

NO. 2

JOURNAL
OF THE
SENATE
OF THE
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA

REGULAR SESSION BEGINNING TUESDAY, JANUARY 14, 2025

TUESDAY, JANUARY 14, 2025
Tuesday, January 14, 2025
(Statewide Session)

~~Indicates Matter Stricken~~
Indicates New Matter

The Senate assembled at 12:00 Noon, the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the PRESIDENT.

A quorum being present, the proceedings were opened with a devotion by the Chaplain as follows:

Psalm 37:5-6

The Psalmist writes: "Commit your way to the Lord; trust in him and he will do this: He will make your righteousness shine like the dawn, the justice of your cause like the noonday sun."

Please, join me as we bow in prayer: Most gracious and ever-loving Lord, we come to You on this initial day of the South Carolina Senate's 126th Regular Session humbly asking that You lead these servants as they themselves commit to giving their very best to the people of our State. Indeed, O God, the way ahead for these Senators is a challenging one. Today's issues are great, and many solutions will prove difficult to attain. Therefore, Lord, may each of these Senators and their staff members ever remain faithful to You as You guide our State into the true brightness of a new day. And know, dear God, that we all continue to hold in our hearts the plight of our sisters and brothers on the west coast, suffering as they are from the horrors of recently raging fires. In Your loving name do we humbly pray, dear Lord. Amen.

The PRESIDENT called for Petitions, Memorials, Presentments of Grand Juries and such like papers.

Doctor of the Day

Senator REICHENBACH introduced Dr. Coleman Buckhouse of Florence, S.C., Doctor of the Day.

Expression of Personal Interest

Senator VERDIN rose for an Expression of Personal Interest.

Remarks by Senator VERDIN

Mr. Parris died on July 9, 2024, at age 88. He was the dean of South Carolina's agriculture science community, a nationally recognized agriculturalist, a model public servant, a Southern gentleman -- and a gentle man of the highest order, a loyal friend. He had a long and distinguished career mentoring young people and helping South Carolina's farmers. A native of Spartanburg County, he was born and grew up near Campobello, South Carolina. He was a Clemson graduate who taught agriculture education at Chester High School and in Anderson County schools. He advised and mentored hundreds of students in the Future Farmers of America and the Young Farmers Organization.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 14, 2025

John directed the South Carolina Land Resources Commission and was the man who introduced to South Carolina's farmers drip irrigation and conservation tillage technology. In the nineties he led the work to pass South Carolina's Stormwater Management and Sediment Reduction Act, which was the most innovative legislation in the country and served as the model for other states. In his twenty-two years leading the commission, John helped South Carolina's farmers and directly improved their land. The irony is that he lived in a modest apartment in Columbia. But from mining to landscape architecture to urban flood control, John was the man who best knew our land.

John was tireless, inquisitive, active, quirky and funny -- well into his eighth century. He never truly retired. In later years he was asked to serve in an interim capacity as Director of Clemson's Sandhills Research and Education Center. Later he was put in charge of public affairs for the SC FFA. His last position before his death was directing our state's agricultural news service at the Clemson Extension Service.

We miss John Parris. He never married, but his legacy lives in fertile fields across the Palmetto State, and in the generation of young South Carolinians that he inspired to become leaders in agriculture, conservation, public policy and other fields. As one former student said recently, "My father died when I was fourteen years old. John came along and became my father, in a sense. He was that type of guy."

On motion of Senator DAVIS, with unanimous consent, the remarks of Senator VERDIN were ordered printed in the Journal.

Expression of Personal Interest

Senator CAMPSSEN rose for an Expression of Personal Interest.
