers. During the summer when everybody else was going about their business I had not one, not two, but three meetings in my conference room with the stakeholders. What did I hear? We went through all of the elements. We went through all of the different chapters of this Bill, and I asked them how can we make this better for you? How can we make this better so that we take into consideration your concerns. The number one concern that I always heard was this is a gateway drug. Well, it doesn't say it in here. How do we fix that? When Senator KIMPSON was dealing with doctors and medical staff -- that was his assignment -- they took care of the gateway drug issue. When it related to police officers being allowed to use medical marijuana, we took care of that issue. I don't know what else we could have done to not give everybody their due. In other words, deliberate.

I am surprised that this Senate has taken it up in special order, since I've been here, we started out with certificate of need, we went to two different school voucher Bills, then we went to the six-week ban. We say we have compassionate care about the unborn. Well, this was a Compassionate Care Act that cares about children that are alive, those that are here. If you really have compassion, we should be taking up this Bill. You can vote against it. We should take up this Bill. We shouldn't be dealing with Chinese land blocking. We should be dealing with issues that really deserve to be placed in the special order slot. We should respect the work that our fellow Senator has given to this Bill. This Body is supposed to be a deliberative Body. We need to start deliberating with compassion.

Remarks by Senator K. JOHNSON

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. Members, I'm going to flip the script a little bit. I don't necessarily want to talk about medical marijuana, but I will say this. I listened to Senator DAVIS, and if anybody said that the Bill has not been vetted, I know differently. I know the Bill has been vetted. To the point that Senator MATTHEWS made, there was a time when I was on that subcommittee and until this day, I spent more time on that subcommittee Bill than I did any other Bill since I have been here. Albeit I was on the other side of the issue, I think Senator DAVIS will concur that we have disagreed on this Bill, but that it has been a respectful disagreement. I've always commended him on constructing this Bill much better than the previous one. The Bill that we are debating is far better than the Bill that we first created years ago when I sat on the subcommittee, but I didn't want to talk about the medical marijuana issue.

I felt like since we were talking about Bills that deal with health care, I want to just remind the Body that for the last several years, I have filed a Bill to expand Medicaid. Senator DAVIS, I know you're frustrated because your Bill hasn't passed but your Bill has been getting hearings, moved to committees, and it's being voted on in both bodies; however, my Bill to expand Medicaid has never even received a committee hearing. We're talking about whether we want to agree or disagree that medical marijuana saves lives and if it has medicinal value -- I'm not quite there yet. I do know that if Medicaid expansion is passed that will save lives in South Carolina. We have two to three hundred thousand South Carolinians who fall between that gap. We can fix this and help deserving people to qualify and get affordable quality health care. As I said, for some reason, that Bill can't even get a committee hearing. I'll just end by saying that if we really want to provide compassionate care in South Carolina, there should be no debate about Medicaid expansion because it will provide just that.

On motion of Senator McLEOD, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator K. JOHNSON were ordered printed in the Journal.

Remarks by Senator McLEOD

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. I didn't think I'd be up here today but, I just wanted to take a quick minute to say thank you to Senator DAVIS. This has been his fight for longer than I've served in this Chamber, and it's been my fight for as long as I've served in this Chamber, but it was also my fight when I served in the South Carolina House.

To see the amount of time, energy, effort and resources that have been expended just to try and pass a Bill that would help so many people across South Carolina. A Bill that would help me. As I look around, I see every day that I'm still the only one in this Chamber who lives with a chronic health condition and wears my mask faithfully even when it's hot -- even when I'm tired -- even when I don't feel like it.

When I was elected in 2016 to this Body, I often talked about having to relearn so many of the things that I had to -- I'm sorry, to unlearn so many of the things I had to learn when I was in the House for six years. But what I appreciated most about serving in this Body seemed to be when I got here not just the consideration for each other but the deliberation that Senator MATTHEWS mentioned. It was the fact that I got to leave the chaos of the House. Some of it I missed, a lot of it I didn't. When I got here, everybody seemed intentional about the work that we're supposed to do. They seemed to be considerate and respectful of each other's opinions, perspectives and politics.

So, to now witness what I did when this Bill was brought up for Special Order -- knowing that I have voted against many Bills that have been set for Special Order over my objection -- even after putting my name on a Bill or Bills in opposition to those Bills. I still sat. I still stood respectfully and did the work and asked the questions and voted against it if I was opposed to it. But to have an issue like this that not only impacts me personally but a lot of us in here who suffer with chronic health conditions -- or to have family members and constituents who suffer from chronic health conditions. In fact, I believe next week I'll be meeting with a family that I met with a few weeks ago right in the room next door. A mom who cried and talked about losing her son to an opioid overdose. Those are the discussions -- those are the voices that need to be represented in this debate.

It can't just be about politics. It can't just be about whether we would use marijuana or whether we would have a family member who needs medical marijuana. It has to be bigger than that. Aren't we bigger than that?

To see and hear the passion, frustration, and anger in Senator DAVIS' voice earlier -- it took me back. It took me back to when I stood here, and I have co-sponsored that Bill and worked with him every year, every time he's introduced it and I did the same thing in the House. I served on 3M in the House and tried to get it through. I served on Medical Affairs here in the Senate and worked with all of you to try and just think outside of yourself. Think about those who suffer with cancer. Think about those who suffer from PTSD, epilepsy, lupus, sickle cell -- all the chronic health conditions that we either have or we know somebody who has and who suffers daily. And because this is an option, why would we stand in the way of getting people the help and the support they need? I'm not going to, I know I'm probably at my five minutes. I just want you to think about that, and to think about doing things differently for the right reasons for all of us. Thank you.

Remarks by Senator FANNING

There was a train; the train was loaded down, Senator SABB, with all kinds of things that they were taking to the next town. This train was a fairly new train but had been trying for years to start its work as a courier of goods and services across the mountain to the next town that had been isolated for years.

The train is loaded down with stuff. It starts moving up the hill, chug, chug, chug, chug, chug. Eventually, about halfway up the hill, the train gave out. It got stuck halfway up the hill. You may remember this story. It was stuck. It couldn't go back down. If you'd release, you'd go back down to the town. It couldn't make it over the hill, so it was stuck there on the tracks. And the folks in the next town couldn't get the goods and services they'd been waiting on forever, and ever, and ever, and ever -- real needs that they had. But the answers to their needs were sitting on this train that was stuck on the tracks. And they couldn't go down because they couldn't do anything about it; they didn't have the strength to go up the tracks. So finally, Senator MATTHEWS, another train came by. This was a big locomotive -- it came up there booking it! Chug, chug, chug, chug, all the way up to the train, and they waived them down and said, "Stop! Save us! Save us!"

And so the train stopped and said, "What do you need?" And they said, "We need help getting over this hill. Will you help us get over the hill?" And it said, "I'm too busy. I can't do that. I have a lot of other things I need to do." So it went on by.

The train tried again -- couldn't do it again. Another train came by. This one was a passenger train. And said, "No, we've got other priorities. We can't really help you." They asked for help. Then finally, you'll remember this, a little blue engine came putting up the tracks. Little blue engine -- shiny, new little, tiny little train comes up next to him -- and the people waved him down saying, "Look, we're loading up with things we know children need. We're loading up with things that we know that the doctors have told us will help our kids in the community in the next town and help them with what they need, but we're stuck here on the tracks and nobody will help us. We've done the work to get over the hill, but nobody is going to help us." But the blue engine said, "I'll try. I've never been up the track myself at all before, but at least I'll try."

And so that little engine started -- it connected with the train -- and started going putter, putter, putter, putter, putter, putter. It started inching up over the hill. And the little blue engine started pulling it. And as he did, you know what the little engine was saying, do you not? "I think I can. I think I can. I think I can. I think I can." Everybody on the train behind him is saying, "I think I can. I think I can." Because this has been going on forever and ever and ever, no one thought it could be done. But there was one little blue engine that said you know what, I think I can do it.

And he worked his way up the hill pulling the train behind him -- "I think I can, I think I can." He crested over the top, and all of a sudden, the people in the town said, "Yay. We're finally going to get the help that our doctors have said we need! We're finally going to get the medicine we've been needing for years!" And as soon as he crested, the little blue engine went down the hill and said, "I knew I could. I knew I could. I knew I could. I knew I could."

I share that story with you to share that there have been children and elderly people waiting on an answer to their medical conditions. Kids with epilepsy, old folks that are suffering from all kinds of debilitating diseases that other states, with their trains, have been able to get the help to the citizens that need it, but not in South Carolina. We let it get stuck, and then all of a sudden, hauling from Beaufort, South Carolina, Senator TOM DAVIS was the little blue engine that could. He went up and took that thing that was stuck there forever. And for eight years -- putter, putter, putter, putter -- started hauling this over the top. And when I say hauling this over the top, when you have a problem with the Bill, he said, "How" can he change the Bill to get you onboard? If you don't think my analogy is working, if you don't like the Bill, what can we do to get you onboard?

He was willing to make changes to this Bill that, I'm guessing, Senator DAVIS, you didn't want to make; but you were willing to make the changes to get everyone onboard. And finally, in this story, we get over the hill. The little engine that could -- Senator DAVIS -- was able to get everyone onboard, and we passed this Bill with a vote of twenty-eight to sixteen. We took it down the mountain, and we got down the mountain, and the House said, "Go back." And now the Senate is going to make us spend another eight years with the little engine that could pulling it up.

Senator DAVIS, we thank you for the work that you've done for eight years on this Bill. From the bottom of my heart, thank you. But more importantly, we don't just owe Senator DAVIS the right to take up his Bill -- that we told him he was going to have -- we owe the citizens we represent to take up this Bill. The vote was not twenty-three to twenty-two -- the vote was twenty-eight to sixteen -- which proves that the little engine from Beaufort County took the Bill over the hill. We recognized that and we said, "Since the House screwed you on the other side of the hill, we'll give you a shot to do it again." This Bill is not what started the legislative session last year. This Bill, if I'm correct, Senator DAVIS, was what we finished with last year.

So for every one of you that didn't want to get onboard -- but Senator DAVIS changed his Bill to get you onboard -- that's the same Bill we're having now. It's the same Bill we sent over to the House. I don't know what y'all are doing. I am not asking you to pass the Bill at all. I respect your stance on the Bill. I'm asking you to debate the freaking Bill. Do the citizens of South Carolina not at least deserve the right to have us debate a Bill that meets their needs? A Bill that's already crossed over the hill. Why would we not debate a Bill that's exactly like the one we passed last year by an overwhelming twenty-eight to sixteen margin? And if anyone objects, couldn't we at least debate it and allow you to object again in the end. Don't our citizens deserve that.

Picture the citizens in the next town that have been waiting eight years! Children waiting for their medicine. Old folks waiting for their medicine. We have a Senator that has now made this Bill so conservative -- there's one way to get marijuana. If this passes, there would be two. One way is to drive to Five Points, roll down your window, and get marijuana. The other way is call your doctor, make an appointment, go see the doctor, have the doctor document that he tried everything else -- the only thing left after he tried everything else was to get medical cannabis. He still can't give it to you. You have to wait and go some place to get it and use it.

Now, which way do you think people are going to abuse it? Rolling down the window at Five Points or following this? He listened to you -- the little engine that could -- to try to get everybody onboard to get over the hill -- he listened to each and every one of us. We passed this twenty-eight to sixteen. And I'm not saying personally I feel like I owe you, Senator DAVIS, but I think more importantly, we owe the citizens we represent to at least have a debate on the Bill.

Is preemption any more or less important than this? Banning aliens from owning property? Is it any more or less important than this? Is passing one but not two voucher Bills when the Body has already spoken on this any more or less important?

When we make decisions, we are defining our relationship with the House, and so I hope we think about the decisions we have made this year of us getting our Bill over the hill to them. When we sent it over to them last year, they flipped their finger at us and sent us back on the other side of the mountain. Whether we act or don't act is sending a message. So, if we don't send it back to them, we are saying, you are more powerful than we are. Is that the message that we want to send?

So, if we're not tackling this eight-year issue, what's our plan? If we're not going to do this, let's say we persuade the little engine that could, Senator DAVIS, to keep his name sponsoring the Bill. What's the plan? What do we tell him? Try again next year? Try again next year? If this is not the plan, what are we going to do to keep that engine from going over the hill -- what is it that we're going to do? We've got two ways to tackle this. We've already missed the boat on one. I hope we don't miss the other. Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT.

Indicates New Matter

The Senate assembled at 12:00 Noon, the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Psalm 57:1

We hear the Psalmist declare: "Be merciful to me, O God, be merciful to me; for in you my soul takes refuge; in the shadow of your wings I will take refuge, until the destroying storms pass by."

Bow with me as we pray, please: Glorious Lord, everywhere around us here in our State we see evidence of the absolute wonder of Your creation. Nature's springtime gifts warm our hearts. Yet today we cannot get out of our minds the death and destruction to the west of us in Mississippi, Alabama and even in Georgia. We pray, Lord, that You will hold in Your loving arms all who have had their world turned upside down by terrifying winds, horrendous loss of property and the overwhelming death of loved ones -- including the innocent souls killed yesterday at the Covenant Church School in Nashville. Dear God, this Senate prayerfully embraces all of our sisters and brothers who have lost so very much, even as we humbly thank You for the blessings You give to us by Your grace. In Your name we pray, dear Lord. Amen.

Remarks by Senator KIMPSON

Thank you, MR. PRESIDENT, may I have everyone's attention? When the gunshots began to pop, Mrs. Polly Sheppard first assumed it was faulty wiring in the building. Then came the shouts, the agony -- as she hid under a table in the kitchen in the back of the Fellowship Hall. Dylan Roof killed our brethren -- the Reverend Clementa Pinckney first, and then shot Reverend Daniel Simmons -- who had rushed to assist his pastor. The gunman kept shooting. Mrs. Sheppard said, "I could hear the clips falling." From under the table, she called 911. She watched as this gunman approached her. She began to recite "The Lord is my shepard, I shall not want, he makeith me to lie down in green pastures, he leadeth me beside the still waters." "I had given up," she said, "My body was loose, I was just waiting for the bullet." Mrs. Sheppard continued to recite, "I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil for thou art with me." When the gunman reached Mrs. Sheppard, the killer stopped and asked her, "Did I shoot you yet?" She responded, "No." His response was that he was not going to shoot her.

It is my humble honor and privilege to introduce this Body to two of the survivors of the shooting on that night -- Mrs. Felicia Sanders and Mrs. Polly Sheppard. These two ladies and Mr. Sanders, you can please stand. Mr. Sanders is a father, a nephew and a cousin of the deceased. These three individuals lived. They lived -- and they continue to live to champion the cause and the calls of the righteous. They are here today to advocate for South Carolina to join the rest of the Nation as we pass hate crime legislation. This morning, they are championing this very critical legislation for our State, our business interests, and our humanity. And they are traveling across this Country to make sure that those who died on that night did not die in vain. They have engaged in the fight for background checks. What sense does it make to have a background check if the background check does not have to be complete? Why do you need an AR--15 to hunt deer? And these are the voices that we have been listening to since the horrific murder on that evening and the voices that the Nation has been listening to as they advocate for us to observe humanity and that we respect one another.

I want the Senate to take some time, Mr. PRESIDENT, to join me in welcoming these righteous freedom fighters who have taken their time to advocate for hate crime legislation and a myriad of other issues such as the preservation of the church and many other eleemosynary, non-profit organizations. Mr. PRESIDENT let's welcome these courageous freedom fighters to the Senate.

On motion of Senator MATTHEWS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator KIMPSON were ordered printed in the Journal.

months to allow time for payment of reinstatement fees. If the person has served all of his suspensions, has met all other conditions for reinstatement, and owes ~~three~~ two hundred dollars or more of South Carolina reinstatement fees only for suspensions that are listed in subsection (E), the Department of Motor Vehicles may issue a ~~six-month~~ twelve-month license upon payment of a ~~thirty-five~~ forty dollar administrative fee and payment of ~~fifteen~~ ten percent of the reinstatement fees owed. Of the forty-dollar administrative fee, the department may retain five dollars to cover the cost of operating the program. The remainder must be credited to the State Highway Fund established in Section 57-11-20.

(B) During the period of the ~~six-month~~ twelve-month license, the person must make periodic payments of the reinstatement fees owed. Monies paid shall be applied to suspensions in chronological order, with the oldest fees being paid first. The department may provide the person with a fee schedule that shows how much the person may pay every month to satisfy the fees that he owes in a timely manner. The department may allow a person to make payments towards the payment program online. However, the first and final payments must be paid in person at one of the department's branch offices.

(C) When all fees are paid, and the department records demonstrate that the person has no other suspensions, the person is eligible to renew his regular driver's license.

(D) If all fees are not paid by the end of the ~~six-month~~ twelve-month period, existing suspensions shall be reactivated.

If the person receives another payment program-qualifying suspension pursuant to subsection (E) while already enrolled in the payment program, the person cannot add the new suspension to the existing payment program. If a person who is currently participating in a payment plan commits a subsequent infraction for which his license is suspended for some period of time, then he may no longer participate in the payment plan for the prior offense.

If the department determines there was a lapse in the required coverage, the department shall assess, in addition to other fines or penalties imposed by the law, a per diem fine in the amount of five dollars. The fine provided for in this section and the two hundred dollar reinstatement fee pursuant to Section 56-10-240 ~~of the 1976 Code~~ must not be assessed if the person furnishes proof, as documented by his sworn statement, that the motor vehicle upon which the coverage has lapsed or been terminated has not been operated upon the roads, streets, or highways of this State during the lapse or termination, and the lapse or termination is due to military service or illness as documented by a signed physician's statement. ~~motor vehicle fee is nonrefundable and is directed to be paid to the South Carolina Reinsurance Facility for the recoupment of assessments or losses of the South Carolina Reinsurance Facility pursuant to Section 56-10-554 until otherwise ordered by the director of the Department of Insurance. However, if the uninsured motor vehicle is being registered for a period of less than a full year, the uninsured motor vehicle fee exclusive of any nonrefundable portion must be prorated to conform to the registration period. This uninsured motor vehicle fee shall be increased annually based upon and in relation to the average rate level increases for private passenger automobile insurance coverages by insurers in this State. The director of the Department of Insurance, by annual order, will set this exact fee. The application for registering an uninsured vehicle must have the following statements printed on or attached to the first page of the form, boldface, twelve point type: "THIS $550 FEE IS NOT AN INSURANCE PREMIUM AND YOU ARE NOT PURCHASING ANY INSURANCE BY PAYING THIS FEE. THIS $550 UNINSURED MOTORIST FEE IS FOR THE PRIVILEGE TO DRIVE AND OPERATE AN UNINSURED MOTOR VEHICLE ON THE SOUTH CAROLINA ROADS." This uninsured motorist notice required by this section must also be given to the person registering an uninsured motor vehicle. The director shall prescribe the exact format of this notice by regulation and shall adjust the amount of this fee annually as part of the order by the director of the Department of Insurance adjusting the uninsured motorist fee in relation to the average rate level increases for private passenger automobile insurance coverages by insurers in this State. Every person applying for registration of a motor vehicle and declaring it to be an insured motor vehicle, under the penalties set forth in Section 56-10-520, shall execute and furnish to the director his certificate that the motor vehicle is an insured motor vehicle as defined by the laws of this State, or that the director has issued to its owner, in accordance with Section 56-9-60, a certificate of self insurance applicable to the vehicle sought to be registered. The director, or his designee, may require any registered owner of a motor vehicle declared to be insured or any applicant for registration of a motor vehicle to be an insured to submit a certificate of insurance on a form prescribed by the director. The director must forward the certificate of insurance or bond to the insurance company or surety company, whichever is applicable, for verification as to whether the policy or bond named in the certificate is currently in force. At that time, and not later than thirty days following receipt of the certificate of insurance, the insurance company or surety company must cause to be~~

~~filed with the director a written notice if the policy or bond was not applicable as to the named insured. The director must prescribe the manner in which the written notice must be made. The refusal or neglect of any owner within thirty days to submit the certificate of insurance when required by the director or his designee or the notification by the insurance company or surety company that the policy or bond named in the certificate of insurance is not in effect, must require the director to suspend any driver's license and all registration certificates and license plates issued to the owner of the motor vehicle until the person:~~

~~—(1) has paid to the director of the Department of Motor Vehicles a fee of three hundred dollars to be disposed of as provided for in Sections 56-10-550 and 56-10-552 with respect to the motor vehicle determined to be uninsured; and~~

~~—(2) furnishes proof of financial responsibility for the future in the manner prescribed in Section 56-10-10, et seq. of this chapter. An order of suspension required by this section is not effective until the director has offered the person an opportunity for a contested case hearing before the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings to show cause why the order should not be enforced. Notice of the opportunity for hearing must be included in the order of suspension. When three years have elapsed from the effective date of the suspension required in this section, the director may relieve the person of the requirement of furnishing proof of future financial responsibility. If the director determines that the fee applicable to the registration of an uninsured motor vehicle has been paid on the vehicle in question on or before the date that the insurance certificate was requested, no suspension action must be taken. The director shall suspend the driver's license and all registration certificates and license plates of any person on receiving a record of his conviction of a violation of any provisions of Section 56-10-520, but the director shall dispense with the suspension when the person is convicted for a violation of Section 56-10-520 and the Department of Motor Vehicle's records show conclusively that the motor vehicle was insured or that the fee applicable to the registration of an uninsured motor vehicle has been paid by the owner before the date and time of the alleged offense. ~~The director or his designee, having reason to believe that a motor vehicle is being operated or has been operated on any specified date, may require the owner of such motor vehicle to submit the certificate of insurance provided for by Section 56-10-510. The refusal or neglect of the owner who has not, before the date of operation, paid the uninsured motor vehicle fee required by Section 56-10-510 as to such motor vehicle, to furnish such certificate must be prima facie evidence that the motor vehicle was an uninsured motor vehicle at the time of such operation. Notice of such suspension shall be made in the form provided for in Section 56-1-465. However, when three years have elapsed from the date proof was required, the director may relieve the person of the requirement of furnishing proof of future financial responsibility. When the suspension results from a conviction for presenting or causing to be presented to the director a false certificate as to whether a motor vehicle is an insured motor vehicle or false evidence that any motor vehicle sought to be registered is insured, then the director shall not thereafter reissue the driver's license and the registration certificates and license plates issued in the name of the person so convicted for a period of one hundred eighty days from the date of the order of suspension, and only then when all other provisions of law have been complied with by the person as provided in this section.

The Department of Motor Vehicles shall enforce the provisions contained in this section. The ticketing agency shall retain fifty percent of all fines collected pursuant to this section.

SECTION 16. Section 56-14-40 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

(4) The bond must be given to the department and executed by the applicant, as principal, and by a corporate surety company authorized to do business in this State, as surety.

(5) The bond must be conditioned upon the applicant or licensee complying with the statutes applicable to the license and as indemnification for loss or damage suffered by an owner of a recreational vehicle, or his legal representative, by reason of fraud practiced or fraudulent representation made in connection with the sale or transfer of a recreational vehicle by a licensed recreational vehicle dealer or the dealer's agent acting for the dealer, or within the scope of employment of the agent or loss or damage suffered by reason of the violation by the dealer or his agent of any provisions of this chapter.

(6)(a) In instances of taxes or fees owed to the State that pertain solely to the process of buying, selling, titling, or registering vehicles by a recreational vehicle dealer, the department may maintain a cause of action against the dealer's surety bond and may recover damages if the owed taxes and fees are not paid in full within the time period prescribed by law. The department shall distribute the collected taxes and fees to the appropriate entity as prescribed by law.

(b) In the event of concurrent claims for the same vehicle from the owner and the State, the owner's claim prevails.

(8) The surety may terminate its liability under the bond by giving the department thirty days' written notice of its intent to cancel the bond. The cancellation does not affect liability incurred or accrued before the cancellation.

(C) If, during a license ~~year~~ period, there is a change in the information a dealer gave the department in obtaining or retaining a license, the licensee must report the change to the department within thirty days on a form prescribed by the department.

(D) If a licensee ceases to be a recreational vehicle dealer, he shall notify the department within ten days and return any license and all dealer license plates.

(E) In the event of a licensee's death, the personal representative of the deceased licensee may, with the consent of the probate court and upon an application to the department, continue the operation of the business covered by the license for the remainder of the licensing period, but no longer than eighteen months after the licensee's death. At the conclusion of the license period or eighteen months after the licensee's death, the personal representative must take all actions to apply for a recreational vehicle dealer license under his name and meet all requirements for a licensed recreational vehicle dealer in order to continue operating the business.

The property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business must display the same permanent sign as the bona fide established place of business pursuant to item (2). The property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business need not include a permanent, enclosed building or structure, but all records for business conducted on the property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business must be maintained at the bona fide established place of business. Any dealer license plate issued to a dealer or wholesaler pursuant to Section 56-3-2320 which is determined by the department to be improperly displayed on any vehicle or in the possession of any unauthorized person is prima facie evidence of a violation of this section by the dealer or wholesaler to whom the license plate was originally issued.

— (10) accepted or delivered a certificate of title to any other dealer, wholesaler, or any other person in which the title or assignment of title is signed in blank;

— (11) committed any of the following crimes for which there is a conviction or plea of guilty or plea of nolo contendere and for which the conviction or plea date was ten or less years from the date of the application or renewal application of:

(13) failed to surrender a dealer license as required by this chapter or allowing any third party to sell any vehicles or operate a dealership; or

(14) had a previous dealer license revoked for that applicant under this section.

(B) Items (A)(1)-(11) do not apply to any pardoned or expunged crime within the ten-year time period;

(C) The department may deny future dealer licenses for the same applicant if a previous dealer license was revoked for that applicant under this section. When assessing the license application, with respect to acts identified in item (A)(14) in a foreign jurisdiction, the department shall determine if the facts of the act would constitute a violation in this State. If the acts leading to a revocation in a foreign jurisdiction would not constitute a violation in this State, then the department may not use the act as sole justification to deny, suspend, or revoke a license.

(D) The department shall notify the licensee or applicant in writing at the mailing address provided in his application of its intention to deny, suspend, or revoke his license at least twenty days in advance and shall inform the licensee of his right to request a contested case hearing with the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings in accordance with the rules of procedure for the Administrative Law Court and pursuant to the Administrative Procedures Act of this State. A licensee desiring a hearing shall file a request in writing with the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings within ten days of receiving notice of the proposed denial, suspension, or revocation of his dealer's or wholesaler's license.

(E) Upon a denial, suspension, or revocation of a license, the licensee shall immediately return to the department the license and all dealer license plates.

SECTION 24. Title 56 of the S.C. Code is amended by adding:

CHAPTER 37

Motor Vehicle Dealer Performance Evaluation System

Section 56-37-10. This article applies to any dealer licensed under Title 56 regardless of the dealer license type.

(6) “Out-of-trust” means, upon the purchase of a vehicle by a dealer and the seller has completed his portion of the certificate of title, the dealer or purchaser intentionally leaves the buyer or purchaser assignment blank on the title.

(7) “Dealer” means any entity licensed as a dealer under this Title without regard to the type of dealer license issued by the department.

Section 56-37-30. (A) There is established a points system for evaluating the performance record of any dealer licensed under this Title and its continuing ability to operate as a dealer in this State. The Department may only impose the sanctions described below if they are found to have occurred in the course of dealer-related business, to include a private citizen acting on behalf of a licensed dealer in their role as a dealer. If any dealer or employee of a dealership makes these errors in their role as a private citizen, those violations are not counted against the dealer license but may be penalized in accordance with State law.

(B) For multiple record errors over a six-month period of time, the department may impose a two-point violation against a dealer license for the following:

- (1) errors or omissions on transactions regarding incoming or outgoing documents;
- (2) incorrect acquisition or sale dates;
- (3) incorrect vehicle identification numbers;
- (4) incorrect make, model, or type of body;

(5) misuse of dealer, transporter, or wholesale auto auction plate;
(6) operating or allowing the operation of a vehicle with a suspended dealer plate;

(D) The following are six-point violations:

- (9) conviction by the licensee involving acquisition or transfer of a title to a vehicle;

(E) The Department's Inspector General or the Inspector General's designee has the authority to issue sanctions based on findings during inspections and audits. The Department may turn any records of sanctions over to the law enforcement entity with jurisdiction over the licensed location of the dealership for criminal prosecution.

Section 56-37-40. (A) There is created a Dealer Sanction Review Board that consists of the Executive Director of the department or his designee, a department employee with expertise in dealer licensing regardless of dealer license type, two non-franchise automobile dealers, and three franchise automobile dealers. All dealers serving on the board must have been in business no less than ten years and be in good standing with the department. The department is responsible for ensuring the board is seated at the beginning of each fiscal year. Unless the board decides otherwise or a board member no longer qualifies to remain on the board, individuals on the board serve for three fiscal years and may serve a maximum of nine consecutive years. The department in conjunction with the board should take efforts to ensure that dealers represent all regions of the state and the sizes of dealerships owned. The two statewide dealer associations shall choose their members. The chairperson shall be elected and rotated between dealer members serving on the board.

(B) Dealers licensed pursuant to this title may contest sanctions provided for in this article by written request to the department no later than thirty days after receiving formal notice of the sanctions being levied.

(1) All notices of sanctions are deemed received no later than thirty days after mailing by the department.

(2) No later than sixty days after receiving the written request from the dealer, the board must determine if the sanctions and corresponding points must be posted to the dealer's record as maintained by the department.

(3) No contested sanctions and corresponding points may be posted until the board has made a determination.

(4) The board's decision is considered final unless a dealer files protest in administrative law court within twenty days of being provided written notice.

(5) The board may decide to decrease the number of points levied for a sanction, but the board may not increase the number of points levied for a sanction beyond those specified in this article.

(C) If a dealer licensed under this title does not contest sanctions within the time period prescribed in subsection (B), the assessed points are effective and will be posted to the dealer's record maintained by the department.

Section 56-37-50. In computing the total number of points levied against any dealer after a particular violation, those accrued as a result of violations during the twelve-month period including and immediately preceding the last violation must be counted at their full value. Those accrued from twelve to twenty-four months preceding the last violation must be counted at one-half their established value, and those resulting from violations which occurred more than twenty-four months prior to the last violation must not be counted.

Section 56-37-60. (A) Any dealer who has accumulated points under the provisions of this article must have the number of points reduced by four upon proving to the satisfaction of the Department of Motor Vehicles that the dealer has completed a voluntary course related to the proper licensing of dealers in this State. Before an entity may administer the course, and every three years thereafter, the department must approve the course. Entities offering this course must provide documentation, to the satisfaction of the department, regarding the training provided during the course. The department is not obligated to offer this course on its own.

(B) No dealer's points may be reduced more than one-time in a three-year period by completing a course related to the proper licensing of a dealer in this state.

Section 56-37-70. (A) The department must suspend the license of any dealer for seven days upon the accumulation of twelve points or if the dealer has misused any department computer system or third-party computer system that contains department data, including allowing another dealer location other than the one licensed by the department access to the system.

(B) The department must suspend the license of any dealer for thirty days upon the second accumulation of twelve points within a three-year period from the end-date of the prior suspension.

(C) The department must suspend the license of any dealer for three years upon the third accumulation of twelve points within a three-year period. Dealers may not re-apply for any kind of dealer license for three years after the last issued points. Should the provisions of this subsection apply, then the department may deny applications for any type of dealer license when the applicant is a member of the immediate family of the suspended dealer. The department shall notify the licensee or applicant by certified mail at the mailing address provided in his application of its intention to suspend his license at least thirty days in advance and shall provide the licensee an opportunity for a contested case hearing before the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings pursuant to its rules of procedure and the Administrative Procedures Act of this State. A licensee desiring a contested case hearing must request the hearing in writing within thirty days of receiving notice of the proposed suspension of his dealer's or wholesaler's license. Should the dealer not request a contested case hearing from the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings within thirty days of receiving notice of the proposed suspension, then the suspension of the dealer license must go into effect. If the dealer requests a contested case hearing from the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings within thirty days of receiving notice of the proposed suspension, then the dealer may continue to operate until the Office of Motor Vehicle Hearings makes a final ruling in the contested case. Upon the suspension of a license, the licensee shall immediately return to the department the license and all dealer license plates.

Section 56-37-80. (A) The Department of Motor Vehicles must immediately revoke the license of any dealer issued pursuant to this title upon:

(1) a conviction involving theft or possessions of a stolen vehicle, involvement with a chop shop, or a violation of law involving tampering with, altering, or removing vehicle identification numbers or markings; or

(2) a conviction in administrative, civil, or criminal court of a dealer violation of State or federal law regarding the disconnecting, resetting, altering, or otherwise unlawful tampering with a motor vehicle's odometer.

(B) Upon the revocation of a license, the licensee, or his designee, shall immediately return to the department the license and all dealer license plates. The department must revoke the dealer license plates if the plates are not returned to the department.

(C) The department may deny any application for dealer licenses for ten years after notification of the conviction if the applicant is a member of the immediate family as a dealer whose license has been revoked. At the conclusion of the ten-year period, a dealer whose license has been revoked may apply to the Dealer Sanctions Review Board to be relicensed. However, upon review of the board, a dealer whose license has been revoked may continue to be denied a dealer license of any type.

SECTION 25. Section 56-16-140 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-16-140. (A)(1) Before engaging in business as a motorcycle dealer or motorcycle wholesaler in this State, every person must first ~~make application~~ apply to the Department of Motor Vehicles for a license. Every license issued expires ~~twelve~~ thirty-six months from the date of issue and must be prominently displayed at the established place of business. The fee for the license is ~~fifty-one hundred and fifty~~ fifty dollars. The license applies to only one place of business of the applicant and is not transferable to any other person or place of business, except as provided in item (2).

(2)(a) A licensed dealer may exhibit motorcycles and their related products at fairs, recreational or sports shows, vacation shows, and other similar events or shows upon obtaining a dealer's exhibition license. Before exhibiting motorcycles and their related products as provided in this item, the dealer shall first apply to the department for an exhibition license. The applicant shall provide the department with the name, location, and dates of the particular exhibition for which he is seeking an exhibition license.

(b) A dealer must hold a valid dealer's license pursuant to this section to be issued an exhibition license. Exhibition licenses are valid for a period not to exceed ten consecutive days, must be prominently displayed at the exhibition site, apply to only the licensee, and may not be transferred to another dealer or exhibition location. A dealer may not purchase more than six exhibition licenses in any licensing period every twelve months.

(B)(1) During the dealer license application process, the department shall provide all information that would be needed in an audit or a review by its agents. Upon issuing a license, the department shall be reasonable in its requests to inspect or copy a dealer's records. If a complaint has been filed against a dealer, the department must present that complaint to the dealer in writing and allow the dealer the opportunity to cure before proceeding with punitive or enforcement action. Complaints arising from alleged violations of:

(a) Section 56-37-30(B) must be cured by the dealer within sixty days of being notified of the complaint;

(b) Section 56-37-30(D) must be cured by the dealer within forty-five days of being notified of the complaint; or

(c) Section 56-37-30(D) must be cured by the dealer within thirty days of being notified of the complaint.

(2) If the department determines that the same dealer has received a similar type of complaint within twelve months of a previous complaint, the department may proceed with an enforcement action against that dealer without regard to the time period provided in this subsection.

(B)(C) A person who fails to secure a license as required in this chapter has facilitated an unauthorized sale of a motorcycle and is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, must be fined:

(1) not less than ~~forty~~ one hundred dollars nor more than ~~two~~ five hundred dollars or imprisoned for not more than thirty days for the first offense;

(2) ~~not less than two~~ five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned for not more than ~~six months~~ thirty, or both, for the second offense; and

(3) not less than one thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars or imprisoned for not more than two years, or both, for the third or any subsequent offense.

(D) ~~For purposes of this subsection, the sale of each motorcycle constitutes a separate offense. For purposes of this section, each instance of an unauthorized sale of a motorcycle where the dealer has not applied for and received a license from the department appropriate to the sale is conclusively deemed to be a separate and distinct offense. This provision does not apply to instances where a rightfully licensed retail dealer, pursuant to Chapter 15 of this title, accepts a motorcycle on trade to then sell at his retail location. Nothing in this chapter may be construed to prohibit any law enforcement agency from enforcing the provisions~~ relating to non-licensed dealers within the law enforcement agency's jurisdiction. The ticketing entity shall retain fifty percent of any fines collected under this section.

SECTION 26. Section 56-16-150 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-16-150. ~~(4)~~(A) Before any license as a motorcycle "wholesaler" or "dealer" is issued to an applicant, he must file an application with the Department of Motor Vehicles and furnish the information the Department may require, including, but not limited to, information adequately identifying by name and address any individual who owns or controls ten percent or more of the interest in the business. The policy of this section is full disclosure.

~~(2)~~(B)(1) Each applicant for licensure as a motorcycle dealer or wholesaler must furnish a surety bond in the penal amount of ~~fifteen~~ twenty-five thousand dollars on a form to be prescribed by the director of the department.

(2) A new bond or a proper continuation certificate must be provided to the department every twelve months during the license period. The dealer or surety, or his designee must alert the department of any bond name or address changes during the license period within thirty days of the change. Proof of the bond and the proper continuation of it may be provided to the Department of Motor Vehicles using the same database as vehicle insurance pursuant to Article 7, Chapter 10, of Title 56.

(3) A dealer's license expires immediately upon expiration, termination, or a decrease of a dealer's bond below twenty-five thousand dollars.

(4) The bond must be given to the Department and executed by the applicant, as principal, and by a corporate surety company authorized to do business in this State, as surety. The bond must be conditioned upon the applicant or licensee complying with the provisions of the statutes applicable to the license and as indemnification for any loss or damage suffered by an owner of a motorcycle, or his legal representative, by reason of any fraud practiced or fraudulent representation made in connection with the sale or transfer of a motorcycle by a licensed dealer or wholesaler or the dealer's or wholesaler's agent acting for the dealer or wholesaler or within the scope of employment of the agent or any loss or damage suffered by reason of the violation by the dealer or wholesaler or his agent, of any of the provisions of this chapter.

(5) In instances of taxes or fees owed to the State that pertain solely to the process of buying, selling, titling, or registering motorcycles by a motorcycle dealer, the department has a right of action against the dealer's surety bond and may recover damages if those taxes and fees are not paid within the time period prescribed by law. The department shall distribute the taxes and fees to the appropriate entity as prescribed in state law.

(a) In the event of concurrent claims for the same vehicle from the owner and the State, the owner's claim prevails.

(b) This subsection does not apply to monies the motorcycle dealer has attempted to refund to a customer due to an error made by the dealer when the dealer can demonstrate that he has made an attempt by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or by private delivery service which is acceptable to the Internal Revenue Service to ensure the customer's refund was delivered. For the purposes of this subsection, the dealer should make a bona fide, good faith attempt to refund money due to the customer within sixty days of the date of sale.

(6) An owner or his legal representative who suffers the loss or damage has a right of action against the dealer or wholesaler and against the dealer's or wholesaler's surety upon the bond and may recover damages as provided in this chapter. A new bond or a proper continuation certificate must be delivered to the Department annually before the license is renewed. However, regardless of the number of years a bond remains in effect, the aggregate liability of the surety for any and all claims is limited to fifteen thousand dollars on each bond and to the amount of the actual loss incurred.

(7) The surety has the right to terminate its liability under the bond by giving the Department thirty days' written notice of its intent to cancel the bond. The cancellation does not affect any liability incurred or accrued prior to the cancellation.

(3)(C) If, during any license year, there is any change in the information that a dealer or wholesaler gave the Department in obtaining or retaining a license under this section, the licensee shall report the change to the Department within thirty days after the change occurs on the form the Department requires.

(4)(D) In the event a licensee ceases being a dealer or wholesaler, he shall, within ten days thereafter, notify the Department of this fact and return to the Department any license issued pursuant to this chapter and all current dealer license plates issued to the dealer or wholesaler.

(E) In the event of the licensee's death, the personal representative of the deceased licensee may, with the consent of the probate court and upon an application to the Department, continue the operation of the business covered by the license for the remainder of the licensing period, but no longer than eighteen months after the licensee's death. At the conclusion of the licensing period or eighteen months after the death, the personal representative must take all actions to apply for a recreational vehicle dealer license under his or her own name and meet all requirements for a licensed recreational vehicle dealer in order to continue operating the business.

SECTION 27. Section 56-16-160 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 56-16-160. No dealer may be issued or allowed to maintain a motorcycle dealer's license unless:

(1) The dealer maintains a bona fide established place of business for conducting the business of selling or exchanging motorcycles which must be the principal business conducted from the fixed location. The sale of motorcycles or motor driven cycles need not be the principal business conducted from the fixed location. A bona fide established place of business for any motorcycle dealer includes a permanent, enclosed building or structure, not excluding a permanently installed mobile home containing at least ninety-six square feet of floor space, actually occupied by the applicant and easily accessible by the public, at which a permanent business of bartering, trading, or selling of motorcycles or displaying vehicles for bartering, trading, or selling is carried on, wherein the public may contact the owner or operator at all reasonable times and in which must be kept and maintained the books, records, and files required by this chapter. The property adjacent to or within sight of his bona fide established place of business must display the same permanent sign as the bona fide established place of business pursuant to item (2). The adjacent property or the property within sight of his bona fide established place of business need not include a permanent, enclosed building or structure, but all records for business

Any sales transactions pursuant to this section must take place at the location of the bona fide established place of business. Dealers applying for a license under this item must declare to the department on the dealer license application the street address of the adjacent property or property within sight of his bona fide established place of business and affirm that the dealer has met any local requirements to lawfully conduct business at that location.

However, nothing may be accepted by the department with the understanding that it diminishes an obligation for paying care and maintenance charges or other monies due the department for services rendered. The director may formulate policies and promulgate regulations governing the disposition of gifts, bequests, devises, grants, and donations. If they are given to a specific service program of the department, then they must remain and be used for that program only or to its successor program.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 43-20-170(A) and inserting:

(A) Reasonable reimbursement to the State for its fiscal outlay on behalf of services rendered by the department or any other agency authorized by the department to offer services to clients is a just obligation of the person with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury, his estate, or his parent or guardian under the conditions and terms provided in this section.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 43-20-210(A)(6) and inserting:

(6) take other action not inconsistent with the law to promote a high quality of services to persons with intellectual disability, related disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, head injuries, or spinal cord injuries and their families.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 43-20-220 and inserting:

continue to operate as provided in the ordinances establishing the county boards.

(B) The department shall recognize only county boards of disabilities and special needs that plan, administer, or provide services to persons with intellectual disability, related disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, head injuries, and spinal cord injuries within a county or combination of counties which are created or established pursuant to this section, including those whose members are appointed by the Governor. A county board of disabilities and special needs created by ordinance before January 1, 1991, is considered created pursuant to this section, provided the ordinance includes and complies with the provisions of subsection (A).

(C) A county board of disabilities and special needs is a public entity.

(D) In Dorchester County, appointments made pursuant to this section are governed by the provisions of Act 512 of 1996.

(E) In Georgetown County, appointments made pursuant to this section are governed by the provisions of Act 515 of 1996.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Sections 43-20-230 and 43-20-240 and inserting:

Section 43-20-230. A county board of disabilities and special needs must consist of not less than five members. If the board is created within a combination of counties, the number of members representing each county must be proportional to the county's population in relation to the total population of the counties served by the board. However, a county participating in a multicounty board must not have less than two members. The term of the members is four years and until their successors are appointed and qualify. Vacancies for unexpired terms must be filled in the same manner as the original appointments. A member may be removed by the appointing authority for neglect of duty, misconduct, or malfeasance in office after being given a written statement of reasons and an opportunity to be heard.

Section 43-20-240. (A) County disabilities and special needs boards are encouraged to utilize lawful sources of funding to further the development of appropriate community services to meet the needs of persons with intellectual disability, related disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, head injuries, or spinal cord injuries and their families.

(B) County boards may apply to the department for funds for community services development under the terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the department. The department shall review the applications and, subject to state appropriations to the department or to other funds under the department's control, may fund the programs it considers in the best interest of service delivery to the citizens of the State with intellectual disability, related disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, head injuries, or spinal cord injuries.

(C) Subject to the approval of the department, county boards may seek state or federal funds administered by state agencies other than the department, funds from local governments or from private sources, or funds available from agencies of the federal government. The county boards may not apply directly to the General Assembly for funding or receive funds directly from the General Assembly.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 43-20-250(A) and (B) and inserting:

(A) Subject to the provisions of this chapter and the regulations of the department each county disabilities and special needs board:

(1) is the administrative, planning, coordinating, and service delivery body for county disabilities and special needs services funded in whole or in part by state appropriations to the department or funded from other sources under the department's control. It is a body corporate in deed and in law with all the powers incident to corporation including the power to incur debt insofar as that debt is payable from contract, grant, or other revenues and is not the debt of the State or its other political subdivisions. A county board may purchase and hold real and mortgage property and erect and maintain buildings. The department shall approve all debt of a county board to be paid in whole or in part from contract, grant, or other revenues provided by the State. However, the department has no responsibility for the debt so approved;

(2) shall submit an annual plan and projected budget to the department for approval and consideration of funding;

(3) shall review and evaluate on at least an annual basis the county disabilities and special needs services provided pursuant to this chapter and report its findings and recommendations to the department;

(4) shall promote and accept local financial support for the county program from private and other lawful sources and promote public support from municipal and county sources;

(5) shall employ personnel and expend its budget for the direct delivery of services or contract with those service vendors necessary to carry out the county intellectual disability, related disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, head injuries, and spinal cord injuries services program who meet specifications prescribed by the department;

(6) shall plan, arrange, implement, and monitor working agreements with other human service agencies, public and private, and with other educational and judicial agencies;

TUESDAY, MARCH 28, 2023

(7) shall provide the department records, reports, and access to its sponsored services and facilities the department may require and submit its sponsored services and facilities to licensing requirements of the department or to the licensing requirements of other state or local agencies having this legal authority;

(8) shall represent the best interest of persons with intellectual disability, related disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, head injuries, or spinal cord injuries to the public, public officials, and other public or private organizations.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Sections 43-20-260, 43-20-270, 43-20-280, 43-20-290, 43-20-300, 43-20-310, 43-20-320, 43-20-330, 43-20-340, 43-20-350, 43-20-360, 43-20-370, 43-20-380, and 43-20-390 and inserting:

Section 43-20-260. (A) In order to provide assistance to families and individuals the department shall provide an initial intake and assessment service to a person believed to be in need of services and who makes application for them. An assessment must be provided through diagnostic centers approved by the department. If upon completion of the assessment, the applicant is determined to have intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury and be in need of services, he may become a client of the department and eligible for services. A service plan must be designated for each person assessed. A person determined to have intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury and who chooses to become a client of the department, must be provided with the delivery or coordination of services by the department. A person determined not to have intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury may be provided by the department with referral and assistance in obtaining appropriate services or further evaluation.

(B) Service plans must recommend the services to assist the individual in developing to the fullest potential in the least restrictive environment available. The department shall determine the "least restrictive environment" and may contract with individuals or organizations for a reasonable sum as determined by the department to provide the services. The department shall review service plans of its clients at least periodically according to standards prescribing the frequency to ensure that appropriate services are being provided in the least restrictive environment available. The parents, the legal guardian, the client, and other appropriate parties must be included in the review. The department shall develop standards prescribing the service plan review.

(C) No individual believed to have intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury may be admitted to the services of the department until he has been examined at a diagnostic center of the department or a diagnostic center approved by the department and certified by the department on the basis of acceptable data to have intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury or unless he is an infant at risk of a developmental disability and in need of the department's services.

(D) The applicant shall meet residency requirements in at least one of the following categories:

(1) The applicant or his spouse, parent, with or without legal custody, or legal guardian is domiciled in South Carolina.

(2) The applicant or his spouse, parent, with or without legal custody, or legal guardian lives outside South Carolina but retains legal residency in this State and demonstrates to the department's satisfaction his intent to return to South Carolina.

(3) The applicant or his spouse or parent, with or without legal custody, or legal guardian is a legal resident of a state which is an active member of the Interstate Compact on Mental Health and qualifies for services under it.

Section 43-20-270. Upon the written request of the person, the person's parents, parent with legal custody, or lawful custodian or legal guardian and subject to the availability of suitable accommodations and services, a person with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury may be admitted to the services of the department for evaluation and diagnosis and shall remain in the residential services of the department for that period required to complete the diagnostic study. However, this period may not exceed thirty days except upon approval of the director or his designee. Individuals admitted under the provisions of this section are subject to the same regulations and departmental policies as regular admissions. The department may prescribe the form of the written application for diagnostic services.

Section 43-20-280. A person who is determined to be eligible for services is subject to the following considerations regarding his order of admission to services and programs:

(1) relative need of the person for special training, supervision, treatment, or care; and

(2) availability of services suitable to the needs of the applicant.

TUESDAY, MARCH 28, 2023

Section 43-20-290. The director or his designee may designate the service or program in which a client is placed. The appropriate services and programs must be determined by the evaluation and assessment of the needs, interests, and goals of the client.

Section 43-20-300. The director or his designee has the final authority over applicant eligibility, determination, or services and admission order, subject to policies adopted by the director.

Section 43-20-310. Subject to the availability of suitable services and programs and subject to the provisions of "Requirement for Admission to Services", "Order in which Person May be Admitted", and "Final Authority over Eligibility", the director or his designee may admit a client to the services of the department upon the written request of the parents of the person with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury, a parent with legal custody, spouse, lawful custodian or legal guardian, or the person with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury seeking to be admitted to the department's services if the person is twenty one years of age or over and competent to make the decision. The department shall prescribe the form of the application for services.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 43-20-400(B), (C), (D), (E), (F), (G), and (H) and inserting:

(B) Upon filing of the petition, the judge shall set a date for a hearing on it and ensure that the client has an attorney who represents him. The parents, parent with legal custody, spouse, guardian, or nearest known relative of the person alleged to have intellectual disability or a related disability and in whose behalf the petition has been made and in the discretion of the court, the individual alleged to have intellectual disability or a related disability and the department must be served by the court with a written notice of the time and place of the hearing, together with a written statement of the matters stated in the petition. If no parent, spouse, legal guardian, or known relative of the person alleged to have intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder is found, the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem to represent the person alleged to have intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder and the notice must be served upon the guardian. If the parent, spouse, guardian, or known relative of the person alleged to have intellectual disability or a related disability is found, he must be notified of the right to an attorney at the hearing.

(C) The hearing on the petition may be in the courthouse or at the place of residence of the person alleged to have intellectual disability or a related disability or at another place considered appropriate by the court. The person alleged to have intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder does not need to be present if the court determines that the hearing would be injurious or detrimental to the person alleged to have intellectual disability or a related disability or if the person's mental or physical condition prevents his participation in the hearing. However, his attorney must be present.

(D) A report of the person in charge of the examination of the person alleged to have intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder at the diagnostic center referred to in "Requirement for Admission" must be submitted to the court at the hearing. The court may not render judgment in the hearing unless this report is available and introduced.

(E) If the court determines that the evidence presented by the examiners at the diagnostic center, along with other evidence presented to the court, is to the effect that the person does not in fact have intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder to an extent which would require commitment, it shall terminate the proceeding and dismiss the petition.

(F) If the person is found by the court to have intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder and be in need of placement in a facility or service program of the department, the court shall order that he be admitted to the jurisdiction of the department as soon as necessary services are available and include in the order a summary of the evidence presented and order of the court.

(G) The department shall inform the court as soon after the date of the order as practical that suitable accommodations and services are available to meet the needs of the person with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder. Upon notification, the court shall direct the petitioner in these proceedings to transport the person with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder to a program the department designates.

(H) A party to these proceedings may appeal from the order of the court to the court of common pleas, and a trial de novo with a jury must be held in the same manner as in civil actions unless the petitioner through his attorney waives his right to a jury trial. Pending a final determination of the appeal, the person with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder must be placed in protective custody in either a facility of the department or in some other suitable place designated by the court. No person with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder must be confined in jail unless there is a criminal charge pending against him.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 43-20-410(A) and (B) and inserting:

(A) A person admitted or committed to the services of the department remains a client and is eligible for services until discharged. When the department determines that a client admitted to services is no longer in need of them, the director or his designee may discharge him. When the only basis of the department's provision of services to a client is that he is a person with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder and it is determined that he is no longer in that condition, the director or his designee shall discharge him as soon as practical. A client of the department who is receiving residential services may be released to his spouse, parent, guardian, or relative or another suitable person for a time and under conditions the director or his designee may prescribe.

(B) When a client voluntarily admitted requests discharge or the person upon whose application the client was admitted to the department's services requests discharge in writing, the client may be detained by the department for no more than ninety-six hours. However, if the condition of the person is considered by the director or his designee to be such that he cannot be discharged with safety to himself or with safety to the general public, the director or his designee may postpone the requested discharge for not more than fifteen days and cause to be filed an application for judicial admission. For the purpose of this section, the probate court or family court of the county in which the facility where the person with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder resides is located is the venue for judicial admission. Pending a final determination on the application, the court shall order the person with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder placed in protective custody in either a facility of the department or in some other suitable place designated by the court.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 43-20-420(A), (B), (C), and (D) and inserting:

(A) The department may return a nonresident person with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder admitted to a service or program in this State to the proper agency of the state of his residence.

(B) The department is authorized to enter into reciprocal agreements with the proper agencies of other states to facilitate the return to the state of their residence persons admitted or committed to services for persons with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder in this State or other states.

(C) The department may detain a person with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder returned to this State from the state of his commitment for not more than ninety-six hours pending order of the court in commitment proceedings in this State.

(D) The expense of returning persons with intellectual disability or a related disability to other states must be paid by this State, and the expense of returning residents of this State with intellectual disability, a related disability, or autism spectrum disorder must be paid by the state making the return when interstate agreements to that effect have been negotiated.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 43-20-440(A) and inserting:

(A) When the department determines that a client may benefit from being placed in an employment situation, the department shall regulate the terms and conditions of employment, shall supervise persons with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury so employed, and may assist the client in the management of monies earned through employment to the end that the best interests of the client are served.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 43-20-460 and inserting:

Section 43-20-460. Placement of a person with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury in a program of the department does not preclude his attendance in community-based public school classes when the individual qualifies for the classes.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 3, by striking Section 43-20-470 and inserting:

Section 43-20-470. No day program in part or in full for the care, training, or treatment of a person with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury may deliver services unless a license first is obtained from the department. For the purpose of this article, "in part" means a program operating for ten hours a week or more. Educational and training services offered under the sponsorship and direction of school districts and other state agencies are not required to be licensed under this article.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 3, by striking Section 43-20-500 and inserting:

TUESDAY, MARCH 28, 2023

Section 43-20-500. No day program may accept a person with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury for services other than those for which it is licensed. No program may serve more than the number of clients as provided on the license. An applicant for a license shall file an application with the department in a form and under conditions the department may prescribe. The license must be issued for up to three years unless sooner suspended, revoked, or surrendered. The license is not transferable and must not be assigned.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 3, by striking Section 43-20-540(B) and inserting:

(B) If an existing program has conditions or practices which, in the department's judgment, provide an immediate threat to the safety and welfare of the person with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury served, the department may immediately suspend or revoke the license of the program. Notification of the program board or operator by certified mail of the license suspension or revocation also must include the reasons or conditions. A person operating a program which has had its license suspended or revoked must be punished as provided in "Injunctions; Penalties".

Amend the bill further, SECTION 3, by striking Section 43-20-570(A) and inserting:

(A) The department, in accordance with the laws of the State governing injunctions and other processes, may maintain an action in the name of the State against a person for establishing, conducting, managing, or operating a day program for the care, training, and treatment of a person with intellectual disability, a related disability, autism spectrum disorder, head injury, or spinal cord injury without obtaining a license as provided in this article. In charging a defendant in a complaint in the action, it is sufficient to charge that the defendant, upon a certain day and in a certain county, provided day program services without a license, without averring more particular facts concerning the charge.

Amend the bill further, by striking SECTION 6 and inserting:

Indicates New Matter

The Senate assembled at 1:00 P.M., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Deuteronomy 34:10

The Book of Deuteronomy concludes with these words about Moses: "Never since has there arisen a prophet in Israel like Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face."

Let us pray: How marvelous indeed has been Your own faithfulness to those who have served You, O Lord. A clear example has to be the very manner by which You led and guided and blessed Moses during all of the many challenges he faced as he tried valiantly to serve You. And You have made it so very clear that Your promises to us are just as bold and unfailing, if we will also do our very best to trust in and to serve You. To that end, most merciful God, we ask that You will continue to be with each and every Senator and staff member as they labor diligently here in this place. May each one of them -- as was Moses -- be ever remembered for the good that they do. In Your loving name we pray, Lord. Amen.

Remarks by Senator CAMPSSEN

Thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT. This is a Bill that addresses judicial merit selection reform. We have already introduced several Bills regarding this issue. I want to explain and distinguish this one very briefly. First, I will address constitutional requirements for the Judicial Merit Selection Commission (JMSC) found in Article 5, Section 27 of the South Carolina Constitution. The constitutional requirements are that the JMSC must consider the qualifications and fitness of all judicial candidates -- this Bill checks that box. The General Assembly must elect judges from among the nominees from the JMSC -- this Bill checks that box. And no person can be elected to a judgeship unless they are found qualified by the JMSC -- this Bill checks that box.

The reason I'm making this point is to emphasize there will be no need to amend the Constitution to implement the reforms in this Bill. So, what does the Bill do differently than the current process? It requires the JMSC to only consider the qualifications of candidates that are recommended by the Governor. It is a way for the Governor to nominate, and for the JMSC to evaluate their qualifications as part of the advice and consent process. The JMSC process would remain in place, but the Governor would nominate the judges.

This is important for several reasons. I am aware of many lawyers who have had a very successful career that would be willing to be a judge and would undoubtedly serve admirably because they have been outstanding lawyers. They would be willing to serve as a matter of public service to cap off their career -- to give something back to the profession they love. But they don't even apply. Why? Because they are not going to post up at the ramp from the parking garage to the State House for a month in an effort to explain to a twenty-five year old freshman House member in twenty seconds or less why they would be a good judge, and subsequently request their vote. We lose a lot of good candidates because of that dynamic.

We also lose good candidates because their law practice prohibits them from spending that month at the ramp. They can't afford to camp out at the State House if they are, for example, a business transaction lawyer, real estate lawyer, probate lawyer or defense attorney. They can't afford the time away from their practice because they bill by the hour, as opposed to earning contingency fees like plaintiff's attorneys do. So, we largely eliminate an entire category of lawyers from judgeships on the basis of their fee structure. I suggest this aspect of my proposed reform may be the most significant.

The proposal also gives the Executive Branch a role to play. In almost every other state where judges aren't elected by popular vote, which is the worst way to elect judges, they are nominated by the Governor and confirmed through the advice and consent process by the Legislative Branch -- typically the Senate.

In conclusion, the reform I am proposing will produce the following outcome. The Governor would nominate judicial candidates, and the JMSC becomes a robust part of the advice and consent process, and they are approved or disapproved by vote of the General Assembly. However, because there is only one candidate offered, they're not competing against other candidates and they are not campaigning. We can focus on evaluating their credentials and their qualifications, and the JMSC would in turn become the best advice and consent process in the Nation. We would also be honoring the separation of powers doctrine by including both the Legislative and Executive Branches of government in the selection of the Judicial Branch. James Madison would be proud!

On motion of Senator CLIMER, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator CAMPSSEN were ordered printed in the Journal.

(2) ~~not less than two~~ five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned for not more than ~~six months~~ thirty days, or both, for the second offense; and

(3) not less than one thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars or imprisoned for not more than two years, or both, for the third or any subsequent offense.

~~(D) For purposes of this subsection, the sale of each motorcycle constitutes a separate offense.~~ For purposes of this section, each instance of an unauthorized sale of a motorcycle where the dealer has not applied for and received a license from the department appropriate to the sale is conclusively deemed to be a separate and distinct offense. This provision does not apply to instances where a rightfully licensed retail dealer, pursuant to Chapter 15 of this title, accepts a motorcycle on trade to then sell at his retail location. Nothing in this chapter may be construed to prohibit any law enforcement agency from enforcing the provisions relating to non-licensed dealers within the law enforcement agency's jurisdiction. The ticketing entity shall retain fifty percent of any fines collected under this section.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 25, by striking Section 56-16-150(5)(b) and inserting:

(b) This subsection does not apply to monies the motorcycle dealer has attempted to refund to a customer due to an error made by the dealer when the dealer can demonstrate that he has made an attempt by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or by private delivery service which is acceptable to the Internal Revenue Service to ensure the customer's refund was delivered. For the purposes of this subsection, the dealer should make a bona fide, good faith attempt to refund money due to the customer within sixty days of the date of sale.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 25, by striking Section 56-16-150(4)(E) and inserting:

(E) In the event of the licensee's death, the personal representative of the deceased licensee may, with the consent of the probate court and upon an application to the department, continue the operation of the business covered by the license for the remainder of the licensing period, but no longer than eighteen months after the licensee's death. At the conclusion of the licensing period or eighteen months after the death, the personal representative must take all actions to apply for a recreational vehicle dealer license under his or her own name and meet all requirements for a licensed recreational vehicle dealer in order to continue operating the business.

The Senate proceeded to a consideration of the Bill, the question being the second reading of the Bill.

Senator DAVIS explained the Bill.

Remarks by Senator KEVIN JOHNSON

Thank you members of the Body. Senator DAVIS, you did a fantastic job of explaining your viewpoint of the Bill. I’m not sure that I agree with everything you said, but I do agree with a lot of what you said. I just wanted to come up here and explain a couple of things. I was on the subcommittee and I listened to the testimony. At the end of the meeting, I really needed more information. Since I have been in this Body, I have never asked to carry a Bill over. Every time anybody has made that same request, I supported it. Somebody said, “Oh, he had his name on the

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 2023

Bill,” and yes, I did. I had my name on the Bill because I wanted to carry it over so that I could get more information; however, I didn't get the same respect that others are given when they want to carry a Bill over for additional information. So, yes, I put my name on the Bill, and during that time -- I only had a little bit of time, because they put it on special order so quickly. I met with people and I met with organizations to get more information that I needed on the Bill.

Now let's deal with the elephant in the room. Yes, I work for the Department of Revenue, and I have been working with the Department of Revenue since I was a junior at USC. It is known as the SC Tax Commission. This Bill and my position on this Bill put me against two people who I have the utmost respect for -- which are my former director, twice over, and my current director. They were on different sides and issues, but I made my decision on how I, Kevin Johnson, felt. The Department of Revenue has never tried to influence my vote or tell me how to vote. Any issue that comes up with the Department of Revenue -- I always check with the desk to make sure that I'm not getting myself in a position where I have a conflict -- and on this one I was told that I didn't. I wasn't getting any individual benefit from this Bill.

What I think despite everything that we've heard is that really we're not going to know whether this is a good Bill or not until some of the administrative law court procedures or decisions are made. I want you all to know -- I watch people all the time -- and when there is a perceived conflict, they go and check with the desk to see if they must recuse themselves. I don't like the insinuation, the implication or my integrity being questioned by saying he's doing that because he works for the Department of Revenue. I don't like that, and I don't cast those dispersions on anybody else. I think it is worth repeating one more time. The Department of Revenue has never told me or even implied how I should vote on a Bill. I think it is not a good Bill based on my understanding of the Bill. Nobody in here can say that I went to them and asked them to vote one way or the other on the Bill. I'm more likely going to vote against it, and it will probably pass. I'm glad that everybody will have had the opportunity to vote the way they feel, and I have no problem with that. Again, the only reason I put my name on the Bill was for more time to talk to people about the Bill and there are people who will verify that I contacted them and met with them. I asked them to tell me why this is a good Bill or a bad Bill. I read the Bill several times -- and it said fiscal impact $80 million to corporate income tax revenue -- which I think right now stands at about 500 million. That was not the only reason why I don't like the Bill. I kind of stated why and I'm not going to repeat that, but I do resent the implication that I'm voting the way I vote because of the Department of Revenue. Everyone here knows that I don't take things personally. I just want to have my vote and after that I'm fine. Thank you Mr. PRESIDENT for giving me the opportunity to express my thoughts and to clarify things.

On motion of Senator DAVIS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator K. JOHNSON were ordered printed in the Journal.

Remarks by Senator SABB

Members, I won't be long, but did I want to have a quick conversation this morning about a Bill that was heard in subcommittee, full committee, and was read across the desk yesterday. It's a Bill that we're all familiar with. One that I think we've all given some thought and perhaps some conversation to. It's a Bill that's commonly referred to as the Hate Crime Bill.

I would like to share a thought or two this morning. I had the privilege of being the chairperson of the subcommittee, and I will tell you all that the testimony that came before us was compelling for several reasons. What became clear to me after listening to the testimony in subcommittee, witnessing the votes, then going to full committee, having a discussion, and witnessing the votes -- what became clear to me is that there is not a unanimous consensus on the Bill and its contents. I've got nothing but respect and appreciation for that because the reality is, all of us don't see everything the same way.

The other take away I had was that there is the kind of work on the legislation that the Senate has performed marvelously, time after time after time. Therefore, what I'm asking is those of you who may have differing opinions as to what the final production would look like -- let's give the Senate an opportunity to do its work. Let's give the Senate a channel to weigh in -- a chance to weigh in on the legislation and see whether we can't perfect it in such a way that allows us to walk away from the discussion and the vote feeling like we've accomplished something. Someone said, years ago, don't allow the perfect to get in the way of the good. I don't believe that we will end up with a perfect product, but I believe we will end up with a good product. However, it can only happen if we all decide that we will allow the process to work.

I've had what I consider to be candid conversations with many of you in the Body, and I note where you stand, based on what you've said to me. Again, I embrace what you say with a deep appreciation because I know that you would not be here if you didn't represent something special in the State. I'll never forget in my early years of being in the Senate and I can't remember who it was, but somebody said, "You know, we are forty-six and we represent five million." You know I love this series called the Matrix, and the star is referred to as what? The one. I think in a lot of ways, the forty-six of us represent, guess what? The one. Together we make up the South Carolina Senate, an institution that I believe every single one of us have an incredible amount of appreciation for. Although, I will tell you all and I'm going to mention one thing in specifics that came up in the full judiciary discussion.

The question was raised, what about our elderly? Should we add additional protection for our elderly in the Hate Crime Bill? Those I believe are discussions that we need to have while the legislation is being debated. As I slept on our discussion -- and I take what is said in committee meetings and subcommittee meetings, I mean I take it to heart. I said to myself I don't know the answer to that, but what I do know is that there was no testimony in the subcommittee that hate is being spewed towards our elderly. I mean there was zero testimony along those lines. That doesn't mean it's not an issue that is worthy of debate, it just means that's one that wasn't fleshed out in the subcommittee hearing. What was fleshed out in the subcommittee hearing was that the Jewish Federation does a study every year, and they measure hate as it relates to that -- as it relates to that specific portion of our community. It's telling that in the last year, there's been a 191% increase in what is happening in that community along the lines of hate. What is interesting to me, and I believe Senator GOLDFINCH, although he is not here, he is aware of this -- in the Pawley's Island community, there are some subdivisions where hate mail -- just like in the olden days where you throw the newspaper on people's doorsteps. There are members of the Jewish community that have been identified in those communities and they throw hate mail on their doorsteps. The gentleman who testified, and I apologize for not remembering his name, but he identified the groups that are in South Carolina that are promoting it. My second point, and Ms. Polly Shepherd made this one -- she said, "The United States of America is a great Nation, and that the State of South Carolina is a great State." She gave riveting testimony about her experience that night although I'm not going to go into that. She said something else that struck me. You know Ms. Polly is like my grandma used to say -- she is not a spring chicken. I mean she has lived a number of years and has acquired a lot of wisdom as a result of her walk in life. She said that there are eighty-four militia groups in our State that are promoting that kind of divisive behavior. Her call to us was, as great as we are -- we ought to be able to do this.

Nonetheless, I conclude with this point, I've heard from this well several of our members who represent the leadership of this institution who said that the Senate can do big things, that we have the capacity to do big things. I submit to you all, at this point in our history where we are one of only two states that does not have a Hate Crime Bill -- I submit there are few things bigger that we ought to challenge ourselves to do. I intend to personally have conversations with members of this Body. I'd ask that you would please ma'ams and sirs give me the courtesy of at least a conversation in order that we might talk about bringing the Bill to the floor. I believe that my colleagues who have taken the well before and have talked emphatically about our ability to do big things -- I believe what they said is true. I would just ask that we view this as being one of the big things that we are capable of doing. Will it be perfect? No. I don't know that much that we do is. Nevertheless, I would implore us to not allow the perfect to get in the way of the good. Thank you, members, and thank you, Mr. PRESIDENT.

On motion of Senator ALLEN, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator SABB were ordered printed in the Journal.

(9) The General Assembly may authorize the State or any of its agencies, authorities, or institutions to incur indebtedness for any public purpose payable solely from a revenue-producing project or from a special source, which source does not involve revenues from any tax but may include fees paid for the use of any toll bridge, toll road, or tunnel. Such indebtedness may be incurred upon such terms and conditions as the General Assembly may prescribe by law. All indebtedness incurred pursuant to the provisions of this subsection shall contain a statement on the face thereof specifying the sources from which payment is to be made.

Amend the joint resolution further, by striking the undesignated paragraph containing the question to be submitted to the voters and inserting:

Genesis 4:9

We recall how in Genesis: “. . . the Lord said to Cain, ‘Where is your brother, Abel?’ ‘I don’t know,’ Cain replied, ‘Am I my brother’s keeper?’ ”

Join me as we bow in prayer: O Glorious Lord, we are reminded by the Cain and Abel story that we truly are to be concerned about the well-being of our sisters and brothers here in South Carolina. None of us can live in ignorance of the neediness nor of the apparent lack of hope for many who surround us. Selfish concern for ourselves and our immediate loved ones alone will simply not do. Therefore, Lord, today we pray that You will touch the hearts of every Senator -- indeed, of every single person here in this State House -- and remind us all how interrelated our lives are with those around us. Lead us all by Your grace, O Lord, to reach out boldly with love and compassion to help the lost and the needy. And may that which we do bring all the more glory to You and to Your blessed name, dear Lord. Amen.

The PRESIDENT called for Petitions, Memorials, Presentments of Grand Juries and such like papers.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Resolution.

TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 2023

The Committee on Judiciary proposed the following amendment (SJ-95.PB0012S):

Amend the joint resolution, as and if amended, by striking SECTION 1 and inserting:

SECTION X.A. It is proposed that Section 7, Article VI of the Constitution of this State be amended to read:

Section 7. There shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State a Secretary of State, an Attorney General, a Treasurer, a Superintendent of Education, Comptroller General, Commissioner of Agriculture, and an Adjutant General who shall hold their respective offices for a term of four years, coterminous with that of the Governor. The duties and compensation of such offices shall be prescribed by law and their compensation shall be neither increased nor diminished during the period for which they shall have been elected.

Beginning upon the expiration of the term of the Adjutant General serving in office on the date of the ratification of the provisions of this paragraph, the Adjutant General must be appointed by the Governor, upon the advice and consent of the Senate. The appointed Adjutant General shall serve for a term not coterminous with the Governor and may be removed only for cause. The General Assembly shall provide by law for the term, duties, compensation, and qualifications for office, the procedures by which the appointment is made, and the procedures by which the Adjutant General may be removed from office.

Beginning upon the expiration of the term of the Comptroller General serving in office on the date of the ratification of the provisions of this paragraph, the Comptroller General must be appointed by the Governor, upon the advice and consent of the Senate. The General Assembly shall provide by law for the term, duties, compensation, and qualifications for the office, the procedures by which the appointment is made, and the procedures by which the Comptroller General may be removed from office.

B. It is proposed that Section 12, Article IV of the Constitution of this State be amended to read:

Section 12. (1) Whenever the Governor transmits to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, and until he transmits to them a written declaration to the contrary, such powers and duties shall be discharged by the Lieutenant Governor as acting Governor.

(2) Whenever a majority of the Attorney General, the Secretary of State, ~~the Comptroller General~~, and the State Treasurer, or of such other body as the General Assembly may provide, transmits to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives a written declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Lieutenant Governor shall forthwith assume the powers and duties of the office as acting Governor.

Thereafter, if the Governor transmits to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that no such inability exists, he shall forthwith resume the powers and duties of his office unless a majority of the above members or of such other body, whichever the case may be, transmits within four days to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives their written declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office. Thereupon, the General Assembly shall forthwith consider and decide the issue, and if not in session, it shall assemble within forty-eight hours for the sole purpose of deciding such issue. If the General Assembly, within twenty-one days, excluding Sundays, after the first day it meets to decide the issue, determines by two-thirds vote of each House that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Lieutenant Governor shall continue to discharge the same as acting Governor; otherwise, the Governor shall resume the powers and duties of his office.

C. It is proposed that Section 13, Article X of the Constitution of this State be amended to read:

Section 13. (1) Subject to the conditions and limitations in this section, the State shall have power to incur indebtedness in the following categories and in no others: (a) general obligation debt; and (b) indebtedness payable only from a revenue-producing project or from a special source as provided in subsection (9) hereof.

(2) "General obligation debt" shall mean any indebtedness of the State which shall be secured in whole or in part by a pledge of the full faith, credit and taxing power of the State.

(3) General obligation debt may not be incurred except for a public purpose and all general obligation debt shall mature not later than thirty years from the time such indebtedness shall be incurred.

(4) In each act authorizing the incurring of general obligation debt the General Assembly shall allocate on an annual basis sufficient tax revenues to provide for the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on such general obligation debt. If at any time any payment due as the principal of or interest on any general obligation debt shall not be paid as and when the same become due and payable, the ~~State Comptroller General~~ Governor shall forthwith levy and the State

Treasurer shall collect an ad valorem tax without limit as to rate or amount upon all taxable property in the State sufficient to meet the payment of the principal and interest of such general obligation debt then due.

(5) If general obligation debt be authorized by (a) two-thirds of the members of each House of the General Assembly; or (b) by a majority vote of the qualified electors of the State voting in a referendum called by the General Assembly there shall be no conditions or restrictions limiting the incurring of such indebtedness except (i) those restrictions and limitations imposed in the authorization to incur such indebtedness, and (ii) the provisions of subsection (3) hereof.

(6) General obligation debt may be also incurred on such terms and conditions as the General Assembly may by law prescribe under the following limitations:

(a) General obligation bonds for highway purposes (highway bonds) may be issued if such bonds shall be additionally secured by a pledge of the revenues derived from the "sources of revenue" as such term is defined in this subsection; provided, that the maximum annual debt service on all highway bonds so additionally secured which shall thereafter be outstanding shall not exceed fifteen percent of the proceeds received from the sources of revenue for the fiscal year next preceding.

For the purpose of this subsection, the term "sources of revenue" shall mean so much of the revenues as may be made applicable by the General Assembly for state highway purposes from any and all taxes or licenses imposed upon individuals or vehicles for the privilege of using the public highways of the State.

(b) General obligation bonds for any state institution of higher learning designated by the General Assembly (state institution bonds) may be issued, if such bonds shall be additionally secured by a pledge of the revenues derived from the tuition fees received by the particular institution of higher learning for which such state institution bonds are issued; provided, that the maximum annual debt service on all state institution bonds so additionally secured issued for such state institution thereafter to be outstanding shall not exceed ninety percent of the sums received by such state institution of higher learning from tuition fees for the fiscal year next preceding.

(c) General obligation bonds for any public purpose including those purposes set forth in (a) and (b) may be issued; provided, that the maximum annual debt service on all general obligation bonds of the State thereafter to be outstanding (excluding highway bonds, state institution bonds, tax anticipation notes, and bond anticipation notes) must not exceed five percent of the general revenues of the State for the fiscal year next preceding (excluding revenues which are authorized to be pledged for state highway bonds and state institution bonds).

Upon implementation of the provisions of this item by law, the percentage rate of general revenues may be reduced to four or increased to seven percent by legislative enactment passed by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the Senate and a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the House of Representatives.

During the regular session of the General Assembly in 1990 and during every fifth annual regular session thereafter, the General Assembly shall conduct and complete a review of the law implementing this item. Unless during such session that review results in an amendment to or repeal of the law implementing this item, which must be accomplished by legislative enactment passed by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the Senate and a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the House of Representatives.

(7) General obligation indebtedness may be incurred in anticipation of state tax collections (tax anticipation notes) under such terms and conditions as the General Assembly may prescribe by law. Such tax anticipation notes shall be secured by a pledge of such taxes and by a pledge of the full faith, credit and taxing power of the State. All tax anticipation notes shall be expressed to mature not later than ninety days from the end of the fiscal year in which such notes are issued.

(8) General obligation notes may be issued in anticipation of the proceeds of general obligation bonds which may be lawfully issued (bond anticipation notes) under terms and conditions which the General Assembly may prescribe by law. Such bond anticipation notes shall be secured by a pledge of the proceeds of the bonds in anticipation of which such bond anticipation notes are issued and by a pledge of the full faith, credit and taxing power of the State.

Bond anticipation notes shall be expressed to mature not later than one year following the date of issuance, but if the General Assembly shall so authorize by law, bond anticipation notes may be refunded or renewed.

(9) The General Assembly may authorize the State or any of its agencies, authorities, or institutions to incur indebtedness for any public purpose payable solely from a revenue-producing project or from a special source, which source does not involve revenues from any tax but may include fees paid for the use of any toll bridge, toll road, or tunnel. Such indebtedness may be incurred upon such terms and conditions as the General Assembly may prescribe by law. All indebtedness incurred pursuant to the provisions of this subsection shall contain a statement on the face thereof specifying the sources from which payment is to be made.

Amend the joint resolution further, by striking the undesignated paragraph containing the question to be submitted to the voters and inserting:

“Must Section 7, Article VI of the Constitution of this State relating to state constitutional officers be amended so as to delete the Comptroller General from the list of state officers that the Constitution requires to be elected; provide that upon the expiration of the term of the Comptroller General serving in office on the date of the ratification of this provision, the Comptroller General must be appointed by the Governor, upon the advice and consent of the Senate; and require the General Assembly to provide by law for the term, duties, compensation, and qualifications for office, the procedures by which the appointment is made, and the procedures by which the Comptroller General may be removed from office; and must Section 12, Article IV be amended so as to delete the Comptroller General’s name from the list of elected state constitutional officers a majority of which may submit a written declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge his duties; and must Section 13, Article X be amended so as to provide if the principal of or interest on any general obligation debt is not paid when due, that instead of an appointed Comptroller General, the Governor, an elected state constitutional officer, shall levy an ad valorem tax to meet the payment?

release. If the court, pursuant to the limitations of Section 17-15-30, finds that such defendant may be released pending trial, bond must be set at the full United States currency cash bond to the exclusion of all other forms of bond whether the bond is posted by the defendant or with a bondsman. After the defendant fulfills the conditions of the bond, the clerk shall return the cash bond amount paid to the defendant. However, in the event the defendant is required by the court to make restitution to the victim of his crime, the cash bond may be used for the purpose of such restitution.

Any currency cash bond must be conditioned on the person charged personally appearing before the court specified to answer the charge or indictment and to do and receive what is enjoined by the court, and not to leave the State, and be of good behavior toward all the citizens of the State, or especially toward a person or persons specified by the court. Additionally, the court may impose any other conditions allowed under Chapter 15 of Title 17 and other law.

Amend the bill further, by adding an appropriately numbered SECTION to read:

SECTION X. Section 17-15-30 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 17-15-30. (A) In determining conditions of release that will reasonably assure appearance, or if release would constitute an unreasonable danger to the community or an individual, a court may, on the basis of the following information, consider the nature and circumstances of an offense charged and the charged person's:

- (1) family ties;
- (2) employment;
- (3) financial resources;
- (4) character and mental condition;
- (5) length of residence in the community;
- (6) record of convictions; and
- (7) record of flight to avoid prosecution or failure to appear at other court proceedings.

(B) A court ~~shall~~ must consider:

- (1) a person's criminal record;
- (2) any current charges pending against a person and any prior charges against a person at the time release is requested;
- (3) all incident reports generated as a result of an offense charged;
- (4) whether a person is an alien unlawfully present in the United States, and poses a substantial flight risk due to this status; ~~and~~
- (5) whether the charged person appears in the state gang database maintained at the State Law Enforcement Division; and

TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 2023

(6) whether a person is currently out on bond for another offense.

(C)(1) Prior to or at the time of a hearing, the arresting law enforcement agency shall provide the court with the following information:

- (a) a person's criminal record;
- (b) any charges pending against a person at the time release is requested;
- (c) all incident reports generated as a result of the offense charged; and
- (d) any other information that will assist the court in determining conditions of release.

(2) The arresting law enforcement agency shall inform the court if any of the information is not available at the time of the hearing and the reason the information is not available. Failure on the part of the law enforcement agency to provide the court with the information does not constitute grounds for the postponement or delay of the person's hearing. Notwithstanding the provisions of this item, when a person is charged with a violation of Chapter 25, Title 16, the bond hearing may not proceed without the person's criminal record and incident report or the presence of the arresting officer. The bond hearing for a violation of Chapter 25, Title 16 must occur within twenty-four hours after the arrest.

(D) A court hearing these matters has contempt powers to enforce the provisions of this section.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 3, by striking Section 17-15-55(C), (D), and (E) and inserting:

(C) If a person commits a violent ~~crime~~ offense, as defined in Section 16-1-60, or any felony offense involving a firearm, which was committed when the person was already out on bond for a previous violent ~~crime~~ offense or any felony offense involving a firearm and the subsequent ~~violent crime~~ offense did not arise out of the same series of events as the previous ~~violent crime~~ offense, then:

(1) the bond hearing for the subsequent violent crime original offense must be revoked and a hearing for the subsequent violent offense or any felony offense involving a firearm must be held in the circuit court within thirty days;

(2) during the bond hearing for the subsequent violent offense or felony offense involving a firearm, the court must issue findings of fact and conclusions of law addressing the revocation of bond for the original offense, whether a new bond is issued for the previous offense as well as if bond is appropriate for the subsequent violent offense or felony offense involving a firearm.

TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 2023

(3) If the court finds that certain conditions of release on bond will ensure that the person is unlikely to flee or pose a danger to any other person or the community and the person will abide by the terms of release on bond, the judge shall consider bond in accordance with the provisions of this chapter and set or amend bond accordingly. Notwithstanding the provisions of Sections 17-15-15, any bond set for a violent offense or felony offense involving a firearm committed when the person was already out on bond for a previous violent offense or felony offense involving a firearm must be deposited to the court in cash or its equivalent in full, notwithstanding if posted by the person, his representative, or by a bond surety. If a secondary bond is posted by a bond surety, the surety must certify to the court that all costs and fees required by the contract or agreement with the defendant were paid in full at the time of the bonding and that no future payments, fees, or interest are due from the defendant. A failure by the defendant to make payments or to pay fees or interest to a bond surety after the release from custody for any contract or agreement made in violation of this subsection shall not be enforceable in any court;

(4) If the court finds no such conditions will ensure that the person is unlikely to flee or not pose a danger to the community, the court shall not set a bond for the instant offense and must revoke all previously set bonds; and-

~~(D)-(5)~~ If a person commits a violent ~~offense~~ ~~crime~~, as defined in Section 16-1-60, or felony offense involving a firearm which was committed when the person was already out on bond for a previous violent ~~crime~~ offense or felony offense involving a firearm, and the subsequent ~~violent crime~~ offense did not arise out of the same series of events as the previous ~~offense~~ ~~violent crime~~, then the arresting law enforcement agency must transmit notice of the second arrest, implicating this subsection-(C), to the solicitor of the circuit in which the ~~crime offense~~ was committed and the administrative chief judge of the circuit in which the ~~crime offense~~ was committed. The prosecuting agency must notify any victims of the initial or subsequent ~~crimes~~ offenses pursuant to Chapter 3, Title 16 of any bond hearings.

(D) If a person commits a violent offense, as defined in Section 16-1-60, or felony offense involving a firearm which was committed when the person was already out on bond for two or more previous separate violent offenses or felony offenses involving a firearm for which separate bonds were set, and the subsequent offense did not arise out of the same series of events as the two or more previous separate offenses, and the court determines that under the totality of the circumstances the previous bonds should not be revoked and another bond should be set, any bond set by the court must be deposited in full and may not be posted by any bond surety company.

(E) For the purpose of bond revocation only, a summary-court has concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court for ~~ten~~ thirty days from the date bond is first set on a charge by the summary court ~~or the date of the grand jury indictment whichever occurs first~~ to determine if bond should be revoked.

Amend the bill further, by adding appropriately numbered SECTIONS to read:

SECTION X. Section 22-5-510 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 22-5-510. (A) Magistrates may admit to bail a person charged with an offense, the punishment of which is not death or imprisonment for life; provided, however, with respect to violent offenses as defined by the General Assembly pursuant to Section 15, Article I of the Constitution of South Carolina, 1895, magistrates may deny bail giving due weight to the evidence and to the nature and circumstances of the event including, but not limited to, any charges pending against the person requesting bail. "Violent offenses" as used in this section means the offenses contained in Section 16-1-60. If a person under lawful arrest on a charge not bailable is brought before a magistrate, the magistrate shall commit the person to jail. If the offense charged is bailable, the magistrate shall take recognizance with sufficient surety, if it is offered, in default whereof the person must be incarcerated.

(B) A person charged with a bailable offense must have a bond hearing within twenty-four hours of his arrest and must be released within a reasonable time, not to exceed four hours, after the bond is delivered to the incarcerating facility.

(C) In determining conditions of release that will reasonably assure appearance, or if release would constitute an unreasonable danger to the community or an individual, a court, on the basis of the following information, may consider the nature and circumstances of an offense charged and the charged person's:

- (1) family ties;
- (2) employment;
- (3) financial resources;
- (4) character and mental condition;
- (5) length of residence in the community;
- (6) record of convictions; and
- (7) record of flight to avoid prosecution or failure to appear at other court proceedings.

TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 2023

(D) A court ~~shall~~must consider:

- (1) a person's criminal record;
- (2) any charges pending against a person at the time release is requested;
- (3) all incident reports generated as a result of an offense charged;
- (4) whether a person is an alien unlawfully present in the United States, and poses a substantial flight risk due to this status;~~and~~
- (5) whether the charged person appears in the state gang database maintained at the State Law Enforcement Division; and
- (6) whether a person is currently out on bond for another offense.

(E) Prior to or at the time of the bond hearing, the arresting law enforcement agency ~~shall~~must provide the court with the following information:

- (1) the person's criminal record;
- (2) any charges pending against the person at the time release is requested;
- (3) all incident reports generated as a result of the offense charged; and
- (4) any other information that will assist the court in determining conditions of release.

(F) The arresting law enforcement agency shall inform the court if any of the information required in subsections (C), (D), and (E) is not available at the time of the hearing and the reason the information is not available. Failure on the part of the law enforcement agency to provide the court with the information does not constitute grounds for the postponement or delay of the person's bond hearing. Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, when a person is charged with a violation of Chapter 25, Title 16, the bond hearing may not proceed without the person's criminal record and incident report or the presence of the arresting officer. Senator HEMBREE explained the Bill and amendment.

On motion of Senator HEMBREE, the amendment was carried over.

Amendment No. 2

Senator ADAMS proposed the following amendment (SEDU-3532.DB0046S), which was carried over:

Amend the bill, as and if amended, by adding appropriately numbered SECTIONS to read:

SECTION X. Section 38-53-10(12) of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

(12) "Surety bondsman" means any person who is approved by and licensed by the director or his designee as ~~an~~ a property and casualty insurance agent, appointed by an insurer by power of attorney to execute or countersign bail bonds for the insurer in connection with judicial proceedings, and receives or is promised money or other things of value for the execution or countersignature.

SECTION X. Chapter 53, Title 38 of the S.C. Code is amended by adding:

Section 38-53-10(15). "Electronic monitoring" means monitoring a person by the use of a device which records or transmits oral or wire communications or an auditory sound, visual images, or information regarding the person's activities.

SECTION X. Section 38-53-50(B) of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 2023

(B) If the circumstances warrant immediate incarceration of the defendant to prevent imminent violation of one of the specific terms of the bail bond, or if the defendant has violated one of the specific terms of the bond, the surety may take the defendant to the appropriate detention facility for holding until the court orders that the surety be relieved. The surety, within three business days following recommitment, must file with the detention facility and the court an affidavit clocked in with the clerk of court on a form provided by the Division of Court Administration stating the facts to support the surrender of the defendant for good cause. Nonpayment of premium fees alone is not sufficient cause to warrant immediate incarceration of the defendant. When the defendant and the affidavit are presented at the appropriate detention facility, the facility shall take custody of the defendant. When the affidavit is filed with the court, the surety also shall file a motion to be relieved on the bond pursuant to subsection (A). A surety who surrenders a defendant and files an affidavit which does not show good cause is subject to penalties imposed for perjury as provided for in Article 1, Chapter 9, Title 16.

SECTION X. Section 38-53-70 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 38-53-70. If a defendant ~~fails to appear at a court proceeding to which he has been summoned~~violates the conditions of release on bond, the court shall issue a bench warrant for the defendant. The court ~~shall must make available for pickup by the surety or the representative of the surety who executed the bond on their behalf, a true copy provide~~written or electronic notice of the issuance of the bench warrant within seven-thirty days of its issuance at the clerk of court's office to every party bound in the recognizance. If the surety fails to surrender the defendant or place a hold on the defendant's release from incarceration, commitment, or institutionalization within ninety days of the issuance of the bench warrant, the bond is forfeited. At any time before execution is issued on a judgment of forfeiture against a defendant or his surety, the court may direct that the judgment be remitted in whole or in part, upon conditions as the court may impose, if it appears that justice requires the remission of part or all of the judgment. In making a determination as to remission of the judgment, the court shall consider the costs to the State or a county or municipality resulting from the necessity to continue or terminate the defendant's trial and the efforts of law enforcement officers or agencies to locate the defendant. The court, in its discretion, may permit the surety to pay the estreatment in installments for a period of up to six months; however, the surety shall pay a handling fee to the court in an amount equal to four percent of the value of the bond. If at any time during the period in which installments are to be paid the defendant is surrendered to the appropriate detention facility and the surety complies with the recommitment procedures, the surety is relieved of further liability.

SECTION X. Chapter 53, Title 38 of the S.C. Code is amended by adding:

Section 38-53-83. No person may engage in electronic monitoring of a defendant released by a court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to a bail bond unless that person is qualified and licensed as a professional bondsman, surety bondsman, or runner pursuant to the provisions of this chapter. This section does not apply to any agent or agency of the State, any agent or agency of any county or municipal government in South Carolina, or any agent or agency, department, or division of the federal government.

SECTION X. Chapter 53, Title 38 of the S.C. Code is amended by adding:

Section 38-53-84. (A) A person engaged in electronic monitoring of a defendant must, within forty-eight hours, notify the solicitor having jurisdiction over the defendant when he becomes aware or should have become aware that the defendant has violated any provision of the court's order for electronic monitoring. Failure of a defendant to timely pay the bondsman the full monthly electronic monitoring fee associated with the cost of the electronic monitoring device and the associated cost of the monitoring service, shall, in and of itself, constitute good cause for the bondsman to file a motion to be relieved on the bond and to surrender the defendant to the custody of the appropriate detention facility pursuant to Section 38-53-50.

(B) Failure of the bondsman to maintain compliance with the reporting requirement of subsection (A) shall be reported to the South Carolina Department of Insurance by the solicitor for administrative action whereby the bondsman's license may be fined, suspended, or revoked.

SECTION X. Section 38-53-170(e) and (f) of the S.C. Code are amended to read:

(e) accept anything of value from a principal except the premium, which may not exceed fifteen percent of the face amount of the bond, with a minimum fee of ~~twenty five~~ one hundred dollars or ten percent of the bond, whichever is greater, that must be charged and collected by the bondsman before the execution of the bond. Conditions of the bond which expressly or implicitly require payment of monies in excess of the premium, as a cost of satisfying the condition of the bond, shall not be considered part of the bondsman's premium, and are not affected by this code provision. The bondsman may collect these fees from the defendant and is not limited by any language requirements of this code provision.

However, the bondsman is permitted to enter into a payment agreement by attaching a statement of bondsman to the bond proceeding form and this agreement shall require the principal on the bail bond or any indemnitor to make a minimum down payment of one hundred dollars or five percent, whichever is greater, of the face amount of the bond. This payment agreement may not be altered and must not exceed eighteen months after the date on which the bond was executed. If the payment has not been made for two consecutive months, the bondsman must send a certified notice to the last known address of the principal and indemnitor demanding payment be made within ten days to bring the agreement current. If no payment is received by the end of the notice period, the bondsman must surrender the principal to the proper detention facility for holding and file a motion to be relieved as provided in Section 38-53-50(A) or (B), at which time the agreement must be accelerated, and the balance paid in full, before or at the motion hearing for the principal to be rereleased on bond. The bondsman may accept collateral security or other indemnity from the principal which must be returned ~~upon~~ within ten days after final termination of liability on the bond unless a bench warrant has been issued. The bondsman shall identify who is paying the premium and shall represent that the collateral security or other indemnity has not been obtained from any person who has a greater interest in the principal's disappearance than appearance for trial. The collateral security or other indemnity required by the bondsman must be reasonable in relation to the amount of the bond. If the bond is forfeited, a bondsman may not convert collateral described in the collateral receipt to cash until he has provided a ten-day notice of this pending conversion to the depositor. This notice must be sent by certified mail to the last know address of the depositor. After the conversion, the bondsman must disclose the actual amount received to the depositor and must return any amount received that exceeds the final judgement or consent amount, less any reasonable expenses. These reasonable expenses include apprehension and legal costs incurred as a result of the violation of the bond. The bondsman must provide the depositor copies of all receipts and, if applicable, the overage money with three days after settlement;

Section 38-53-170(f) of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

(f) solicit business in any of the courts or on the premises of any of the courts of this State, in the office of any magistrate, or in or about any place where prisoners are confined. Law enforcement officers and jailers shall report any violations of this provision to the court. Any action taken pursuant to this provision resulting in a conviction, guilty plea, or plea of nolo contendere pursuant to Section 38-53-340 must be reported to the director or his designee by the court within thirty days; or

TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 2023

SECTION X. Section 38-53-310 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 38-53-310. (A) Each professional bondsman shall by the fifteenth of each month file with the clerk of court of the county of his principal place of business and any other county where he is doing business a written report in a form prescribed by the director or his designee regarding all bail bonds on which he is liable as of the first day of each month, showing:

(B) Each surety bondsman shall, within thirty days of executing a bail bond, file with their respective insurance provider a written or electronic report in a form approved by the director or his designee detailing all bail bonds on which he has caused to be executed.

(C) The reports referenced in subsections (A) and (B) shall include the following:

(b)(2) the date the bond was given;

(d)(4) the state or local official with whom the bond was filed;

(e)(5) the fee charged for the bonding service in each instance; ~~and~~

(f)(6) all pending bonds; ~~and~~

(7) any current data on monies to be collected and retained as an express condition of the bond, whether for electronic monitoring or otherwise.

(D) In lieu of the monthly submission of a written report to the clerk of court, the bondsman may utilize a data management software system, which contains the above required current information, and is capable of providing the appropriate clerk of court or his designee with real-time access to the data management system through a portal, website, or other data access system through which the clerk of court can confirm he has access to the required information.

We're told by the Psalmist: "My soul makes its boast in the Lord; let the humble hear and be glad."

Let us pray: There really is nothing "easy" about it, most blessed Lord. Striving to lead the sort of life You expect, being the kind of follower You desire, wanting to serve You in every way any of us possibly can -- it's all quite a formidable challenge. And that is why today, O God, we turn to You for encouragement and for Your blessing, asking You to enable us to be the faithful and humble servants of the people we know in our hearts that You desire us to be. May each and every Senator and staff member in this place take seriously the challenge to honor You by their words and their actions, while at the same time they bring about great and worthwhile good for the people of our State. In Your blessed name we pray, O Lord. Amen.

GOVERNOR UPON THE EXPIRATION OF THE TERM OF THE COMPTROLLER GENERAL SERVING IN OFFICE ON THE DATE OF THE RATIFICATION OF THIS PROVISION.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Resolution.

The Committee on Judiciary proposed the following amendment (SJ-95.PB0012S), which was adopted:

Amend the joint resolution, as and if amended, by striking SECTION 1 and inserting:

SECTION X.A. It is proposed that Section 7, Article VI of the Constitution of this State be amended to read:

Section 7. There shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State a Secretary of State, an Attorney General, a Treasurer, a Superintendent of Education, Comptroller General, Commissioner of Agriculture, and an Adjutant General who shall hold their respective offices for a term of four years, coterminous with that of the Governor. The duties and compensation of such offices shall be prescribed by law and their compensation shall be neither increased nor diminished during the period for which they shall have been elected.

Beginning upon the expiration of the term of the Adjutant General serving in office on the date of the ratification of the provisions of this paragraph, the Adjutant General must be appointed by the Governor, upon the advice and consent of the Senate. The appointed Adjutant General shall serve for a term not coterminous with the Governor and may be removed only for cause. The General Assembly shall provide by law for the term, duties, compensation, and qualifications for office, the procedures by which the appointment is made, and the procedures by which the Adjutant General may be removed from office.

Beginning upon the expiration of the term of the Comptroller General serving in office on the date of the ratification of the provisions of this paragraph, the Comptroller General must be appointed by the Governor, upon the advice and consent of the Senate. The General Assembly shall provide by law for the term, duties, compensation, and qualifications for the office, the procedures by which the appointment is made, and the procedures by which the Comptroller General may be removed from office.

B. It is proposed that Section 12, Article IV of the Constitution of this State be amended to read:

Section 12. (1) Whenever the Governor transmits to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, and until he transmits to them a written declaration to the contrary, such powers and duties shall be discharged by the Lieutenant Governor as acting Governor.

(2) Whenever a majority of the Attorney General, the Secretary of State, ~~the Comptroller General~~, and the State Treasurer, or of such other body as the General Assembly may provide, transmits to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives a written declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Lieutenant Governor shall forthwith assume the powers and duties of the office as acting Governor.

Thereafter, if the Governor transmits to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives his written declaration that no such inability exists, he shall forthwith resume the powers and duties of his office unless a majority of the above members or of such other body, whichever the case may be, transmits within four days to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives their written declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office. Thereupon, the General Assembly shall forthwith consider and decide the issue, and if not in session, it shall assemble within forty-eight hours for the sole purpose of deciding such issue. If the General Assembly, within twenty-one days, excluding Sundays, after the first day it meets to decide the issue, determines by two-thirds vote of each House that the Governor is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the Lieutenant Governor shall continue to discharge the same as acting Governor; otherwise, the Governor shall resume the powers and duties of his office.

C. It is proposed that Section 13, Article X of the Constitution of this State be amended to read:

Section 13. (1) Subject to the conditions and limitations in this section, the State shall have power to incur indebtedness in the following categories and in no others: (a) general obligation debt; and (b) indebtedness payable only from a revenue-producing project or from a special source as provided in subsection (9) hereof.

(2) "General obligation debt" shall mean any indebtedness of the State which shall be secured in whole or in part by a pledge of the full faith, credit and taxing power of the State.

(3) General obligation debt may not be incurred except for a public purpose and all general obligation debt shall mature not later than thirty years from the time such indebtedness shall be incurred.

(4) In each act authorizing the incurring of general obligation debt the General Assembly shall allocate on an annual basis sufficient tax revenues to provide for the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on such general obligation debt. If at any time any payment due as the principal of or interest on any general obligation debt shall not be paid as and when the same become due and payable, the ~~State Comptroller General~~ Governor shall forthwith levy and the State Treasurer shall collect an ad valorem tax without limit as to rate or amount upon all taxable property in the State sufficient to meet the payment of the principal and interest of such general obligation debt then due.

(5) If general obligation debt be authorized by (a) two-thirds of the members of each House of the General Assembly; or (b) by a majority vote of the qualified electors of the State voting in a referendum called by the General Assembly there shall be no conditions or restrictions limiting the incurring of such indebtedness except (i) those restrictions and limitations imposed in the authorization to incur such indebtedness, and (ii) the provisions of subsection (3) hereof.

(6) General obligation debt may be also incurred on such terms and conditions as the General Assembly may by law prescribe under the following limitations:

(a) General obligation bonds for highway purposes (highway bonds) may be issued if such bonds shall be additionally secured by a pledge of the revenues derived from the "sources of revenue" as such term is defined in this subsection; provided, that the maximum annual debt service on all highway bonds so additionally secured which shall thereafter be outstanding shall not exceed fifteen percent of the proceeds received from the sources of revenue for the fiscal year next preceding.

For the purpose of this subsection, the term "sources of revenue" shall mean so much of the revenues as may be made applicable by the General Assembly for state highway purposes from any and all taxes or licenses imposed upon individuals or vehicles for the privilege of using the public highways of the State.

(b) General obligation bonds for any state institution of higher learning designated by the General Assembly (state institution bonds) may be issued, if such bonds shall be additionally secured by a pledge of the revenues derived from the tuition fees received by the particular institution of higher learning for which such state institution bonds are issued; provided, that the maximum annual debt service on all state institution bonds so additionally secured issued for such state institution thereafter to be outstanding shall not exceed ninety percent of the sums received by such state institution of higher learning from tuition fees for the fiscal year next preceding.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 2023

(c) General obligation bonds for any public purpose including those purposes set forth in (a) and (b) may be issued; provided, that the maximum annual debt service on all general obligation bonds of the State thereafter to be outstanding (excluding highway bonds, state institution bonds, tax anticipation notes, and bond anticipation notes) must not exceed five percent of the general revenues of the State for the fiscal year next preceding (excluding revenues which are authorized to be pledged for state highway bonds and state institution bonds).

Upon implementation of the provisions of this item by law, the percentage rate of general revenues may be reduced to four or increased to seven percent by legislative enactment passed by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the Senate and a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the House of Representatives.

During the regular session of the General Assembly in 1990 and during every fifth annual regular session thereafter, the General Assembly shall conduct and complete a review of the law implementing this item. Unless during such session that review results in an amendment to or repeal of the law implementing this item, which must be accomplished by legislative enactment passed by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the Senate and a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the House of Representatives.

(7) General obligation indebtedness may be incurred in anticipation of state tax collections (tax anticipation notes) under such terms and conditions as the General Assembly may prescribe by law. Such tax anticipation notes shall be secured by a pledge of such taxes and by a pledge of the full faith, credit and taxing power of the State. All tax anticipation notes shall be expressed to mature not later than ninety days from the end of the fiscal year in which such notes are issued.

(8) General obligation notes may be issued in anticipation of the proceeds of general obligation bonds which may be lawfully issued (bond anticipation notes) under terms and conditions which the General Assembly may prescribe by law. Such bond anticipation notes shall be secured by a pledge of the proceeds of the bonds in anticipation of which such bond anticipation notes are issued and by a pledge of the full faith, credit and taxing power of the State.

Bond anticipation notes shall be expressed to mature not later than one year following the date of issuance, but if the General Assembly shall so authorize by law, bond anticipation notes may be refunded or renewed.

(9) The General Assembly may authorize the State or any of its agencies, authorities or institutions to incur indebtedness for any public purpose payable solely from a revenue-producing project or from a special source, which source does not involve revenues from any tax but may include fees paid for the use of any toll bridge, toll road or tunnel. Such indebtedness may be incurred upon such terms and conditions as the General Assembly may prescribe by law. All indebtedness incurred pursuant to the provisions of this subsection shall contain a statement on the face thereof specifying the sources from which payment is to be made.

Amend the joint resolution further, by striking the undesignated paragraph containing the question to be submitted to the voters and inserting:

“Must Section 7, Article VI of the Constitution of this State relating to state constitutional officers be amended so as to delete the Comptroller General from the list of state officers that the Constitution requires to be elected; provide that upon the expiration of the term of the Comptroller General serving in office on the date of the ratification of this provision, the Comptroller General must be appointed by the Governor, upon the advice and consent of the Senate; and require the General Assembly to provide by law for the term, duties, compensation, and qualifications for office, the procedures by which the appointment is made, and the procedures by which the Comptroller General may be removed from office; and must Section 12, Article IV be amended so as to delete the Comptroller General’s name from the list of elected state constitutional officers a majority of which may submit a written declaration that the Governor is unable to discharge his duties; and must Section 13, Article X be amended so as to provide if the principal of or interest on any general obligation debt is not paid when due, that instead of an appointed Comptroller General, the Governor, an elected state constitutional officer, shall levy an ad valorem tax to meet the payment?

On motion of Senator MALLOY, with unanimous consent, the amendment was withdrawn.

Amendment No. 5

Senators HEMBREE and MALLOY proposed the following amendment (SEDU-3532.DB0061S), which was adopted:

Amend the bill, as and if amended, by deleting SECTION 1.

Amend the bill further, SECTION 2, by striking Section 17-15-15(D) and inserting:

(D) The provisions of this section do not apply if the defendant is charged with a violent offense, as defined by Section 16-1-60, or any felony offense involving a firearm while out on bond or other pretrial release. If the court, pursuant to the limitations of Section 17-15-30, finds that such defendant may be released pending trial, bond must be set at the full United States currency cash bond to the exclusion of all other forms of bond whether the bond is posted by the defendant or with a bondsman. After the defendant fulfills the conditions of the bond, the clerk shall return the cash bond amount paid to the defendant. However, in the event the defendant is required by the court to make restitution to the victim of his crime, the cash bond may be used for the purpose of such restitution.

Any currency cash bond must be conditioned on the person charged personally appearing before the court specified to answer the charge or indictment and to do and receive what is enjoined by the court, and not to leave the State, and be of good behavior toward all the citizens of the State, or especially toward a person or persons specified by the court. Additionally, the court may impose any other conditions allowed under Chapter 15 of Title 17 and other law.

Amend the bill further, by adding an appropriately numbered SECTION to read:

SECTION X. Section 17-15-30 of the S.C. Code is amended to read:

Section 17-15-30. (A) In determining conditions of release that will reasonably assure appearance, or if release would constitute an unreasonable danger to the community or an individual, a court may, on

____ (3) If the court finds that certain conditions of release on bond will ensure that the person is unlikely to flee or pose a danger to any other person or the community and the person will abide by the terms of release on bond, the judge shall consider bond in accordance with the provisions of this chapter and set or amend bond accordingly. Notwithstanding the provisions of Sections 17-15-15, any bond set for a violent offense or felony offense involving a firearm committed when the person was already out on bond for a previous violent offense or felony offense involving a firearm must be deposited to the court in cash or its equivalent in full, notwithstanding if posted by the person, his representative, or by a bond surety;

(E) Notwithstanding subsection (C)(2), if the original bond was set in another judicial circuit, that prosecution agency shall be notified of the revocation and any finding the court makes pursuant to this subsection.
